C. W. SWEET,

No. 137 BROADWAY

The pressure on our columns, both for news and advertisements, has forced us to lengthen our pages which we hope our readers will regard as an improvement. This is but the beginning of other changes in the way of new type and the like, which will, we hope, make this journal still more attractive in its "make up." There is every indication that the year to come will show a larger real estate business than was ever before transacted in the metropolis. The signs are multiplying that the investors and speculators, who have made such large profits in stocks and general merchandise, will now invest in real estate, so as not only to permanently secure what they have gained, but to get the additional profit which clear-sighted business men are unanimous in thinking can be got by investments in real estate at present figures.

INDEX FOR VOLUME XXVI.

Our subscribers receive with this issue of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, their regular semi-annual index for the last six months, covering all that was contained in vol. XXVI. of THE RECORD, dating from July to January.

Especial pains have been taken to make this index as thorough and complete as possible, and no street, avenue, place or lane has been overlooked either in New York or Brooklyn.

Those of our subscribers, who should fail to receive the Index to which they are entitled can obtain the same by making early application at this office.

NOTABLE INVESTMENTS IN REAL ESTATE.

The year opens with two important transactions which cannot fail to stimulate still further activity in real estate. It will be seen by our market reports that foreign capitalists have invested half a millon of dollars in Broadway business property, capitalists too, who hail from a section of Europe known for its solidity and cautious dealings.

The next equally important transaction is the silver lining that at last appears on the Western horizon. More than a dozen lots have been sold, as will be seen elsewhere, along Sixty-first street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, and these lots have been taken posssession of by a builder, who intends to improve them without delay. This is really an overflow from the East Side, where no more lots at reasonable prices can be had, and the West Side will at last be taken in hand and built up—not with the magnificent mansions some over sanguine owners have pictured to themselves but nevertheless, with houses that will answer the now constantly increasing demand for homes in the upper section of the island.

The year 1881 opens auspiciously and may it end with the same feeling of satisfaction and confidence in the future of our market that inaugurates the New Year.

THE MADISON AVENUE EXTENSION.

We publish to-day a diagram of the section of Broadway that is to be affected by the proposed extension of Madison avenue to Union square, along with a letter from a public spirited citizen, who gives cogent reasons for this much-needed improvement. The scheme, though it may on the surface appear to be a gigantic one, does after all only involve a comparatively small amount of money for the required expenditure—a sum total of one million and a-half being deemed sufficient to do all that is required to relieve Broadway at its now over-crowded junction with Twenty-third street. Our intelligent correspondent further makes the striking observation that the carriage way as it now exists along Broadway, between Eighteenth street and Twenty-second street, is not only owing to its narrowness the source of great annoyance, but of actual danger to both the occupants of carriages and to pedestrians. It is virtually a throat altogether too narrow for New York's proper digestion.

The map we publish to-day shows how this can be remedied. The distinct lines on the diagram cut off from the east side of Broadway sufficient to obviate the present difficulty of over-crowding this most important thoroughfare of our city, while at the same time, the opportunity is offered for the arrangement of a new plaza at the Twentieth street point, where it is proposed to have the beginning of Madison avenue. The great desideratum, however, is the extension of Madison avenue southward to the point named and the virtual establishment of a new avenue running parallel to Fifth avenue and actually not secondary as to the amount of capital invested therein.

We have heretofore spoken of the great necessity of relieving Broadway from Seventeenth street to Twenty-third, and especially at the latter junction. The letter of our correspondent and the accompanying diagram with the line of the proposed extension distinctly marked throw the fullest light possible on an improvement that ought to be enthusiastically supported by the property owners' interests and be taken in hand at once by the members of the new incoming municipal administration.

THE BROADWAY UNDERGROUND ROAD.

There seems to be some hitch about the building of the Broadway Central Underground Road. From time to time, articles appear in the newspapers, to the effect that in a few days the work will be commenced: but, somehow, nothing has been done. On the 18th of December, the General Term of the Supreme Court denied a petition made by Mr. George T. Curtis, to appoint commissioners to open the road, on the ground that the owners of one-half the property along the line of the proposed road had not given their consent.

We have before us a printed circular, addressed to the directors of the said Underground road, which we judge accounts for the difficulty the new company has had, both here and abroad in raising money. This document alleges that Vandenberg and his associates have no rights on Broadway, and never had. The charter of the Central Underground Railway Company, passed in 1868, gave no right to tunnel Broadway. The circular then goes on to say:

> I was one of the incorporators named in that act. Vandenberg was not (see Act). Among the forty or more incorporators were many who were very strong, financially, politically and otherwise. After electing a board of directors, among whom were "Boss" Tweed and "Hank Smith," nothing further of notice was done until 1872, when a strong combination of capitalists, lawyers and railroad men—among them, Brown Brothers, Seligman & Co., Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, G. P. Lowery, Trenor W. Park and Samuel J. Tilden—took the Central Undergound charter in hand and made application to the Legislature for an amendment to give the company rights on Broadway, which application failed, while at the same session (1872) the Legislature did give a charter to Commodore Vanderbilt for an underground railway, which covered pretty much the same route granted in 1868 to the Central Underground, thus practically repealing that charter.

The circular makes other equally strong statements, and as copies were sent not only to the leading capitalists in this country, but also in England, it seems to have prevented the raising of the money, which, at one time, there seemed some likelihood of being invested in this scheme.

But the fact is, it is not a tunnel which is wanted under Broadway. "Never go underground until you can't help yourself," was the motto enunciated by Cyrus W. Field at the dinner given upon the completion of the elevated roads. He had reference to the experience of the London Underground Road and in fact all tunnels under mountains, whether long or short. As a contrast to the elevated road system it is "Hyperion to a Saty." The one is the pleasantest kind of traveling known, the other the most unpleasant.

But, should we not have an underground railway on Broadway, connecting with the Forty-second Street Depot ?

We certainly should. The railroad system of the city is incomplete until the central and lower portion of the city is connected with the Grand Central depot for the accommodation not only of passengers but freight. What is needed is not a tunnel, but an excavation, a continuation of a so-called sunken track ; in short, a new double track railway from Forty-second Street to the Battery.

This would land passengers from all parts of the country at any of the hotels on or near Broadway, obviating the necessity of stopping at the Forty-second Street Depot or even having the baggage transferred at that point. This excavation could have plenty of light and ventilation, for it could be lit with patent lights along the whole distance and at night the electric light would make it brighter even than during the day. The plethora of travel and business at the Grand Central Depot would thus be relieved, as not only passengers and their baggage but express parcels and goods for the Broadway stores could be sent direct to their destination. The same Broadway property holders who have refused their consent to the tunnel scheme would eagerly support a programme such as we have outlined above, for it would make Broadway for a hundred years to come the most valuable street in the world, for, with the double track underground road, the business now driven away to Third, Sixth, Eighth avenues, and Fourteenth street, would once more be monopolized by the central thoroughfare not only of New York but of the vast population which live along the line of the railroads to the east, north and west.

In this connection it should be remembered that the charter for the Central Underground Road was originally framed by those who were opposed to a Broadway railroad. Its only claim for a right to build a tunnel under that thoroughfare was based upon the usual privileges of railroads to build connecting or branch lines. This scheme may now be considered practically dead. It has been before the public for years before the Elevated roads were constructed. It has passed through numberless transformations, not less than a dozen different organizations having taken it up and tried to give it vitality. But, somehow, the money is never forthcoming and the work is never commenced. It is the tunnel scheme itself which is in disfavor. Passengers will not patronize a mere underground hole. They demand air, light and ventilation, which the Central Underground scheme cannot give. The property holders on Broadway see nothing for them in a tunnel that will build up Westchester County at the expense of New York. Hence their opposition to George Ticknor Curtis' demand for the appointment of commissioners to begin the work.

Broadway, in the meantime, continues to be an object of interest to railway speculators of all kinds. The "Grooved Pavement Company" is the last absurdity. This organization proposes to put five sets of tracks in Broadway, with three rails in each set. These "ruts" to be used for all kinds of vehicles that now make use of that street, This scheme was concocted by Dr. Lambert, of life insurance fame, and we are surprised to notice that among the signers to the petition are some capitalists who have hereto fore been supposed to be conservative.

EXTRAVAGANCE IN CITY PRINTING.

The demand for an additional $9,000, just made by the supervisor of the City Record, comes with ill grace on the part of a Municipal Bureau at a time that its operations, if not its very existence, are the subject of peculiar comments among some of the taxpayers of New York.

It is claimed, and it strikes us not without reason, that steadily, and by degrees, those directly and indirectly connected with the printing and publication of this useless sheet are assuming the position before the community formerly occupied by the New York Printing Company. It was during the Tweed regime that the latter concern flourished to an extent hitherto unknown in the municipal annals of New York. Nevertheless, there was method and brain in the conduct of the sheet then known as the Daily Transcript. Cornelius Corson, an expert and an adept at figures, would have hesitated, for instance, in presenting to the community such a labyrinth of figures, wasteful and extravagant in typographical composition, as was presented the other day in the City Record in its official report of the city election. All this may have been "fat" to the printer of the City Record, but it leaves anything but a bone for the poor tax-payer. This the more so, when it is remembered that this identical type, "fat" and all, was printed at an enormous expense in an extra supplement of the New York Times of December 23d.

The money expended on this City Record amounts to $37,200 per annum, as shown by the official appropriations. Nobody is benefited by this expenditure except the Supervisor, his assistant and the printer. The substance of all that is contained in its columns could be printed without expense to the city in the REAL ESTATE RECORD, and through its large circulation the same information be diffused among all of the property owners and tax-payers of New York.

It is not, however, this $37,200 which the so-called City Record Ring swallows, but it will be seen, by looking over the annual appropriations, that a sum not less than $100,000, apparently for the purpose of stationary, binding of documents, etc., for the courts and departments passes through the fingers of the gentlemen connected with the printing and mechanical department of the City Record.

To cap the climax, and to show how the old ring baby has only changed its name, we but retail common rumor by stating, that, flushed with the success which has heretofore attended their operations, the City Record clique have agreed upon a plan for securing from the new Legislature additional powers enabling them to establish, with the aid of moneys derived from the municipal exchequer, a system for printing and publishing all matters connected with the city government on a scale compared to which the old Tweed ring printing office was a mere flea bite.

ABOUT SHIPS.

During the month of November, thirteen iron and steel vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 25,410, were launched on the Clyde. This is the largest turnout since the corresponding month in 1876. It is said that were all the steamships placed in line which are now building on the Clyde, they would make more than a mile in length. These vessels are for every commercial nation, save alone the United States, whose navigation laws forbid the purchase of foreign vessels to its citizens, while its tariff prohibits the building of American vessels in this country, except at a heavy loss. Every other nation with a steam marine encourages its foreign commerce by liberal subsidies for carrying the mails. Strangely enough, the press of New York unanimously oppose any aid by Congress to help American steamship lines, and none are more zealous in opposition to government aid than the Journal of Commerce and the Commercial Bulletin, the special organs of the maritime interests. In a few months great fleets of iron and steam vessels will throng our magnificent harbor, but no one of them will bear the stars and stripes.

We refer to this matter because it affects vitally the prosperity of this port, once famous for its ship-building. We are almost forgetting how to construct sea-going vessels. The Secretary of the Navy in his last report pleads for the education of naval constructors, so as to keep alive a theoretical if we cannot have a practical knowledge of how to build naval vessels. The most disheartening aspect of the whole affair is the apathy of the American people, more particularly our merchant class, to the exclusion of the American flag from all the harbors of the world. This apathy cannot last always, and some time or other we will have an American marine and a navy to defend it.

It may be that it will require some great national disaster to wake our people up. Six weeks after a declaration of war any nation with a fleet could take possession of our seaboard. We have no navy, no guns, no defenses. The enormous wealth of our principal seaports is at the disposal of any great nation whose interest it might be to attack us. In six months from the first of January more money could be collected from New York and the other unprotected cities, than would pay for a splendid navy and the maintaining of it for a decade.

HINTS TO REAL ESTATE INVESTORS.

As many persons are now looking about for investments in real estate, perhaps a few hints might help them in the purchases they make.

First—Improved city property is generally the best purchase for those who wish to make a permanent investment. Be careful to buy in a new and settled or a growing neighborhood, and to avoid such locations as are plainly deteriorating. Certain sections of the city become in time unfashionable and therefore undesirable to investors. The late A. T. Stewart generally bought cheap properties in decaying neighborhoods. One cannot mistake in buying on leading avenues or on streets where new and good houses are being constructed. In this an investor will be guided by the judgment of the builders and real estate operators, who very rarely make mistakes.

Second—If you buy unimproved property purchase just ahead of improvements. You will have to pay more but the return will be quicker. Do not go one, two or three miles away from the line of advancing buildings, but purchase a few blocks off from where the row of new edifices are being constructed.

Watch what may be called the tide of building. It pours up certain avenues, as, for instance, lately up Fifth, Madison and Lexington avenues. Bye and bye it will sweep around the upper end of the Park. Indeed the city is being built down from Harlem, and the two confluent waves, one from the East Side, below the Central Park, one from the Northeast side, beyond Mount Morris, will meet together and sweep over the plain just above the Central Park. In the meantime there is another advancing tide from Fifty-ninth street up on the West side, but its progress is much slower than the building movement upon the east and north side of New York Island.

Third—Choose avenue lots and the lots of the broad streets in preference to the side streets and the narrow ones. The increment of value, that is of fancy value, is always greater on the avenues and broad streets than on the side streets. While a cross street lot advances a thousand dollars, an avenue lot may advance three or four thousand dollars.

Fourth—North side lots and west side lots, that is, north on the cross streets and west on the avenues running north and south, are the best property to purchase and keep. A lot on the south side of the street and the east side of the street or avenue will always sell for less than on the north side of the street or west side of an avenue. The only exception probably, is Fifth avenue and Eighth avenue, on the opposite sides of the Park. There are those, however, who believe that when the great apartment houses begin to be built on the West Side, property there will fetch more than it does on the east side of the Park.

Fifth—Remember that the four or five lots nearest the avenue are of more value than the lots on the rest of the block. If the choice of lots is given you on a street, select those nearest the principal avenue on the north side.

Sixth—If your means are limited and you purchase for a long investment, you cannot do better than buy north or west of the Central Park. In these days of elevated roads there is no reason why lots should remain from $20,000 to $30,000 south of the Park and from $3,000 to $4,000 north of the Park. Nor is there any justification for lots being worth from $15,000 to $25,000 east of the Central Park and from $3,500 to $5,000 west of the Central Park. It is evident that any one who purchases the cheaper property and can wait, will realize a handsome return for his money. In dealing with property in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards, remember that it is not profitable to buy lots. It is acres that are required on the other side of the Harlem River.

Seventh—Build near or buy near, but not too near, the elevated roads. Nothing is more certain that in time all the vacant property within three blocks on each side of the elevated roads will be densely built up. The history of every railroad running out of a large city shows that population will settle in the neighborhood of the stations, no matter how uninviting the country. Any one who has ridden along the Hudson River or the Morris & Essex road, or the various lines that run between here and twenty miles distant on the Jersey roads, will be convinced that it is impossible for any road near a large city to run through an uninhabited region.

Eighth—Healthfulness should be kept in mind. Property on this island is most desirable on this account, for, although there may be more or less malaria where streets are newly opened or ground recently dug up, it should be borne in mind that in the improved parts of New York there is scarcely any fever and ague. It is not by any means a common complaint in the settled portions of the city, and when once the island is built up it will equal in healthfulness any densely inhabited locality in the world.

Finally, it should be borne in mind that in all large cities the property of most value for residence purposes is eventually on the West Side. There is really no exception to this rule among all the capitals of the world. It cannot be doubted that before the close of the present century our finest residences will be on the Boulevard and Riverside Park and on Washington Heights. The time is coming when a river view will command a very high price, but, as yet, this has not been thought of in connection with real estate, for fashion has run to the backbone of the island, and the elite of our wealthy people have made their homes on Fifth avenue. After population sweeps about the upper end of the Park the wealthiest people will choose their building sites on the West Side, nor will they be satisfied with houses built close upon the street. They will want grounds and approaches to their property. As it happens, the most picturesque portion of this island, as well as of the country north of the Harlem River, is on the West Side, and as these will be rendered available in a little while by the elevated roads, it will not be many years before the most fancy property of New York will be on the bluffs overlooking our beautiful Hudson River.

WILL NEW YORK CONTINUE TO FLOURISH?

Just now the metropolis is prosperous, the price of realty is advancing, new buildings are going up by the hundred and the vacant spaces between the Park and the Harlem River, as well as west of the Central Park, threaten to be built up within the next ten years. But it seems the Canadians indulge in a fond dream that in about eight years New York will have reached its maximum of population and trade. After that fated year, 1888, the tide will turn and Montreal will become the great shippping port of the North American Continent. In eight years the Welland Canal, connecting the waters of Lake Ontario with those of Lake Erie, will have been completed. It will call into existence a fleet of steamships of about 1,500 tons burden and drawing not more than fourteen feet of water. These, it seems, can be laden at Duluth, on Lake Superior (the zenith city of the unsalted seas), and can be navigated, without a change of cargo, to Liverpool or London. In other words, the whole commerce of the West and Northwest will then find its outlet, not through the Erie Canal and New York City, but by way of the Welland Canal to Lake Ontario, the River St. Lawrence and so to its European destination.

Returning, these same fifteen hundred ton steamers can transport the commodities of Europe right to the very heart of our continent. Should this dream be realized, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, as well as the whole sea coast, would lose the greater part of their commerce and the cities of the future would be Montreal, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit and newer settlements on the lakes further to the Northeast. So our real estate patrons had better make all the money they can before 1890. It is even threatened that as soon as the Welland Canal has twelve feet of water that a very large commerce will be diverted from the Erie Canal, but it is admitted that Oswego will be benefited at the expense of Buffalo, for the St. Lawrence will be frozen up for so large a part of the year that the cargoes will have to be unladen at some lake port, like Oswego, to pay tribute again, though by a new channel, to New York. And it is undoubtedly true that the opening of the Welland Canal will give a great impetus to the trade of Oswego, and that the new reorganized railroad, the Ontario & Western, will benefit by this diversion of the grain traffic from Buffalo, but we apprehend our Canadian friends are indulging in too rosy a dream. One serious item in the account against them is the winter season, which locks up the lakes and the River St. Lawrence for fully one-half of the year. No doubt the Welland Canal, when opened, will be used, and that it will make certain changes in the grain and provision traffic of the country. It will clearly build up Oswego, but after that is not the solution of the transportation problem in the cheapening of railway freight? All recent railway reports show how greatly railroads have lowered their freight charges. The last annual report of the Lake Shore brings this out in a marked manner. The railroads which run all the year and at every season will have an advantage over the water route, which can be used only during the summer and part of the spring and autumn, so we do not fear that this diversion of traffic will permanently injure the trade of New York. No doubt, Montreal has a future and will grow with the growth of the trade of the continent, especially of the grain trade, but New York has got the start and, somehow, to-day every railway in the country pays tribute to it. The roads which have centred in Philadelphia and Baltimore found it indispensible to make New York their terminal point. It is this vast concentration of the whole railway system of the country which has built up this city, despite all the talk of rival water courses. No doubt, in the fullness of time, some inland city may take precedence of New York. The great cities of the world are never on the seacoast. London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid and Pekin are all inland. It is not commerce which has built up the great cities, but the fact of their being the capitals of nations. Had Washington been situated where Chicago or St. Louis now are, that would undoubtedly have been, in time, the most populous city in the country, but its location is such that it can never aspire to be a real metropolis. There is no danger bnt that New York will keep the lead during the present century.

MAY IT NOT BE OVERDONE?

We are building railways at a rapid pace. From every part of this vast country comes the demand for additional railway facilities. As we have said before, the year 1881 will see two miles built for every one in any previous year and for every one mile actually constructed, ten will be projected. Of course, this means large profits for the existing railway systems, and it will make prosperous for a time all the metal industries and the allied manufactures. But, the facts should be constantly kept in mind that this building of railroads is changing our investments from floating and available to fixed and permanent. In other words, new railroads create no new wealth that is immediately available. The wealth of the world comes from land and labor, from the products of the soil and the work of human hands. The mere transferring of these products of human labor from one part of the country to another is a great convenience, but it adds nothing to the actual surplus capital of the community. Individuals and sections of country profit by these railway extensions, because it gives them markets for their productions. If three hundred millions should be spent during the coming year in railway building, just so much money would be withdrawn from other uses and will not be available for years to come. In Great Britain, these frequently recurring railway excitements always culminated in panics and nearly all our own commercial reversions were attributable, wholly or in part, to railroad building in excess of the creation of new capital.

According to statisticians, the annual increase of wealth in a nation does not exceed two and a quarter per cent. No doubt, the statistics of the last three years would, so far as this country is concerned, show that the aggregate increase of wealth might have been three or three and a quarter per cent. But, then, these were exceptional years with us, and this suggests the true theory of panics. If the rate of interest in current business is six and seven per cent., while the actual addition to the wealth of the country is less than three per cent., it follows that the time must come when borrowers cannot meet their obligations. Any single individual can see that if he carries on business with money borrowed at six per cent., while the business itself only pays three per cent., that he must come to a stop when his money runs out. And this is exactly what the community is doing in the aggregate all the time, and it accounts not only for the small proportion of people who get rich, but for the panics which occur in every seven to eleven years in nations, commercially active, such as Great Britain and the United States. A panic is simply an agreement not to pay debts, or rather it is the compulsory bankruptcy of the body of business men who pay six per cent. and carry on a business which pays less than three per cent. A commercial crisis is the wiping out of obligations.

But, it may be asked, what has this to do with the overbuilding of railways?

Only this much. Money put into railways is for the time lost to the community. The capital represented the result of past savings made from the trade in consumable articles. All wealth is the result of actual production; but railway building is all consumption. It follows, that the more rapid the building of railroads, the sooner will come the time when our money will run out and when we must stop employments which consume capital and raise cotton, grain, the metals and manufactures until we have a surplus made from the creation of new wealth, which is not spent so as to become fixed, rather than floating capital.

But, it may be urged, the money for these new railway enterprises comes from abroad. On the continent of Europe the governments own the railways, and private capital there can find no outlets in that direction. Hence the large amount of German, Holland and Belgian money put in the construction of American railways.

True enough, all this, but we do not get the money for nothing. We have to give our bonds and obligations and pay interest thereupon, and these remain a permanent charge against the country. We are rapidly accumulating an immense bonded debt, due to foreigners, and we are having and will have prosperous times so long as we are receiving and spending the money of other people. But pay-day will come and we will not be able to meet all our obligations. It may be five years off or seven, but come it will,

The moral of all this is, put your money in productive real estate, such as farms and residences in a growing city, or put it in vacant property which can be easily made productive and is in the line of improvement; always keeping in mind of paying for what you get and not mortgaging your possessions. The man who owns productive property unmortgaged can laugh at panics, and, in this connection it is well to keep in mind that France has no commercial reverses. Of late years, a crisis or panic has been unknown in the French nation, for the reason that the Frenchman never gets in debt. They buy for cash and pay money down in every commercial transaction. Distress in other nations injures French trade, but it only diminishes profits, it does not cause failures.

But there is no trouble in the immediate future; we are getting intoxicated on prosperity and no one will believe the prophet when he tells them there is danger of tumbling in the gutter of insolvency.

THE PALACE CAR BUSINESS.

A short time since we pointed out the probability that the great railroad consolidations would finally do their own express, freighting and palace car business. These organizations came into existence to supplement the short comings of the railway system. This last was disjointed, and covered only limited sections of the country. The forwarder of wheat or cattle in the extreme West, did not want to deal with half a dozen railway companies—so he patronized the freight line organizations, which have running arrangements with all the roads. And so with the express and palace car companies. But what with consolidations, leasings and poolings the railway systems of the country are becoming unified and it is natural to expect that the companies in time will secure to themselves the profits now made by the freight, express and palace car companies.

A leading official in the Pullman Palace Car Company informs us, however, that in his opinion palace cars can best be run by an organization outside of the ordinary railway companies. In the first place the Pullman Car Company has patents which cannot be infringed for many years to come. The Wagner Company is forced to pay a royalty, for it uses the Pullman patents. Hence the extension of Vanderbilt's influence over the railroads increases the revenues of the Pullman company. Then there are contracts on many of the roads, running for 5 to 10 years. A Pullman car built to-day, costs from 14,000 to 15,000 dollars. But the bulk of the present Pullman cars were built in cheap times and so large were the profits of the company that it can supply cars to new roads for 7,000 or 8,000 dollars. In other words, the surplus profits of the Pullman Company have been used to mark down the price of the cars so as to render opposition all but impossible. The Rock Island Road tried to run their own cars for several years, but last year they gave up the contest, and now the Pullman cars are used on that road, to the profit of the railroad company.

The Chicago & Alton road thought at one time of trying the experiment of running its own sleeping cars, but its experts tested the matter for six months and they found that they were to loose money if they stocked their road with a sufficient number of sleeping cars.

Then, so much money is needed in extensions and improvements, that there is none to spare for the construction of expensive and costly sleeping cars.

The Pullman Car Company pays 8 per cent. while last year it earned nearly 20 per cent. During all the hard times it had a surplus every year. It not only runs sleeping cars, it is a manufacturing company. It has extensive works at Detroit, Mich., and during last year it spent over a million dollars in the construction of an immense factory in South Chicago. Here it will build not only palace cars but cars of all kinds as well as locomotives and make a specialty of car wheels. This business will be very prosperous for several years to come, and while George H. Pullman lives there is every reason to believe the company's business will be safe and profitable. He is a successful man, although he believes the public should have the worth of their money. It was the Pullman Company that built the cars on the Sixth avenue road, which are so much superior to the cars on the Third avenue road. Manufacturing is not always profitable. The time comes when the market is glutted and prices fall. The Pullman Car Company will have its vicissitudes; but certainly the future looks as bright for its business as for any other in the country. The capital stock is only six millions and, some day, should a consolidation take place with Wagner, there may be a large scrip-dividend.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BROOKLYN BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

The annual report of the Building Department of Brooklyn shows that during October of 1880 their were 69 more permits granted for erecting new buildings than for any year since 1873, and that as a rule the buildings are much superior to those that have been put up in former years. The buildings in greatest demand are the two-story and basement dwellings. The total number of plans for new buildings for the year is 903, embracing 1633 buildings, divided partly as follows: Private dwellings, 761; dwellings, more than one family, 264; stores and dwellings, 144; tenements, 25; shops, 69; factories and foundries, 62; churches, 5; storehouses, 20. The total number to be built of brick is 1,082, of which 523 are brown stone fronts, and of frame 551, at an estimated cost of $6,415,804.

Seven hundred and sixty-eight brick houses and 554 frame houses have been completed, 464 are now being built. The greatest number in one ward is 197, in the Twenty-second Ward, 174 of these being brick. The Twenty-first Ward puts up 168, of which 105 are frame; the Eighteenth Ward, 181, of which 100 are frame. The only other wards exceeding 100 are the Seventh Ward, 116, of which 100 are brick. The Nineteenth Ward, 121, of which 107 are brick, and the Twenty-third Ward, 109, of which 107 was brick. The wards showing the smallest number of buildings were the Fifth, with 1 brick building, and the Fourth with 7 brick buildings.

The alterations of buildings foot up 859, of which 839 were approved, and 813 have been completed. The total estimated cost is $635,582.

Of violations of the building laws, 310 have been reported; 22 were for building without permission.

The department seems to be in fine working order, and we certainly have found the officers to be gentlemen who have earned our thanks for their uniform courtesy.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of the Iron Steamboat Company, published in another column, an enterprise which reflects the progress being made in the shape of additional means of communication required for the army of excursionists that is year after year centering more and more in and around New York and its magnificent harbor.

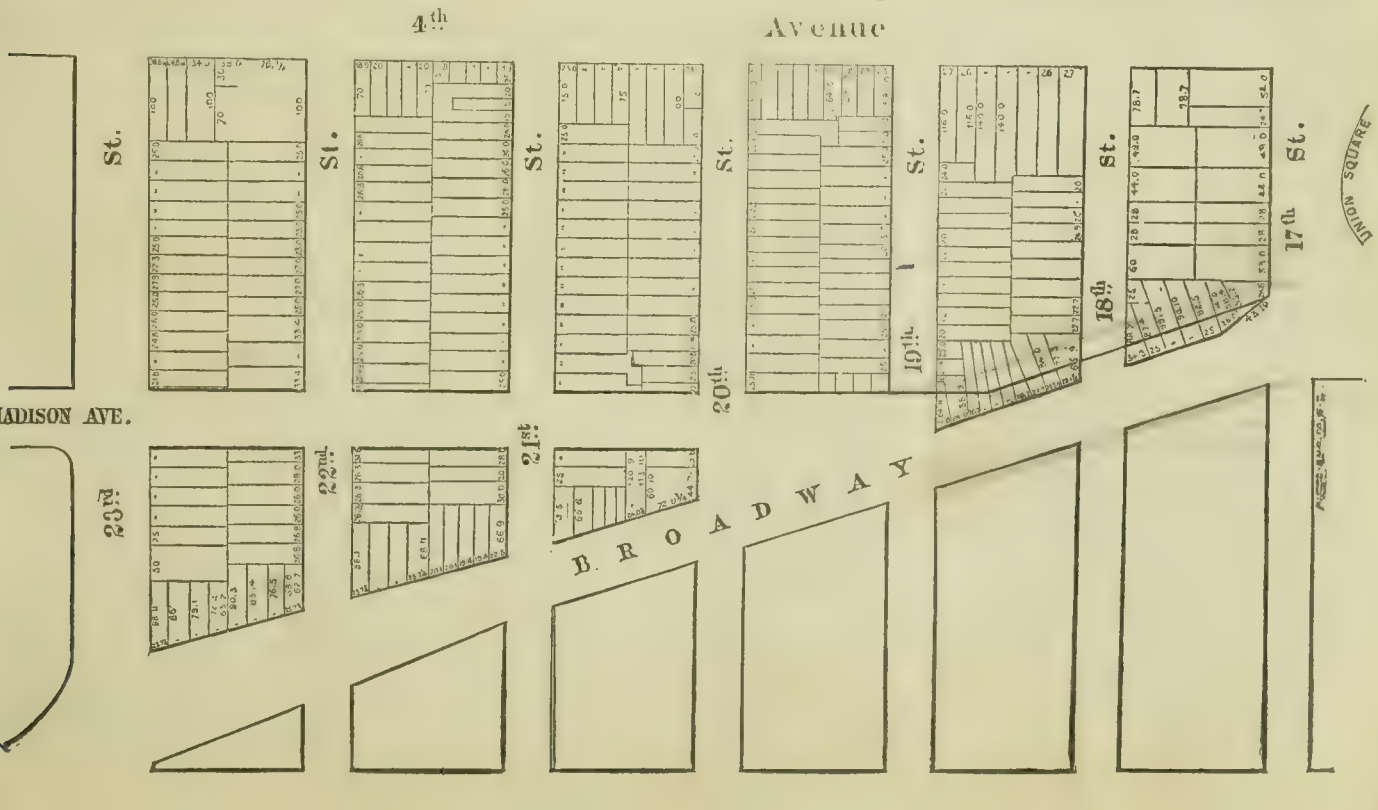
Madison Avenue Must be Extended.

THE PROPER METHOD FOR THE RELIEF OF BROADWAY AND TWENTY-THIRD STREET.—THE PUBLIC AS WELL AS PROPERTY OWNERS TO BE BENEFITTED.

To the Editor of THE REAL ESTATE RECORD:

Your article on a "Much Needed Improvement," in THE REAL ESTATE RECORD of Dec. 18, is a very good and timely one; the only wonder is that public attention has not been called to that subject long since, for not only has locomotion on foot and in carriages at the intersection of Broadway, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street become very inconvenient, but at times positively dangerous, as everyone must have experienced who has had occasion to make one of the crossings at that point on a fine afternoon, between three and six o'clock. What with the three lines of omnibuses and five lines of street cars which meet and cross each other at that point, the traffic is frequently interrupted for five or ten minutes at a time, and the accumulation of carriages becomes so great, both in Fifth avenue, Twenty-third street and Madison square, that even the best efforts of the "two stalwart policemen" are hardly sufficient to regulate traffic, or to enable the crowd of ladies and elderly persons to run safely the gauntlet of impatient coachmen and car drivers.

Broadway, from Twenty-second down to Seventeenth street, is also much too narrow for all the traffic that attempts to pass to and from the upper part of the city at that point, much of the space being taken up by the horse car railroads, and though the carriage way at Twenty-second street is nearly 75 feet wide, it narrows to only about 45 feet at the intersection with Eighteenth street. Through this limited space is forced nearly all the immense and daily increasing business with the upper part of the city west of Fifth avenue. To it crowds at least three-quarters of the vehicles coming from or going towards Fourth avenue, lower Broadway and University place, and the consequence is that at almost any time on a clear day, particularly in the afternoon, one may find a jam of trucks, horse cars or omnibuses in some portion of it.



The street between these points is now generally avoided by private carriages, they putting down and taking up their loads in the streets adjacent to the large retail shops, such as Arnold, Constable & Co., Aitken & Miller, &c., and, unless some remedy is found for this difficulty, the retail trade must suffer considerable damage sooner or later, because people will find their way to shops higher up town, which are more accessible.

If the expense would not be too great, Broadway ought to be widened on the east side to an equal width of say seventy-five feet from Twenty-second street to Union square, the buildings generally not being first-class; but that might prove rather expensive, as the cost would fall on comparatively a small area. The best plan and the one of most general utility would be the one you propose in your recent article, viz.: The extension of Madison avenue from Twenty-third street to a point on Nineteenth street about fifty feet east of Broadway, and thence widen the latter street twenty-five feet until it strikes Union square. This plan would not only give the desired relief and add immensely to the value of all adjacent property, but would give us another magnificent avenue worthy of this great metropolis. It would, moreover, insure the future of Madison avenue, now only a tributary street, and would greatly increase the value of the property below Forty-second street, which at present is hardly worth the half of realty in the same line on Fifth avenue. The cost of the property on the line of the above extension on a detailed valuation made by Mr. E. H. Ludlow, would not exceed one and a half million of dollars, and even admitting that the other expenses amounted to as much more (which they would not), the assessments on Madison avenue property would be a mere bagatelle compared with the enhanced value; for a large share of the cost (it being a general improvement) would fall on the city at large. No street in New York city that does not run through from east to west or from north to south, or, in other words, which is not a thoroughfare, has ever been a success. University place, for example, which, like Madison avenue, has not a suitable outlet on the southern end; Fourth avenue, which practically ends at the tunnel; Lafayette place, which long ago ought to have been extended through to Fourth avenue at one end, and to Crosby street at the other; West Broadway, formerly known as Chapel street; and last, but not least, Fifth avenue, below Twenty-third street, with South Fifth avenue, which, owing to the delay in the completion of the latter street and the opening across Washington square, was left out in the general rush of business up town. The same experience, to a greater or less extent will certainly befall property owners in Madison avenue, unless the extension is carried out. No time will ever be more favorable for it than the present, and we hope that, for the sake of property, as well as for the general good, you will continue to push this work in your valuable paper.

C. R. ROBERT.

The Proposed Extension.

It will be seen that the proposed extension of Madison avenue below Twenty-third street, as shown by the blank space on the diagram cuts through several blocks leaving a grand avenue running due south toward Union Square.

ABOUT THE ONTARIO AND WESTERN.

Writer.—I come to make some inquiries about this property and what its future is likely to be. I see you are selling stock in England.

Official.—Yes, 50,000 shares of this stock has been taken to London and 50,000 to Amsterdam and other Continental points. We think the stock has great prospective value.

Wr.—How soon will the improvements on the road be completed?

Off.—Our chief engineer says fifteen months, but it may be eighteen months or even two years before we are all in running order. You know we have between eight and nine million to spend, and we hope to make a first class road with very little waste. We have no loan or improvement company, no inside syndicate. The reconstruction of the road, for it amounts to that, will give us a property which will enable us to carry freight with any road in the country.

Wr.—If it is a fair question, what is your Western connection to be?

Off.—We have the choice of several, but it is yet undetermined which we will take. There will be plenty of time before we can complete our own road.

Wr.—I see the Welland Canal may be opened by next summer with twelve feet of water. Will that make any difference to the Ontario and Western Road?

Off.—Our main dependence is the immense business which will necessarily come to Oswego upon the opening of the Welland Canal. The waterway at Oswego is fourteen feet deep and forty-six feet wide. The ice forms later in the fall and breaks up earlier in the spring than it does at Buffalo: With our road in proper order freight can be put through to New York from Oswego in twelve hours. The lake business is enormous. Instead of Montreal profiting by the opening of the Welland Canal, it will be New York and incidentally Oswego and the Ontario & Western Railway. During the summer and fall in the dullest times, we will not be able to begin to do all the business offered to us; while in the winter season we will have our Western connections by railway the same as other companies. The time is coming when people of this city will realize that the Ontario & Western with its connection with the lake traffic at Oswego will retain the business of the great western lakes for the metropolis. Without the facilities which we will afford there will be danger that Montreal and the St. Lawrence will take away the trade of the West from this city.

Wr.—With all that, I do not see the stock of the Ontario & Western has any present value. There certainly will be no dividends for years to come. For what with your tunnel and improvements along the road, at least two years will be consumed before you are ready for business. Then, if you should have a large traffic, you will require rolling stock and improvements.

The writer left with the impression that the general public did not fully realize the importance to New York of this new avenue of commerce.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY LOAN.

(From the Evening Post.)

A part of the largest railroad loan ever taken by a single syndicate in this country is now offered to the public for subscription by Messrs. Drexel, Morgan & Co., Winslow, Lanier & Co., and August Belmont & Co., with their associates in this country and Messrs. J. S. Morgan & Co., in London. We refer to the $40,000,000 loan of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company of which $20,000,000 are offered to subscribers, the books to open on Monday next. No more of the bonds will be offered at any price during the year 1881. Over $36,000,000 in cash had been spent on the Northern Pacific Railroad prior to the issue of these bonds, the proceeds of which are to be first used for the completion of the gap between the Eastern and Western finished parts of the road. All the bonds issued under the old organization have been converted into preferred stock, so that the present issue of bonds has the advantage of the large investment named. The security of the bonds consists (1) of a first lien on the road at the rate not exceeding $25,000 per mile of completed road, (2) of a first lien upon the lands granted to the company, the remaining amount of which, according to the last annual report of Auditor French to the Secretary of the Interior, is 39,406,000 acres, which at $2.50 per acre (his estimate) "will realize the sum of $97,515,000," and (3) by a sinking fund which at its minimum will extinguish the entire issue of bonds before maturity—forty years hence. This sinking fund is derived from two sources, first, a semi-annual contribution from the net earnings of the company equal to one per cent. of the bonds outstanding, and second, from the sale of lands. All of the money so received and the accumulations thereon must be invested in these bonds up to 110 and interest. Purchasers of land covered by these bonds can pay therefor with these bonds at 110 and interest in lieu of cash. The sales of the lands of the company have thus far averaged about $3.50 per acre and have yielded more than $10,000,000. The land sales for the eleven months of this year amount to $2,156,348. The present management of the company is one of the strongest in every respect that was ever organized. Further particulars concerning the loan can be obtained from the bankers named.

THE SALE OF THE TONTINE BUILDING.

In our article of last week, giving some reminiscences of the Old Tontine Coffee House, which is to be sold at auction on the 11th instant by Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son, we failed to give the names of the seven surviving lives out of about two hundred. They were, in 1870, shortly before the suit leading to the present sale was instituted: "William Bayard, Jr., Maria Bayard, now the widow of Duncan B. Campbell, Robert Benson, Jr., David Murray Hoffman, now known as Murray Hoffman, Gouverneur Kemble, Mary Ray, now the widow of John A. King, and Horatio Gates Stevens." These seven names are quoted from Mr. William B. Winterton's report as referee, and he states that the whole property became vested in the persons then entitled to the shares standing in the names of these seven surviving lives (nominees). Since that time some of the above persons have died.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

☞ For list of lots and houses for sale see pages v and vi of advertisements.

Notwithstanding the stormy weather, and the closing days of the year, the Exchange Salesroom was visited during the past week by a large number of investors, dealers and brokers, who frequently lingered there for considerable time, even after the public sales of the day had been disposed of, in order to manipulate their private transactions. Bernard Smyth sold at auction the southeast corner of John and Nassau streets, 22x51.10, to Geo. S. Puffer, for $28,200. Messrs. L. J. & I. Phillips sold on the day following, No. 24 Vandam street, 24.9x100, to Thomas Reid, for $10,100. Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son sold No. 74 Third avenue, 25.10x100 (leasehold), for $13,750, to S. M. Milliken. The same auctioneers disposed of Nos. 95 and 97 Eighth street, 355.9 west Fifth avenue, for $11,625.

The Staten Island property, being about eight acres of land and a small frame house on Richmond avenue, Southfield, belonging to the old firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., was sold to R. W. Cameron, for $13,175, by E. H. Ludlow & Co.

In Brooklyn, during the past week, Messrs. Cole & Murphy sold at auction the church at the northeast corner of McDonough street and Tompkins avenue, for account of the receiver of the Globe Mutual Life Insurance Company, to C. E. Wendt, for $40,100. Mr. Thos. A. Kerrigan sold under foreclosure, the northwest corner of Van Brunt and Partition streets, 25x100, for $10,400. The Parson's property, on Broadway, Flushing, was sold under foreclosure during the week, for $7,250.

The auctioneers are beginning to make their announcements for the new year. We have already commented on the Supreme Court sale of the Tontine Building, to be held by A. H. Muller & Son, on the 11th instant, and refer investors for further particulars to our advertising columns. Mr. Harnett announces for the 13th instant, a sale of five lots on the corner of Broadway and Forty-third street, of which, also, details will be found in another column.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK.

The week closes and the year begins with the real estate market under full headway of activity, with every indication of higher prices as the season progresses. New capital, foreign as well as domestic, is now seeking investment in the soil of New York, and, though speculation is not rampant, the constant accession of fresh capital requiring a reasonable return, not to be found outside of real estate, gives extraordinary strength to the market.

Mr. J. C. Parrish, representing a number of foreign capitalists, some of them residents of Amsterdam, Holland, has purchased for these gentlemen Nos. 78 and 80 Broadway, a marble front office building, 84 feet south of Wall street, fronting 48.11 feet on Broadway, and 53.4 on New street, for about $500,000. The southern wing of the building has a depth of 112.11 feet, and the northern 108.5. The property belonged to the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, of Connecticut, and would have been secured at a lower figure by leading capitalists now occupying offices in this building, but for the foresight of the real estate management of this insurance company, they well knowing the steady and increasing demand for such structures in the lower part of Broadway. Even Jay Gould and Russell Sage, it is said, were, at one time, anxious to purchase this property, and might possibly have had it for $450,000 three months ago. The price now obtained, though somewhat less than half a million, is considered so advantageous by the investors that they have since refused to part with it at an advance. It is understood that the contract of sale and purchase, which was signed at Hartford a few days since, will somewhat disturb the present tenants, and that the new owners intend to add on probably two stories in order to supply more office accommodations in a locality, the most eligible for business purposes. Mr. Edmund C. Stedman, a broker, who occupies offices in this building, and has paid an annual rent of $500 for them, has already been informed by the new owners that after the first of May next he will be required to pay a rent of $2,500 per annum. If other tenants are raised in the same proportion, the purchaser has made one of the best investments of the year.

Messrs. Robert and Ogden Goelet have just taken title to the entire block bounded by Eighth and New avenues, One Hundred and Thirty-fifth and One Hundred and Thirty-sixth streets, 199.10x350, the consideration being $80,000. The sale was effected by Messrs. Scott & Myers.

The same firm have sold at private contract eight lots on Ninety-fifth street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, for $36,000; also one lot on One Hundred and Twenty-second street, 250 feet west of Seventh avenue, for $3,000; also, for Mr. Wm. F. Croft, the four-story brown stone house No. 15 East Sixty-fourth street, for $42,500.

Messrs. L. J. & I. Phillips, have sold considerabls property during the past week, notably on Greene and Crosby streets, of which they refuse to furnish particulars. It is known, however, that in the line of vacant property, they have sold, for Mr. John A. Monsell, ten lots on the north side of One Hundred and Twelfth street, 150 feet west of Seventh avenue, and seven lots on the north side of One Hundred and Eleventh street, 200 feet east of Eighth avenue, for $51,000.

The report that four lots, owned by Mr. C. F. Barney, on Sixty-seventh street, between Fifth and Madison avenue, have been sold for $30,000 each, is not correct. Mr. Barney in a letter addressed to THE RECORD, says "I have refused to sell them at $32,000 a lot."

Mr. Amos R. Eno has sold, through Mordecai & Bellamy, ten lots on the south side of Sixty-first street, 150 feet west of Ninth avenue, for $80,000. Adjoining these lots, eight more have been sold by Mr. Livingston, and the purchaser, a builder, it is said intends to improve them all with first-class brown stone flats.

Five lots on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and Sixty-seventh street, four on the avenue, and one on the street, have been sold to Mr. David Dinkelspiel, for $120,000. The latter has since resold them with an advance of $10,000, to Mr. Daniel Hennessy.

Mr. S. M. Brown, of Harlem, has sold at private contract during the week, the southwest corner of Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, 100 10x185, for $70,000. The same broker has sold to Mr. Geo. A. Hamilton, two lots on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, 60 feet west of Madison avenue, for $11,000.

The six lots on the northeast corner of Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, recently sold by Isaac Honig to Moritz Bauer for $22,000, have been resold by the latter to Mr. Hardy, for $25,000.

Mr. John Gorman, of Third avenue and Eighty-second street, has sold the southeast corner of Lexington avenue and Seventy-ninth street, 50x102, and end of lot adjoining, 20x34, to F. R. Walker, for $23,250. He has also sold two lots on the north side of Seventy-ninth street, twenty foot front each, between Second and Third avenues, adjoining the schoolhouse, to a builder, for $11,000; also to the Mr. Walker above mentioned, a three story brown stone house on Eighty-fifth street, between Fourth and Lexington avenues, for $9,600.

Mr. James J. Coogan has purchased No. 121 East Thirty-ninth street, 118 feet west of Lexington avenue, 20x98.6, a four-story brick dwelling, from Wm. P. & A. M. Parsons, for $22,000.

The reconstruction of the corner of Broadway and Prince street, recently acquired by Mr. John Jacob Astor, will begin on February first, when present leases expire. Ground will then be broken for the erection of two six story brick and stone warehouses, with a frontage of 50 feet on Broadway, and 200 feet on Prince street. The cost of the two large stores is estimated at $350,000.

It is reported that the Dominican Fathers in charge of the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer, will shortly erect a new monastery on the northeast corner of Lexington avenue and Sixty-fifth street. The cost of the building will be about $100,000.

It should have been stated in this column last week, that the sale of ten Brooklyn lots, amounting to $26,000, and the purchase of 350 West Twenty-third street, by Mr. John A. Monsell, were effected by Mr. Jere Johnson, Jr. The Brooklyn lots were on the corner of Union street and Eighth avenue.

Jere Johnson, Jr., has sold during the past week the following Brooklyn property: Seven lots on the south side of Fulton street, 20x75 each, for $24,500; thirty-four lots on south side of Hancock street, between Nostrand and Marcy avenues, for $33,600; twelve lots on Jefferson street, between Marcy and Nostrand avenues, for $9,840; twelve lots on Hancock street, in rear of above, for $9,840; twelve lots on Jefferson street, near above, for $10,400, and twelve additional lots on Hancock street, for $10,400.

That things in Long Island are about as lively as on Manhattan Island, is evident by the above. Going further on, along the coast, we find that Mr. Henry C. Murphy and associates have purchased from Mr. William A. Engeman, the Brighton Bathing Pavillion at Coney Island, and the shore front from the Pavillion to the Concourse, including the wooden pier, for $100,000. It is understood, that an iron pier will replace the wooden one during the coming year.

From other parts of Long Island, we hear of active real estate operations. Mr. James Roosevelt has purchased seventy-five acres at Cove Neck. The Seligman property at Jamaica has been sold to Mr. Edward Morrison. Mrs. Daniel B. Conklin has purchased Mr. Kally's property on Broad street, Greenport, and at Bridgehampton. Messrs. Orrin Warren and B. H. Seabury have secured from the heirs of the late Isaac Ludlow, several sites for the purpose of erecting summer cottages. Mr. Richard Esterbrook, Jr., who already owns property in this place, has purchased twenty four more acres on Ocean avenue. From various other sections of the Long Island coast we hear of numerous negotiations pending so as to accommodate the thousands of pleasure seekers during next summer.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—There is a continued strong market for Common Hards, with a slow but sure gain on values. The holiday season and the unfavorable weather have tended to restrict operations somewhat during the current week, but this has been neutralized by light supplies and a demand to pile away against future wants, which prevented any accumulation afloat. The major portion of the arrivals have come forward on barges from Haverstraw, and in many cases appeared to be under engagement before receipt, and the disposal of the offering was a matter of no difficulty whatever. Up to the present writing about $7.75 per M. appears to be the average top rate, but 25c. per M more is asked by some receivers on the ordinary run of quality with favorite brands higher still. Stock from Jersey and Long Island is valued in full proportion to that from the Hudson, and, indeed, a few of the makers at points on the "Sound" insist that a much better price must be guaranteed before they will commence shipping at all. We learn of no Pales afloat, and the price is nominal. Fronts selling mostly from yard, and command good full rates in all cases. The year closes upon a generally firm and promising market for all holders of stock.

CEMENT.—The market retains a firm tone, and generally the supplies available are moderate, with a pretty good demand current for Rosendale. In the majority of cases $1.25 per bbl. is quoted, and supplies are understood to be coming through by rail at this rate. We are informed, however, that the figure is not quite so universal as supposed, some quiet offerings making at a shading from this and of lots from dealers hands. American Portland is selling well, and current quotations are fully sustained. Foreign grades in good demand for the season, and generally reported as retaining a healthy, uniform tone.

HARDWARE—There is scarcely any business doing except on city account and this does not amount to much, buyers merely taking some odd invoices to meet an unexpected necessity, etc. Offerings are fair but not full, the desire being to prevent an increase of accumulation until after the yearly inventory shall have been completed. As before, the tone is apparently steady, and sellers all talk full prices on their stocks. The manufacturers of wood screws have fixed upon discounts to go into effect January 1 as follows: Flat Head Iron, 50 per cent. Round do. 45 per cent. Flat Head Brass, 50 per cent. Round do. 40 do.

LIME.—The market is well sustained, and full former prices remain current on all grades. Supplies come to hand slowly, are exhausted at once, and the demand is quick enough to make a place for much larger quantities.

LATH.—The market has continued strong, and is gradually verifying the predictions and expectations of receivers. Some fair arrivals have taken place since our last, but all were wanted, and with sufficient anxiety to induce an increase upon bids, upon which an advance of 10c. per M is established, fixing the selling basis by cargo at $2.10 per M. The demand, however, is not yet satisfied, and buyers may be found ready to negotiate, though rather disinclined to agree to the still higher figure asked on the few parcels offering to arrive. Some dealers who are carrying stocks on storage are indifferent operators, as they feel that at market rates they have a supply close at hand if much in need of it, but others have neither an accumulation on storage or much if any of their own and are somewhat anxious to purchase

LUMBER.—Business naturally has been quite dull during the holiday week, and there is no feature in the present condition of the market worthy of special note. Dealers quite generally appear very well satisfied with the results of the past year's operations and are looking forward to a good trade soon after the commencement of the new year, though much will of course depend upon the weather and especially so far as local consumption is concerned. The export trade is quite promising, and it is believed that supplies laid aside for this special outlet will all be wanted before opportunity is afforded for additions, except at heavy expense for transportation, etc., and this of course would entail an addition to cost. Shippers assert that in such an event they would be compelled to withdraw, as margins are already calculated to a nicety and cannot be widened, so far as most regular outlets are concerned.

Spruce of attractive quality could be placed if offered, and at a pretty full rate. There is, however, neither any great amount offering upon the open market or under call for it, and the position more or less nominal, though not unusually so for the season. Some schedules continue to offer, but manufacturers respond slowly and the amounts closed are small About $17@18 quoted for random and as high as $22 asked for specials.

White Pine is under good and quite determined control with holders offering stocks carefully and indifferently. There has been some little hurry to work through a few pending negotiations before the end of the year, but the new demand was moderate and unimportant especially on local account. This however, is a seasonable feature, and on the whole expected, more especially during the present week. We quote $17@20 per M. for West India shipping boards; $23@25 for South America do.; $15.50@16.50 for box board; $17.00@17.50 for do. wide and sound do.

Yellow Pine is not finding much demand and the market has a somewhat slack tone. Held lots have in some cases been offered quite low by owners anxious to close out, but for really attractive supplies the position is at least steady, and some sellers are claiming full figures. There is no indication of any scarcities in the immediate future so far as ordinary grades are concerned, but it would be a difficult matter to induce manufacturers to contract for extra sizes at present. We quote random cargoes at about $23.50@25 per M.; ordered cargoes, $24@26 do.; green flooring boards, $24@25 do.; and dry do. do. $25@26 0. Cargoes at the South $14@17 per M. for rough, and $19@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods are generally held with much firmness on a line of the quotations previously given, but the supply offering is small and business dull. Choice walnut, cherry and ash are wanted, and oak is also scarce, especially quarter cut. We quote at wholesale rates by carload about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do.; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do.; culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@47 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch. $25@27.50, and do. inch, $33@35 do.; hickory, $35@45 do., for Western, and $65@75 for good nearby stock.

Among the yard dealers the reports are of a moderate distribution of stocks this week and without new features of importance. Stocks, however, are firmly held, and in all cases full former rates asked.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following:

An Am barque, 435 tons, from Savannah to Buenos Ayres, lumber, $18.50 net; an Am barque, 495 tons, from Boston to Boca Wharf, Buenos Ayres, lumber, $18 62½ net; an Am barque, 577 tons, from Portland to Buenos Ayres, lumber, $13.50 net; an Am barque, 717 tons, Portland to Montevideo or Buenos Ayres, lumber, $12.50 net; an Am barque, 514 tons, from Calais to Montevideo or Buenos Ayres, lumber, $15 net; an Am brig, 420 tons, from Pensacola to Caibarien, lumber, $7; an Am schr, 191 tons, from Frontera to New York, cedar and mahogany, about $12.50; an Am schr 217 tons, Wilmington, N. GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman has the following on the Chicago market:

With the close of navigation the receipt of lumber has practically ceased, but there are still some arrivals by rail, and during the past week these have aggregated 3,255,000 feet of lumber and 2,900,000 shingles. The receipts of the corresponding week last year were 1,980,000 feet of lumber and 1,185,000 shingles, showing an increase for the current season. The total receipts of the season to the present time reaches 1,530,070,000 feet of lumber and 643,108,000 shingles, an increase of 92,268,103 feet of lumber and a decrease of 12,925,000 shingles, as compared with 1879. There is room for heavier rail receipts in the shape of large dimension sizes of joist and timber, and, as the winter operations of the mills will warrant, the heavy building operations of the city and vicinity now in progress or contemplated for the immediate future, will, no doubt, receive supplies through this channel.

Receipts and shipments of lumber and shingles from January 1 to and including December 22:

	Receipts.		Shipments.
	Lumber.	Shingles.	Lumber.	Shingles.
1880..	1,530,070,000	643,108,000	791,477,763	121,113,000
1879..	1,437,801,897	655,133,000	728,408,595	141,836,000

The shipments of the past week, as compared with the earlier season, make a meagre showing, owing to several causes, one of which is the continued stringency in the supply of cars, which still are so difficult to obtain as greatly to hinder trade. The approach of the holidays, combined with the fact of severe weather for several weeks, have proved another factor to decrease the volume of trade. The shipments of the week are reported at 6,938,000 feet of lumber, which, according to the adopted rule of figuring, should read 15,616,856 feet, or two and a half million feet per day. The comparison with the shipments of last year shows the past week to differ only about one car load from the corresponding week of last year. Shingle shipments, on the contrary, have largely decreased, the report showing but 714,000 shipped this year, against 2,208,000 for the corresponding week of 1879.

The total shipmehts of the season now aggregate 791,477,763 feet, or as corrected, 1,213,750,767 feet of lumber and 121,113,000 shingles. Figured upon our usual basis, the excess of shipments over 1879 now reaches 99,108,692 feet of lumber, and effectually wipes out the excess of receipts which is elsewhere figured to date at 92,268 103 feet. Trade is in a healthy condition, although under the influences heretofore noted, rather quiet; prices are firmly held, and some varieties of stock are quite difficult to find. The general feeling among the dealers is one of satisfaction at the outlook for the future, although no heavy demand is anticipated uutil after the holidays are past.

HARDWOODS.—Trade continues unusually good for December, with unchanged prices. On some grades, particularly in ash, prices are unyielding, and an advance would not be a surprise. The market is very clear of dry ash, and the fact that outside parties are frequently in quest of it here shows that the stock is small at other points. Dealers are paying producers an advance of from $6 to $8 on the better grades, over prices at the beginning of last winter, and even at auch an increase, contracts for large amounts can not readily be placed. We notice the arrival at one yard of several cars of very fine ash from Ohio, and beyond this none to speak of has come to town during the week.

We doubt if a stick of oak timber, six months sawed, can be found in the city, and green is very scarce. The busy season with the ship-yards is now at hand, and they have but little timber to work with These yards use in the neighborhood of 1,500,000 feet of oak annually, and we suppose private repairs consume nearly as much. This winter we look for more than the usual amount to be called for, as the shipping season has been one of marked financial success, and owners feel able to repair liberally. Notwithstanding the scarcity of stock, the lack of cars is what concerns the ship builders most. They use green oak, later from the saw the better, and it can be obtained if cars can be had to bring it from Indiane. We hear of cars, two weeks on the way, when they ought to have reached here in two days

In Indiana much oak is being cut this winter; in some sections snow favors sledding, but where it does not, tracks are made to do service. The timber every year is cut further back from the streams and main roads, which of course adds to the cost of production. High prices and favorable weather will cause the lumbermen of that State to make a raid on the monarchs of the forest this winter that will tell. Some of our dealers are getting out heavy supplies in the Mackinaw district, Mich., and report logging progressing finely. The weather is uniformly cool, and there is just enough snow for good work.

The Lumberman also has the following:

Throughout Michigan, good logging conditions are found; in none is an excess of snow reported, in some the lack of it is successfully supplemented by ice roads, made with sprinklers, the weather having been remarkably favorable for this purpose.

The Wisconsin logging operations are progressing equally favorably, and thus far during the season the lumbermen of the northwest could not have had better logging conditions, if they had made them themselves.

On the Mississippi river, from Minneapolis to St. Louis, we find but one complaint, and that is the lack of cars to transport the lumber which is sold and which is being ordered daily. From present indications the spring will open on stocks more thoroughly reduced throughout the northwest than ever before. Prices, so far as we can learn, are firm, and little or no disposition is evinced to see who can get rid of the most lumber at the least profit. For once, dealers in all sections seem to appreciate the value of what they have in their yards, and no feeling of fear is manifested regarding the effect of a big log crop on the business of another season Cars do not grow more plenty, as it was hoped would be the case, and unless the recent heavy failures of grain speculators should operate to check the movement of cereals, we can see no immediate prospect of relief from the difficulty. Good trade and good prices, however, continue at all points, notwithstanding this drawback.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER,
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.,

Chicago continues to sell two million feet per day, and is reasonably contented with the situation. St. Louis sells about three quarters of a million, and seems happy with her lot. The other western markets are enjoying a large winter business with only reasonable stocks to draw from. Prices are unchanged, with nothing in the business horizon to indicate any fluctuation in the value of standard goods until after another crop shall be on the market. There is no change in the situation or prospects in the pineries. All the indications are favorable for a 6,000,000,000 cut in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, which will tax the manufacturing capacity of the mills to the utmost In the West there is little danger of overloading the market except in Missouri and Kansas where the lake and river lumbermen meet in sharp competion. There is one feature of importance which is liable to be overlooked, the value of stumpage in the West is at least 50 cents above last year's figures, while Michigan is from 75 cents to $1 higher. The timber is more remote from the streams, and the cost of hauling logs as well as transporting supplies, may be set down at least 25 cents per M above last year's cost. To this may be added a few cents more for the increased expense of "driving." This gives an assurance that next year's figures will be at least one dollar higher on common lumber. It must be in order to keep up the reasonable margin on lumber.

THE EAST.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says:

Western lumber is still inactive and the arrivals, though light, are ample for the present requirements of the trade. Yet, notwithstanding the quietness which is usual and expected at this season, we hear of one commission dealer who disposed of ten cars of pine on Wednesday—an exceptional transaction, but proving that the market is not utterly flat The continued cold weather and the increased arrivals have conspired to weaken the price of Eastern lumber, and we note a decline of about $1 per thousand in our quotations.

THE PROVINCES.

We draw upon the Montreal Journal of Commerce for the following:

If further evidence were needed than what had already been afforded to prove the revival of the lumber trade in Canada this year, which is acknowledged to have constituted a component part in the country's restoration to prosperity, we think it might be found in the annual circular of Messrs. J. Bell Forsyth & Co. Quebec has long been the leading timber port of Canada, and the circular referred to contains complete and reliable returns of the supply, export, and stock of timber, deals, staves, etc., at that port, together with the usual comparative statements (carefully compiled), prices current, arriqals and tonnage, etc. Our limited space will only permit of the publication of a few extracts from this interesting circular. After referring to the late opening of the season, it states; "The arrivals of steamships exceed those of previous years, and are more than double of what they were five years ago, being 261 steamers, 492,670 tons, this year, against 215 steamers, 327,647 tons in 1879; in 1875 we find them to be 117 steamers, 171,619 tons, and 89 steamers, 113,287 tons in 1879. While this large increase in the carrying trade is done by steam, there is no diminution in sailing ships, 895 vessels, 706,346 tons, being entered against 666 vessels, 492,670 tons last year. It will also be observed that 634 sailing vessels, 555,451 tons, cleared at this port (lumber laden) this season When we penned our remarks just a year ago we were able to state that decided improvement had taken place in the timber trade, and with increased consumption and prices tending upwards in the British markets, we may look forward hopefully to the future Happily for all interested the expectations of the most sanguine have been fully realized; the manufacturers after contending with three years of great depression, during which time they were often compelled to sell at less than the cost of production, have this year felt the benefit of prices which must have left very handsome returns, and were in many cases unprecedentedly high! The trade of this port is in a sounder and more satisfactory state than it has been for years; the short supply of all woods this season, as will be noticed by glancing at the supply returns, as well as the full average export leaving us with exceedingly light stocks, the greater portion of which are held by the shippers, and which must suffice not only for the spring shipments, but also for part of the summer requirements."

The market for white pine opened higher than the closing prices of the autumn previous, and with the arrival of fresh timber came a more decided improvement, which guaranteed good figures throughout the season. The export of pine for the season of 1880 has been greatly in excess of that of either 1878 or 1879, and fully up to the average of the past ten years, while the stock wintering in Quebec is one-half of what it has usually been for the past twenty-five years. Red pine ruled scarce throughout the season, but notwithstanding the shipments have been double those of 1879, and the stock remaining over is below the average for the past five years. Good oak has been strong and in demand quite equal to the supply, the receipts only amounting to 1,790,236 feet, the exports drawing largely upon the stock carried over from former years. Elm was well supplied, but in such request that very little is left over. The timber is getting more difficult to procure each year. Ash has moved freely throughout the season at rather improved prices Both the supply and export of pine deals are indicative of a wonderful increase in this branch of the lumber trade. Deals have been in good demand all the season, and in June and July very large shipments were made, creating a temporary scarcity. Spruce deals have been in active request and shipped in large quantities.

The shipments for the season just closed were the largest of any year since 1877, in which the tonnage was largest of any year since the close of 1872, being 670,627 tons, 786 sailing vessels laden.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trades' Journal as follows:

We are glad to observe that at last there is an improvement in the deliveries from the docks, and trust that this will turn out to be a favorable omen of a better demand. From the Surrey Commercial Docks there went out last week about 400 standards of deals, &c., and nearly 450 standards of flooring in excess of the corresponding week last year; this is quite an unusual circumstance, as for many weeks past the deliveries have been comparatively very small.

There seems to be very little disposition on the part of buyers to enter into engagements for next year, and matters are consequently at almost a complete standstill as regards the f.o.b. trade. There is, of course, much speculation as to how prices will go, but there is nothing as yet to afford any positive indication on the subject.

LIVERPOOL.

The importation for the past week has been upon a greatly reduced scale from that of the previous two or three weeks, yet the quantity poured upon the market has, for the time being, rendered it almost stagnant, and consequently in North American goods, of which the import has chiefly consisted, there has been very little done. The stock of spruce has been suddenly increased by the arrival of vessels which should in ordinary circumstances have been here in October, but as they were detained by the long continuance of easterly winds, the last of the fleet bound from the West overtook them off the coast, and hence we have had the simulantaneous arrival in one month of the import which should have been spread over October and November. Hence the trade in these goods has for the time become stagnant, for whilst merchants on this side are willing to buy at a price, the rates do not by any means come up to the limits of the sellers, and in consequence a large quantity is going into store. The building trade of the country continues in a very dull condition, and with the stocks on hand, which at present seem ample for all probable requirements, there seems no warrant for the high prices for next year's supplies, of which we hear some rumors from Canada and the Baltic. It will take some time to disabuse the minds of the buyers in the future that the cry of "short supplies" is to be relied upon, for from nearly all quarters we have heard this pronounced from early spring, only to find that we have had a large production poured into this market in the fall of the year from Canada, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, with the result that much of this import will have to be stored to wait a market.

At present the healthiest article in this market seems to be oak, the stock being about 200,000 cubic feet less than it was this time last year, and importers of parcels by the fall fleet are holding for prices which seem extreme compared with recent rates, but they are prepared to store, and wait a market in the future, rather than sell under the prices for which they now hold.

NAILS.—The demand has been moderate and uncertain from pretty much all sources and the market dull throughout. Former prices were quoted and are as a rule asked, but desirable customers are not allowed to escape for a small fractional difference. An Association rate has been fixed at $3 per keg, but this is not a settled rate for the market as yet, and we quote from the above down to $2.75 for 10d. to 6d.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Demand generally continues moderate and uncertain and few parcels are now taken except under force of the most urgent wants. In the majority of cases holders make a showing of firmness, and asking rates are pretty much all as before, but for actual sales considerable irregularity has been shown with the turn principally in buyers favor. Linseed Oil has met with a moderate demand from ordinary trade sources, and about former rates were obtained, but there is no open or free market, and a larger movement could only be brought about by further shading cost. Our outside figures are rarely reached. We quote at about 55@56c. for City, and 60@61c. for Calcutta, from first hands.

PITCH.—The supply is small and well under control with no offering beyond the demand, this, however, is light at the moment and business dull. We quote at $2.15@2.25 per bbl. for City delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Business has not shown much animation and was confined in the main to ordinary jobbing parcels. Stocks, however, remained under good control, and holders, sustained by encouraging advices from both Europe and the primary points, have insisted upon full figures in all cases. As this report is closed, the quotations stand at about 45½@46½c. per gallon, according to the quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Demand without much animation, as the case still tends to keep buyers down to a close limit of actual necessity. Holders, however, have very little stock to carry and show a most confident tone. We quote $4@4.12½ for Newbern and Washington, and $4@4.25 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time fo which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Wherever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date

Northern Pacific Railroad Co

GENERAL FIRST MORTGAGE

RAILROAD AND LAND GRANT SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS.

Principal and interest payable in the city of New York in United States gold coin of present standard of weight and fineness.

PRINCIPAL DUE JANUARY, 1921.

INTEREST 6 PER CENT., PAYABLE JANUARY 1 AND JULY 1.

"Free from all United States, State and municipal taxes that may be required by law to be deducted by said Company from said interest."

BONDED DEBT LIMITED TO $25.000 per mile of road finished and accepted by the President of the United States.

FORM OF BONDS.

Coupons of $1,000 each, with privilege of registration of principal. Registered certificates of $5,000 each.

TRUSTEE.

THE CENTRAL TRUST CO. OF NEW YORK.

The bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the entire railroad, equipment, franchises and other property of the Company acquired and to be acquired, including the land grant, with the exception of the lands east of the Missouri River, subject only to the lien of the Pend d'Oreille and Missouri Divisional Bonds, to retire which an equal amount of these bonds are to remain in the hands of the trustee.

The bonds are receivable in payment of lands at 110 and interest. The proceeds of all the sales of land mortgaged, after payment of interest on the bonds, must be applied to the purchase of the bonds, if below 110 and interest; if above that price, the bonds will be drawn by lot for payment at 110 and interest.

The bonds so purchased, together with any received in payment for lands, will be held for sinking fund purposes.

The sinking fund begins in 1885, is accumulative and sufficient at its minimum to pay off this indebtedness at maturity.

The Land Grant of the Company is very large and valuable, being at the rate of 12,800 acres per mile in the States and 25,600 in the Territories. The land east of the Missouri River is subject to the right of the Preferred Stockholders to exchange their stock at par for purchase of these lands; but in the event of a default in the payment of the interest on these bonds the security of these lands would revert to the bondholders.

The main line of railroad when completed will extend from Lake Superior to two points on the navigable waters of the Pacific Ocean, i, e., Puget Sound, W. T., and Columbia River, at or near Portland, Oregon. It will be about 2,400 miles in length. The branches and connections now owned or under lease are 203½ miles in length, making total line about 2,600 miles.

Of the main line there are now finished and running	799
Miles under construction and expected to be completed about July, 1881	200
To complete the system there requires to be constructed about	1,400
Of the 203½ miles of branch lines 192 are now finished, making, at the present time, total finished line of	991

With the proceeds of the present loan the Board of Directors have already taken steps to extend the building of the line in the most rapid manner compatible with proper economy; and it is the intention of the Company to have a through line at the earliest practicable period. In addition to the 200 miles above mentioned and under construction, vigorous measures will be taken for further prosecution of the work. The necessary rails, fixtures and equipment for more than 500 miles have been already contracted for.

The net earnings of the Company for the year ending June 30, 1880, as stated in the annual report were	$709,088 68 on 722 miles of completed road.
The gross earnings of the Company from July 1, 1880, to December 31, 1880 (December estimated), were	$1,637,924 10 on about the same mileage, the present additional new line having been only recently ready for use.

Should there be at any time a deficiency of net earnings for the payment of the interest on these bonds the proceeds of sales of lands of the Company are first applicable for that purpose.

The road passes through the grain lands of Minnesota and Dakota, which have been demonstrated to be as good as any in the world. Those of Montana are being rapidly settled for grazing purposes. Montana has also large mineral wealth.

The proceeds of the bonds now offered will furnish the Company all the means required during the year 1881, and no further amount of bonds will be offered until 1882.

According to the estimate of the Company, the expenditures of about $40,000,000 will complete the line; the Divisional bonds ($6,500,000) and the present issue will steadily diminish by reason of land sales; and on the completion of the line the fixed charges will not exceed $2,800,000 to $3,000,000 per annum. Under the former organization of the Company more than $30,000,000 of bonds had been issued, which bonds have been converted into the present Preferred Stock.

The proceeds of these bonds are paid direct to the Company, which makes its own contracts, there being no construction company.

In virtue of our contract of purchase with the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, subscriptions will be received on and after Monday, the 3d of January, 1881, by either of the undersigned for the above bonds, at payable on or before February 1, 1881, at the option of the purchaser.

102 and accrued interest,

Pending the preparation of the bonds by the Company, negotiable receipts will be given, exchangeable for the bonds when ready.

A simultaneous issue will be made by MESSRS J. S MORGAN & CO., in London.

We are authorized to receive subscriptions for a limited amount (not exceeding $2,000,000) of the capital stock of the

in shares of $100 each.

This company is building, and will have in readiness for the coming summer season, a large fleet of iron steamboats, especially adapted for the requirements of passengers, of great speed, constructed in the most substantial manner, non-combustible and with numerous water-tight compartments, which will render them incapable of sinking. Contrasted with the ordinary wooden steamboats, they cannot fail to command, at highly remunerative rates, the patronage of the great majority of the travelling public

The company has entered into contracts extending over a term of years, under which it has acquired the exclusive right to convey passengers from New York and its vicinity to the Iron Pier at Coney Island, and a similar exclusive right to convey passengers to Coney Island in connection with one of the leading railroads to that place. In view of the vast number of people who visit this famous summer resort, it is evident that a line of steamboats possessing these exclusive privileges, constructed in such manner as to command the highest degree of public confidence, and furnished in response to an urgent public demand, must at once prove very profitable.

The contracts already entered into will insure to this company from the outset a business limited only by its capacity, and arrangements are in course of completion with the Erie and Pennsylvania railroad companies under which it will acquire in addition a large and profitable excursion business. The company will extend its operations as rapidly as exclusive and profitable connections can be consummated.

During the winter months it is the intention of the company to utilize its boats in Southern waters, so far as they can be profitably employed.

The company is organized under the laws of New Jersey, and subscribers to the stock will incur no liability beyond the obligation to pay the amount of their subscriptions.

We recommend this investment as one promising large returns and well worthy the attention and confidence of the most careful investors.

Each subscriber will receive for every $1,000 of stock alloted and paid for First Mortgage Bonds of the Company (bearing interest at six per cent.) to the amount of $250.

The terms of the subscription are as follows :—

10 per cent on allotment
10 per cent February 2, 1881.
10 per cent March 2, 1881.
10 per cent April 2, 1881.
10 per cent May 2, 1881.

and the remainder in instalments of not exceeding 10 per cent. on twenty days' notice previously given. Receipts will be given for each payment, and the bonds and certificates of stock will be issued upon the payment of the final instalment.

Subscriptions will be received at the offices of either of the undersigned from December 28th inst., until January 12 1881.

OUR ANNUAL MARKET REVIEW.

With this week's issue of THE RECORD, our reporters present their regular annual review of the markets for building materials, with comparisons of prices, statistics of receipts, shipments, etc. Even to those not directly interested, they furnish many items of an attractive character. The prominent features are to be found, in the absence of the violent fluctuations during the year 1879, a fair margin for profit during pretty much the entire season, and a liberal increase in the volume of business, not only on local account, but in distribution to dependent points. Speculation, with few exceptions, has been frowned down; sellers have accepted a reasonable return, and so preserved confidence among buyers as to stimulate an immense consumption. Supply and demand were at a pretty close balance during a large portion of the season, and of a few of the leading articles there is an unusually small accumulation for winter use. Dealers already commence to feel the influences of the coming season, and negotiations in hand indicate preparations for liberal amounts of work as soon as the weather permits.

RAPID TRANSIT IN THE 23D AND 24TH WARDS.

The bridge over the Harlem River, which is to connect the Metropolitan Elevated with the New York & Northern Railway, will be completed before the 15th of February. This is stated upon the authority of Mr. Galloway, President of the New York & Northern Railroad. The bridge at Eighth avenue will be three hundred feet span. The draw is being constructed in accordance with plans approved by General Newton. Upon the completion of the bridge, travelers for Boston by the new route, via Brewster Station, can get tickets at any of the stations of the Metropolitan road.

Another effect of the opening of this bridge will be the commencement of a railroad, a mile and a half long, to connect it with Jerome Park. All that high ridge of land lying between High Bridge and Fordham Heights will be at once utilized for building purposes. The new road will run from Morris Docks to Jerome Park. The coming year will witness the erection of still another bridge over the Harlem at the end of Madison avenue.

The Suburban Rapid Transit Company has associated itself with the New Haven Railroad Company to construct the Second avenue bridge. The delay has been caused because of the necessity for some amendments to the charter. Already gangs of men are at work laying out the three branches of railroad in the Twenty-third ward to connect with this bridge.

In the meantime numerous plans are on foot to erect buildings for workingmen in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards. Mr. Leonard Jerome is associated with several capitalists who have in view the erection of small houses, with gardens attached, in the picturesque and healthful region to be traversed by the new railway, extending from High Bridge to Fordham Heights.

The close of the year 1881 will see trains running regularly over the bridge near High Bridge, and before the next race season Jerome Park can be reached by rail via the Metropolitan Elevated. The Second avenue bridge will also be constructed, and not only will the Portchester trains on the New Haven road be connected with the Second avenue road, but the line to Mount Vernon will be an important feeder to the same railroad.

THREE PER CENT. GOVERNMENTS.

In view of the discussion now going on as to whether it is possible for the Government of the United States to successfully float a three per cent. loan, the following considerations should be kept in sight:

The United States is a young country and needs all the money it can get to develop its resources. There are tempting openings for business in every direction. We have a continent to subdue, mines to open, towns to build, farms to clear, railroads to construct and all these enterprises require capital. We shall be in the market as borrowers for many years to come. As a consequence, normally, money ought to be worth more here than in the countries of Europe. There their resources are developed. They have large capital and but few means of making use of it, of utilizing it. Hence money naturally at the principal Bourses rules low. A foreigner does not know what to do to profitably employ his means. Great Britain has a public debt known as consols. It is a perpetual debt. That is, he who buys a portion of it gets an annuity. It has a high market value because it is an annuity, for the Government must purchase the shares in the open market, they never becoming due. Such a debt is the most attractive that can be offered to an investor. The policy of the United States is different. We pay our debts at the end of a certain fixed period, five, ten, fifteen, twenty, thirty or forty years, as the case may be, the longer bonds always commanding a higher price than the short time bonds. As a matter of fact, English consols have rarely touched par. They did so during November for an exceptional reason. Their average quotation would be somewhere between $97 and $98. They pay three per cent. Therefore an investor will generally get something more than three per cent. for his money in that very wealthy nation, which has so large an amount of funds to loan. It is now seriously proposed for us to issue a three per cent. Government bond which shall not be sold for less than par. We do not believe that any considerable amount of bonds at that rate can be floated in this country. Something less than three hundred million of our bonds are payable this year. May it not be that persons who are receiving five and six per cent. are behind this proposition, to try and float an unmarketable bond so as to continue the interest for a year or two longer? Certain it is that no three per cent. bond terminable in twenty or thirty years, can ever remain at par for any long period in this country. We have too many uses for money in securities and investments which pay far better. But the effect of this endeavor to float a three per cent. loan is wholly mischievous. This unnatural cheapening of money and "bulling" of Government bonds, gives an immense stimulus to speculation in other securities already altogether too active. It creates an unnatural inflation of values and the result will be, sometime, a most disastrous national panic. The balloon will be pricked and the gas will escape, and then will come a collapse. The advance in prices has been too great; it has been unnatural. We have all along believed that good railway securities would command higher figures this year than ever before in history. We believe that next year they will in time command, and permanently, still higher figures, but the recent advance has been too rapid and cannot be maintained, and the chief danger is in this stimulus of cheap money, made so artificially by the Government and the whole speculative interest of the country. We do not believe that a three per cent. bond is practicable, and if it was we do not think it desirable. Three per cent. money means four and four and a half for investment in real estate, and that business ought to pay better. The person who is engineering this in Washington is Fernando Wood, and we submit that he is not a wise leader to follow.

MAYOR GRACE.

Our new Mayor has proved a successful man of affairs, and he brings to the office capacity, energy, ambition and thorough business habits. Unfortunately the Mayor of New York is seriously limited in his capacity for usefulness. The aim of legislators seems to have been to protect us from bad Mayors, instead of giving us the benefit of the intelligence and energy of good ones. Hence our chief magistrates are hedged about with embarrassing restrictions, but may be that Mayor Grace may succeed in his second year in inducing the legislature to give him some authority. He ought to have the power of appointment and dismissal without any qualification whatever.

Mayor Cooper had intelligence, and really desired to serve the city, but the courts cut off his power and political complications forced him to make some very weak nominations. His course in filling all the offices before the expiration of his term, seems to us to have been very objectionable, and Mayor Grace could fairly complain of the way he was treated. If our new executive serves the city well, he can be assured of the cordial co-operation of real estate owners and tax-payers irrespective of party.

OUR BUILDING DEPARTMENT AND ITS SHORTCOMINGS.

The Building Department, as an adjunct to the Fire Department, has now been in operation for several months under the management of a gentleman who has brought to his labors due intelligence, knowledge of the work in hand, energy and will strong enough to make his Bureau independent of political influence. And yet, after all, his bureau, controlling the very safety of thousands of lives in this metropolis is to-day virtually only a wheel within a wheel, the chief of which has his superiors, who though they may be very intelligent gentlemen, are not experts as to the work that must, of necessity, be conducted by the Inspector of Buildings. Even the latter's subordinates, upon whom he relies for the faithful discharge of their duties, are appointed by Commissioners King, Van Cott and Gorman, and it stands to reason that in the making of these appointments politicians like the above are not over—scrupulous in the selection of "the talent" they designate for Mr. Esterbrook's assistance. The latter, fortunately, is free from political trammels; he understands his business, as well as the defective law under which he is acting, and now that the legislature is about to apply itself to work and our own good city will not be overlooked, as very seldom it is by our Albany Solons, we beg to suggest a few amendments, that will not at all hurt the official supervision of building in our constantly growing city. Granted, even that it be considered best for the public service to retain the Building Department as a subordinate bureau in the fire or any other department, fuller plenary powers should certainly be given to the chief, or as he is now called the Inspector. We therefore suggest that:

First—The subordinates of the Building Department should be appointed by the Inspector.

Second—Monthly reports should be sent to the Mayor of New York, showing the modifications, increase or decrease in the construction of buildings.

Third—Senator Foster's bill in regard to the erection of frame buildings, introduced last winter, should be passed during this season.

Fourth—Iron fronts, as a whole, should be prohibited by law. Experience has taught that when once a fire is under headway in such a building, it is impossible to save any part of it. Iron fronts should only be permitted as an ornamental casing for brick walls of sufficient thickness.

Fifth—No wooden bay windows should be permitted over the first story of any dwelling. There are houses now in Fifty-sixth street, east of Madison avenue, with bay windows of wood running clear up to the fourth story. Such kind of work should be stopped.

Sixth—Too much economy is destructive to the proper conduct of the department. Mr. Esterbrook, who must watch jobs all the way from Yonkers down to the Battery, has only nineteen men under his orders, while his predecessor had eighty. Of these nineteen, twelve only can attend to outdoor work, the remainder being wanted as clerks in the office. It should be remembered that now-a-days no less than eight hundred buildings are constantly in course of construction within the section above mentioned. Six hundred alterations are steadily going on within the same limits, and there are at least three hundred violations of the building law constantly requiring the attention of the Inspector.

Seventh—The law controlling the thickness of walls in a new building should be amended, so as not to make the buildings top-heavy, as is the case now. An eight-inch wall in a twenty foot high house is as good as a two-foot wall, provided the party wall is twelve inches in thickness. On this subject we may have something more to say in a future issue.

Eighth—The obstruction to fire escapes should be punished by summary proceedings, to be instituted by the police or fire department. Under the actual provisions of the building law, the inspector cannot take any action resulting in the immediate punishment of the delinquent.

The above are a few of the amendments that just now present themselves to our understanding, and which require immediate attention on the part of the legislature. For the first time in the history of New York we have a practical builder, an intelligent mechanic at the head of a department in which all property owners and the majority of taxpayers are interested. He has done remarkably well so far, to the satisfaction of hundreds of our prominent citizens, but he must obey the law under which he acts. Change that law, if only with the few amendments above suggested, and Mr. Esterbrook, we are satisfied, will give us a building department of which New York will then, indeed, have reason to be proud.

THE REGISTER'S OFFICE.

New York will have in Mr. Docharty a man who thoroughly understands the business of the office. If ever we have a municipal civil service it will give us just such officers as Mr. Docharty. He is a graduate of the New York College; he was a subordinate in the Register's office, familiar with its duties, and his election was a promotion and a deserved one. An ideal city civil service would throw open all the departments of the city government to the graduates of our common schools who proved their mental and moral fitness by going through the high schools and the College of New York. In France and Germany all the public functionaries represent the best elements in the national system of education, To-day all Englishmen, Frenchmen and Germans are possible candidates in competitive examination for all the minor offices in the gift of the government, If that had been the rule in the various departments of our city government, there would have been less corruption in our politics and more efficiency in every bureau which had the management of local affairs. Mr. Docharty has in his favor youth, ambition, an excellent education, a thorough training in all the duties of the office of which he is the head. We judge that real estate dealers, whether investors or brokers, will find that hereafter there will be nothing to complain of in the management of the office which has so much to do with the greatest material interest of this city.

"ASSESSED" VALUES IN BROOKLYN.

Mayor Howell, of Brooklyn, made a glaring mistake when he stated in his message that "when a property owner declines to redeem a piece of property, on payment of its assessed value, and with the option of making the payment within five years, it may fairly be assumed that the owner of such property is indifferent to its title, and is willing that the city should come in possession of it and collect its claims as best it can."

Mayor Howell as a business man ought to know that the experiences of the past seven years were very apt to make some owners "indifferent as to their title." To say, however, that they were "anxious that the city should come in possession" of their property, does not represent the better sentiments of enterprising citizens who have invested their capital in Brooklyn lots and dwellings. Would it not have been far better for Mayor Howell, in alluding to the "assessed" value of this property, to criticise the ignorance of assessors and show them, how by their unjust and unequal method of assessing property, they have driven many owners into virtual bankruptcy.

Property in Brooklyn, as everybody knows who knows anything about real estate in the adjoining counties, has been under a serious cloud for several years, owing to causes which we need not enumerate here. Of course in such a state of affairs there must be "delinquents," and a very large number of them, too. But is our government instituted for the purpose of taking the last cent out of a man's pocket? If assessors are too blind to see or too deaf to hear the actual values of real estate, why should owners, already overburthened by the result of untoward events, be sold out because they could not pay taxes raised under a system of ignorance, and upon values assessed by men who had no more idea of the prices of realty than the man in the moon.

The time will come when all this will be remedied. THE REAL ESTATE RECORD, with its weekly quotations of property here and elsewhere, is bringing that miserable old and nefarious system to a proper level, and the time is not far distant when property will be assessed according to its actual value.

It is time, however, that mayors and officials should be made to understand that property owners, who are the largest tax-payers, demand that valuations on their real estate be gauged not in accordance with the whims of an ignorant assessor, but in accordance with the actual status of values.

Hubert O. Thompson, the new Commissioner of Public Works, is a wonderful official. He has just written a letter to the Board of Estimate and Apportionments, asking for a reduction of the department estimate so far as his own salary is concerned; the laws of 1880 allowing the new commissioner only $8,000 per annum instead of the $10,000 heretofore paid to Mr. Campbell.

TALKS ON THE "STREET."

"Who engineered the selling movement early this week?" asked the writer, of an inside operator.

"Jay Gould," was the answer. "It was he who made the heavy sales in the last half hour of Monday. He was convinced the time had come for the marking down of prices and all the brokers that he could influence right and left were urged to ask longer margins from their customers. Gould himself made no secret of his desire to break the market or rather he predicted that it must break."

"Do you think," asked the writer, "that Gould has made money during the last six months?"

"No, I do not, I think he has lost money in all his stock operations. I believe he thought stocks were too high since mid-summer; that he supposed the Democrats would succeed after the Maine election, and that he sold stocks steadily. His means are so enormous from the large profits that he had made in Wabash Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Kansas Union Pacific, that he could very well afford to lose what would be an immense fortune to other men. But it should be remembered that Gould made his money as "bear" during the hard times; that constitutionally, he looks on the "sick" side of any subject. Hence he is a "bear," except on such securities as he knows all about. He certainly has been short of Northwest and St Paul, and he has kept his own stocks from advancing when the Vanderbilts were booming. Jay Gould must have lost a great deal more money in stocks than he made, but then his resources are so great that he probably can afford to make mistakes."

"I see," said the writer, "that Western Union keeps up its reputation for uncertainty. What is the secret of its ups and downs?"

"Jay Gould," was the answer. "He organized the American Union for the express purpose of making just such fluctuations in Western Union as the last three weeks have witnessed. It will end in his securing control, not only of a telegraphic business but all the agencies which control the press. Jay Gould will realize a bigger bonanza in getting possession of the quotations of the market than was ever disccovered on the Comstock. There have been rumors during the week that Vanderbilt was buying back Western Union, and that it was going to par. I don't believe a word of it. To his credit be it said, Vanderbilt does want to deal in solid securities, and it was because of the uncertainty of Western Union Telegraph stock that he sold out, not because the business was not profitable, for it is. Western Union is earning from nine to ten per cent. and is paying only six. It could easily declare a two per cent quarterly dividend and keep it up for two years to come. But Vanderbilt does not want a stock which can be acted upon so easily by playing against it a rival organization."

We are not permitted to give the name of the gentleman who had this conversation with the writer, but he is a person in the closest relations with the large speculative interests of the country.

GOSSIP ABOUT MINES.

There are several large calls out to be taken up the middle of this month which, it is said, will no longer be in the way of an advance in Bull Domingo. It is claimed that the company is netting $3,000 a day, and the dividends will be commenced probably in the early spring, and if commenced there is a sufficient amount of ore in sight and on the dump to continue the payment of them for several years to come. This is what insiders say.

There seems to be but little doubt that Silver Cliff will soon be quoted at higher figures. The Plata Verde mill will soon be started up, upon the completion of the water works of the Silver Cliff.

It is not unlikely that work will be stopped in the old Bodie ground and production will cease, ore not to be taken out again until the new shaft reaches a depth of six to seven hundred feet. It is now down about 250 feet. We do not see how the price of Bodie will advance for six months to come, but some time or other there will be a very handsome deal in that stock as well as in Mono.

All is dead on the Comstock. There is no sign of life but still old investors have faith. They are believers in Belcher, on the south, and in Utah, on the north. The middle mines, Hale & Norcross, Chollar and the like, are also in favor with certain old operators.

With the coming spring there is likely to be a revival of interest in some mines. It is just possible that Bull Domingo, Silver Cliff, Plata Verde, Chrysolite, Hibernia, Bassick and Horn Silver may commence the payment of dividends. There is not likely to be any such boom as we had last winter and spring, but dealing in mining shares has come to New York and has come to stay. It will be the interest of certain persons to deal in mining shares and naturally the New York Board will be the chosen medium.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

The Brooklyn Bridge thus far costs $12,575,403.02.

Real estate brokers in Brooklyn must take out licenses at five dollars each.

Eighty thousand dollars have been appropriated for the reconstruction of Fulton Market.

Hereafter, all business of the Department of Public Works will be transacted at No. 31 Chambers street.

Mayor Grace is down on "stay laws." He thinks there is no longer any need of such laws, and delinquents will hence make a note of this.

The Brooklyn authorities will, next week, ask the consent of the Legislature to raise $200,000 for the purpose of enlarging the Ridgewood Reservoir.

The Board of Police Commissioners invite proposals for the building of a new station house and prison on Elizabeth street. They are to be opened on January 11.

Vanderbilt, or rather the New York Central, has subscribed $250,000 towards the World's Fair enterprise, on condition that $4,000,000 shall be raised from other parties.

The contract for the construction of a new truss bridge over Mamaroneck River, between White Plains and Harrison, Westchester County, has been awarded to John Turner for $1,250.

Among the reasons for avoiding assessments, defects in the resolutions of the Common Council, authorizing public works, are often given. Property owners, therefore, who desire to see public improvements go forward, and not waste money for lawyer's benefit, will thank Mayor Grace for calling attention in his message to the necessity of making these resolutions conform strictly to the requirements of the assessment law.

"The Bureau for the Collection of Assessments," and "The Bureau for the Collection of Arrears of Taxes and Assessments and of Water Rents," having been consolidated, are now known as "The Bureau for the Collection of Assessments and of Arrears of Taxes and Assessments and of Water Rents," which possesses all the power conferred and performs all the duties imposed by law and ordinance upon both of said bureaux. The chief officer of this bureau is now called "Collector of Assessments and Clerk of Arrears."

Property owners should bear in mind that the Commissioners for the opening of the Spuyten Duyvil Parkway, from the Spuyten Duyvil & Port Morris Railroad to Broadway, New York, will hear their objections until February 10th, when application for confirming their report will be made to the Supreme Court; the same date holds good for those interested in the opening of Seventy-fourth street from Eighth avenue to the river, but those interested in the opening of One Hundred and Eighth street, from the Fifth avenue to the bulkhead line of the Harlem River, should present their objections before the 18th inst.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

☞ For list of lots and houses for sale see pages v and vi of advertisements.

The year opens rather quietly, so far as real estate transactions are concerned. Holders are firm in their demands for higher figures, to which as yet investors will not accede. At auction a few parcels were sold during the week, of which particulars are given at foot, and announcements of future public sales will also be found in the appropriate column. The sale of the Tontine building, by A. H. Muller & Son, comes off on the 11th instant, and offers an excellent opportunity for investment. The Broadway corner of Forty-third street, to be disposed of by Mr. Harnett on the 13th instant, will also interest buyers and others.

We furnish herewith annexed to-day the comparative tables showing the considerations expressed in the various deeds placed upon record in the Register's Office since 1873, including the year just closed. It will be seen that the number of transfers placed upon record during 1880, including the annexed district, foots up 9,588, and that the total money consideration expressed in the same amounts to $115,505,306. This exceeds in value the amount of 1879 by about $28,000,000. While in the annexed district proper the number of transfers is comparatively smaller than during the previous year, the value of the 1880 transfers in these wards surpasses those of 1879 by about $1,500,000. In this connection it should be stated that the total amount of real estate sold at the Exchange Salesroom during 1880 was $15,647,650 against $18,728,494 sold during 1879.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK.

We understand that a party of Philadelphia capitalists have made up their minds to construct no less than two hundred houses of small sizes—really Philadelphia houses—that can be rented at say from $30 to $40 per month, on the West Side, along the Elevated Road. We give this information just as it reaches us, from an authentic source, without being able to state the exact locality, nor the amount of capital to be invested. We only know this, that such an enterprise is on the boards, that estimates are now being made of the cost of construction and the possible revenue to be derived therefrom. It is doubtful whether the property, which is as yet to be selected, can be secured even on the west side, below the Harlem river, at the figures these gentlemen have in mind; but that this movement is under way and in a fair shape of speedy accomplishment, we have the very best reason to believe.

The block bounded by Madison and Park avenues, Fiftieth and Fifty-first streets, in the rear of the Cathedral, which has been in the market during the past year, has at last been sold to a number of capitalists, among whom are ex-Mayor Ely, W. H Scott and others, for about $500,000. It is really the only vacant block of importance below the Park in that section, and, of course, it will be readily taken in hand by builders, who will there find thirty-two lots ready for immediate improvement. It is understood that the purchasers will at once go to work and place the lots in market with builder's loans, if necessary. In order to make the sale of lots on this block more popular, Mr. Scott, as well as Mr. Sydney Webster son-in-law of Mr. Hamilton Fish, will build on the two prominent corners. Sixteen lots on the block are by the nature of the contract reserved for private residences.

The property once occupied by the Buena Vista Stone Company at the southwest corner of Eleventh avenue and Sixtieth street, so frequently offered at auction, has been sold to the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company for $50,000. The property fronts 100.5 on the avenue and 200 feet on the street.

Isabella P., wife of W. Hollis Hunnewell, Boston, Mass., has taken title to No. 16 Broadway, the consideration being $50,000. It will be remembered that the same parties recently purchased Nos 18 and 20 Broadway and 5 and 7 Beaver street for $100,000.

Messrs. Riker & Co. sold, during October last, two lots on the south side of Sixty-sixth street, 130 feet east of Fourth avenue, for $10,000 each. They resold the easterly lot during the past week for $11,500 cash The same firm has sold two houses in Fifty-seventh street, one between Fifth and Sixth avenues and another between Sixth and Seventh, of which they do not furnish particulars.

Scott & Myers ave sold three lots on the south side of Seventieth street, 125 feet east of Ninth avenue, for $18,000.

The plot of land on the north side of 128th stre t 230 feet east of Seventh avenue, 120x99.11, has been sold for $19,000, by Philip A. Smyth.

Two lots on the south side of 125th street, between Madison and Fourth avenues, have been sold for $12,500.

The northwest corner of Sixth avenue and 125th street, 75x100, owned by Mr. Addison A. Smith, is reported sold to F. R. Walker for $32,000. Mr. Smith has bought a house in 130th street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, for $17,000.

The report that the front on Second avenue, between Eighty-fourth and Eighty-fifth street has been sold reaches us at too late an hour to obtain particulars.

We desire to call the attention of investors to the houses offered in another column by Mr. John D Crimmins, the well-known builder and contractor. Mr. C. in making such an offer knows what he is talking about, and the work over which he has had personal supervision is, at at all times, worthy the inspection of investors.

The following are the sales at the Exchange Salesroom for the week ending January 6:

We estimate the production of rails of all kinds in the United States in 1880 at 1,200,000 gross tons; in 1879 it was 993,993 tons. Of the production of 1880 there were 775,000 tons of steel rails and 425,000 tons of iron rails; in 1879 we produced 610.682 gross tons of steel rails and 383,311 tons of iron rails. During 1880 we imported about 275,000 tons of rails of all kinds, which, added to the probable production of 1,200,000 tons, gives 1,475,000 tons as the approximate consumption of the year.

In 1880 we mined in the Lake Superior district about 1,950,000 tons of iron ore; in 1879 the production was 1,414,182 tons.

In 1880 we imported about 400,000 tons of iron ore; in 1879 we imported 284,141 tons.

In 1880 track was laid on about 6,500 miles of new railroads in the United States; in 1879 the mileage was 4,725 miles.

Building Material Market.

REVIEW OF ALL THE LEADING ARTICLES FOR THE YEAR 1880.

In adjoining columns will be found THE RECORD'S yearly review of all the markets for Building Material, in its various forms, and the showing for the past year compares very favorably with 1879. Indeed, it will be found that upon every article an increase of business has been reported by dealers, etc., and in a great measure verified by statistics, while prices, with the exception of natural temporary drags at certain seasons of the year, have found a stronger and better position and given sellers a fair margin for profit without crowding buyers severely. A cheerful, healthy tone, in fact, is one of the leading features in the retrospective view of the situation, coupled with a much larger consumption and distribution of goods than for many years, while as the new year opens the prospect continues flattering and a goodly number of contracts are already closed, with many more under treaty. Supplies in general are fair but in no case full, as the demand has run so close to production all the season, no great accumulation could be made and some goods dependent upon water transportation are really scarce, the sudden cold snap closing communication with primary points quite unexpectedly. Our tables of statistics will show some interesting features and can be relied upon as covering every thing it was possible to reach. We wish, however, it were possible to vouch more positively for the figures and especially on exports and imports. Our Custom House officials have some very peculiar methods in making up their compilations, intended for the general public, the classifications in particular proving absurd and leading to erroneous impressions, respecting the movement of supplies. Somebody is supposed to be benefited by this, and government officials, it is pretty plainly hinted, "manipulate the returns" for the benefit of a few speculative merchants, while the confiding mass of the business public must rest content with such figures as may be furnished them.

The following shows the export movement of the leading articles of Building Materials during the years named:

BRICKS.—Common Hards have met with a steady and full sale, during the entire year, the movement exceeding that of 1879, and while a portion of the stock was disposed of at pretty low rates, the average price will give a fair margin considering the competition. Values have been variable and the extremes are somewhat wide, but the bulk of the season's business was conducted without any violent fluctuation. The year commenced with very mild weather and open communication with many of the yards, which allowed comparatively free offerings against a steady consumption, and kept prices easy until the end of January on a range of about $7.75@$8.75 per M. During the first two weeks in February there was a sudden stoppage of navigation and an entire absence of fresh arrivals, but continued anxious calls from buyers compelled to continue work if stock could be had, and with this advantage, holders of supplies at pier and in yard secured a small temporary "boom" with a few sales as high as $11.50@12.00. Before the end of the month, however, vessels again commenced to arrive from Haverstraw, and gradually from more distant points with values steadily taking the downward turn, keeping in buyers favor, until $4@5 per M. was reached about the middle of June. In the demand there was no abatement, indeed it grew in volume, as the weather permitted of the increase in outdoor work, but this was neutralized by the liberal amounts of stock sent forward from Jersey, Staten Island, Long Island and the Hudson River, the latter contributing from points as high as Poughkeepsie and Greenbush, and also by an early commencement on the new crop, some of the yards being at work soon after the middle of April and the first sales made here by about the 10th of May. In fact the preparations to make brick had been simply immense, not only the regular manufacturers laying out for their full capacity, but yards which had remained idle for years being taken in hand and put into working condition to add to the output of brick. About the time the Haverstraw yards were ready to commence the workmen took it into their herds that just about then and there a strike for 15 per cent. advance would be a good thing. And they struck. So also did the manufacturers, and instead of parleying over the matter, they made a lockout of all hands and shut up shop. It was effectual, and by the first of June everything was working smoothly, with no disturbance since. The strike had scarcely any effect upon the market, as it occurred at a period between the completion of old work and just before contractors could take hold of new, thus permitting many buyers to hold off, while in the meantime supplies from other sources met the current demand. From this time forward the market remained settled in a remarkably uniform rut, the extremes of value standing at $4.00@6.00 for ordinary to best of the two divisions made on River product, with only minor intermediate fluctuations during the months of June, July, August, September and October, the period of the largest distribution, and this sellers claim will greatly reduce the line of profit as compared with expectations at the commencement of the year. During the above five months market reports became very monotonous, owing to the absence of general fluctuation, but there was one noticeable feature in the fact that the price of "Up Rivers" ranged much closer to that of Haverstraw than usual, and is accounted for by the comparatively small difference in quality, and the disposition to save every little item of cost by builders who had contracted on close limits. There was considerable grumbling from manufacturers about the price during the entire summer, and constant threats to shut down on productions, but they did not do it except when yards became full to overflowing and no shipping facilities were available. The frosty nights of October, however, commenced to settle the matter of production in short order, and by November 1st, brick making was about over for the season. Prices also commenced to stiffen, as the low tides at primary points prevented landing and retarded shipments, but as sudden extreme cold checked consumption, at the same time, the advance on values was not very heavy. Stock, however, seemed to disappear about as fast as it came to hand, and leave no accumulations afloat, contractors and builders, as well as dealers, piling away the cargoes they could not use, and this gradually added to cost with the year finally closing very firmly at $2@3 per M. recovery shown from the lowest point, and holders in all cases confident. The current indications are favorable for a good full call with the commencement of spring.

The distribution of stock during 1880 has not been assisted by the elevated roads as in the two or three years preceding, while about the only public work of importance was the Brooklyn Bridge, and the exhaust, therefore, of the increased supply has been almost entirely in ordinary course of building operations. This, however, is not altogether surprising in view of the amounts required in the construction of the immence edifices going up in the business portion of the city, and the row upon row of dwellings erected and under way in the upper wards. The shipping orders have been fair on home account, and some of the trade think the outlet offered in this way was quite as free as last season, but it has not been fully met, as the rates bid scarcely offered so good a margin as those obtainable from local sources. An odd order for export could now and then be secured, but, as will be noted by the figures below, the foreign trade did not amount to much.

Pale Brick early in the season were in good demand, with the price in full average proportion with other grades, but, when the general drop came, there was an immediate shrinkage carrying the cost down to about $2.75@3.00—not quite as low as the year before. A small recovery took place, but with no great amount of strength shown, as the sale is almost entirely checked in this city. Under the old Building Department a "wink" to the inspector in proper form would influence his vision at just the right time, and cargo after cargo was run in and worked up upon the jobs on the upper end of the Island, but under the new regime the prohibition against Pale Brick is quite rigidly enforced, and, if they are used at all, it is in small lots only, and from necessity in a surreptitious manner. Brooklyn, however, affords a good, steady outlet, and has also given sales for several cargoes of "lammies" for filling in foundations, frame houses, etc. At the close of the year, the tone is somewhat firmer as the natural sequence of a light supply, but the demand is not brisk, even relatively, as for the better qualities of stock.

On the market for North River Fronts, there has been few important fluctuations, indeed, one of the noticeable features of the position was the uniformity of price during the entire year, about the only changes being the additions and deductions arising out of the difference in cost of delivery, size of purchase on special contract, etc. These variations, however, were very small, and rarely in favor of the buyer, as all good stock, and especially the Croton Points, was constantly sold up to production, and frequently ahead, with the principal manufacturers closing the season in the face of many unexecuted orders. Philadelphias and Trentons have met with a pretty good sale during the greater portion of the season, and, while at one time the cost settled off a trifle, the selling interest retained a goodly proportion of the advantage. Baltimores, where perfection of finish and quality was a consideration paramount to cost, have found good favor, and at full rates, and are under consideration for quite a number of jobs for the incoming year.

As noted above, the apparent attractions of the market led to a large increase in the effort to make brick, with the result to be found in an addition of about one hundred million to the product, or an aggregate of some four hundred and fifty million turned out at the North River yards, with some of the trade estimating as high as five hundred million. Taking the conservative estimate, however the comparisons of product are as follows: 1880 450,000,000; 1879, 350,000,000; 1878, 350,000,000; 1877, 300,000,000; 1876, 275,000,000; 1875, 450,000,000, and in 1874, 400,000,000. The stock remaining on hand at the yards shows something of increase due in a measure to the fact that the river this year was closed much earlier than usual. Our estimate of stock comes from the same source through which we have been favored in former years, and may be relied upon as giving us as close an approximation to accuracy as it is possible to arrive at:

CEMENT.—The market for Domestic or Rosendale Cement has shown much greater animation than during the previous year, but lacked the uniform healthy tone on prices current through 1879, and on the bulk of the business the rate has probably averaged lower. In March the manufacturers announced the opening rates for the season at $1.00 on "Creek" and $1.10 here (in 1879 they were 80c. and 90c.) and at these figures the operations were for a while conducted, the Spring demand proving very active. After a while, however, sales at $1.00 delivered here commenced to be learned of, then 90@95c., and finally there was a flat break to 80c. per bbl. and some little pressure to realize. This last drop was variously attributed to over-production, competition from imported stock and sudden shrinkage in demand. The over production claim would not hold good; the others might, to some extent, but it also happens to be known that certain manufacturers and agents having failed in an attempt to form a combination to sustain and advance the price, turned about and slaughtered the rate in the competition to "get square." This continued and kept matters in more or less demoralized condition until about the close of navigation, when a reaction followed, and the price came up to $1.10@$1.15@$1.25 per bbl. It may be noted that certain of the leading and favorite brands have at no time been available at the lowest rates, as manufacturers refused to make an uncalled for reduction and lost no business by so doing. Indeed the production has not only been larger than last year but continuously sold a long way ahead and the stocks left over at primary points are light. The accumulations here are also comparatively small, as buyers waiting for the "last load down the river" found supplies suddenly cut off by the cold snap and no more Cement offering. There has been a few lots brought down by rail, and on these sellers have exacted extreme rates, about $1.25 being the general asking figure. The distribution has been quite general, including all points to which shipments are generally made, north, south, east and west, a fair amount for export and a very liberal local consumption. Saylor's American Portland has met with a first rate sale throughout the season, a steady full call prevailing from ordinary sources on regular trade wants, while considerable quantities have been placed on contracts for public and private work, including sub-marine jobs, etc. With the outlet in this shape the previous enlarged capacity of the work was found none too great, and at times even larger facilities could have been used to advantage. In view of the shading on cost of other descriptions the price was shaded to $2.25@$2.50 per bbl., according to quantity, but deliveries are now somewhat more expensive.

Foreign Cements show one of the largest, if not the very largest year in the history of the trade, the increase of import being best shown by the tabular statements in months with comparisons with former years as given below. Stimulated by the evidence of a good spring and summer trade and finding opportunities for comparatively cheap ocean freight chrges, those who were already agents and those who wanted to be agents secured consignments to the fullest extent possible and as the first sales were quick and at full rates other orders went out and for a time business moved along swimmingly. Before the first six months of the year had fairly passed, however, it was discovered that importation had been o erdone, and finally the natural collapse came with the position for a time quite flat and almost anything available at $2.50 per bbl., ex-ship. From this the better brands all soon recovered and latterly have gained a fairly strong position, but show no buoyancy, with sellers quite as willing to negotiate as buyers and a little more so probably on the prospect of prompt settlements. In the haste to bring stock out, there was not sufficient pains taken to secure the proper quality and as another unfavorable influence the market has been troubled with a great many parcels of unknown brand which have not withstood the tests they were subjected and made buyers suspicious of anything except a brand of established reputation Some of the supplies brought out from the Continent suffered damage from improper stowage and litigation ensued. The sources of demand for foreign cement have been quite as general as for domestic, with, however, the west in all likelihood the largest consumer. As to the available supplies it is impossible to obtain accurate information but so far as our local market is concerned the probabilities are that the accumulation will not greatly exceed last year on the qualities sure of attention when demand fairly opens for spring deliveries. It is, however, pretty certain that considerable amounts are lying in the interior to all intents and purposes in first hands. A few of our agents were careful to secure a place for stock before ordering it sent over, but others "took the chances," and when they found accumulations on hand here, sent it into the country to seek a market. As the market was not found with the freedom expected, a great many of these parcels could still be reached, it is thought, and will, until out of the way, compete with business from this point.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, ETC.—Manufacturers and dealers do not have much to say, but what they do report is of a very cheerful character. In common with most other articles the volume of business shows a liberal and general increase, and one that is likely to be maintained. For years, country and suburban work has consumed the largest proportions of the supplies sold, and does yet for that matter, but the balance has been reduced by the growth of the calls for city use, and the latter is a feature upon which manufacturers lay much stress. They, in fact, seem to consider that city builders have finally overcame the prejudices which kept them to hand made stock, and will in future accept the machine made as quite as good, costing less money, and always ready for the poorest to the finest work in hand. The shipments have been fair to most interior points at all times, and in some cases very lively with a full general assortment required to meet the average invoice. On prices there has been some fluctuation with rather a narrow margin for profit, but the magnitude of the sales will bring the aggregate of returns up to respectable proportions. No important change can, for the time being, be made on the list line of quotations, but allowances of 10 @ 20 per cent. are made according to the size of invoices, etc. The export movement has been about the same in total as last year, and covering much the same ground of distribution, but this is not shown in our table of exports given below. Indeed it is impossible to secure a perfect export list, as only a few of the leading shippers clear goods under the proper classifications, while the others through the connivance of the custom officials send them out under the disguise of some other classification, and nullify all efforts toward keeping a complete and perfect record. In connection with this trade manufacturers in some cases are turning their attention to the production of wooden mantles. Some magnificent specimens of works, indeed of art, have been brought out, and the demand already full is daily growing in scope and magnitude.

The following shows the value of the exports of Doors, Sash and Blinds from the port of New York so far as reported, for the years named.*

DRAIN AND SEWER PIPE.—As compared with the previous year the market has been in somewhat better shape, but still not a brilliant one, by any means, and neither the dealer or manufacturer finds his bank account greatly enlarged through the business consummated. A list of prices has been current but it was a nominal one only, and while in occasional instances the figures named could be obtained, "cutting" was much more frequent, and in a great many instances the rates were right down to the narrowest sort of margin above the cost of production. In fact, sellers were compelled to gauge their charges to suit the immediate transactions under negotiation, the size of invoice, the assortment selected, the place and manner of delivery, terms of settlement, etc., all acting as influences and leading to great irregularity. Competition, however, was no doubt after all the main difficulty under which the selling interest had to labor. Among local or Eastern workers the strife would in all probability have long since been ended by some sort of agreement or combination, but the Western product has been in hand at all times and at such cost as to prevent the success of any such movement. The Western manufacturer possesses many advantages in the way of facilities for rapid productions, cheaper labor, and favorable contracts for transportation beyond the reach of his less fortunate competitor in this vicinity, and hence the superior attractions offered buyers. But as above noted, none really find the business a money-making one as matters stand, and it is believed that some changes calculated to bring the market into a healthier condition must take place during the present year. The distribution from this point has covered quite a fair radius of suburban towns, etc., and a larger amount than for some years within the corporation limits. The liberal improvements on the upper end of the Island and in the annexed districts afforded quite an exhaust for drainage connections, etc. Valuations are too much on the nominal order, especially at this season of the year, for quotations to be of any value. Nothing has been shown in the record of either imports or exports during the year, worthy of publication.

FOREIGN WOODS.—Business has been good all the year and the market furnished few causes for complaint by those most interested. Cabinet woods of every description and also such as may be used for house trimmings, etc., have found a more liberal outlet at a somewhat better average of price and much less fluctuation than in 1879, and with only fair stocks left on hand the market closed strong, with a generally encouraging outlook.

Imports and exports of Foreign Woods reported through the Custom House at New York during the past three years:

FIRE BRICK—The active and cheerful condition of business shown upon the market for domestic stock at the close of 1879, was carried into the new year and soon expanded into much larger proportions, with quite a continuous flurry of animation for several months. Manufacturers indeed, were at times even enabled to contract for their stock ahead of production and no accumulations took place. The distribution was general as to destination and covered all classes of consumers but more especially the foundry and furnace men in the iron sections. Values were, as a natural result, stimulated to a considerable extent, and some pretty full figures obtained, though after having established a fair margin sellers were not inclined to be exacting lest opportunities to place goods should be lost. With the collapse of the "boom" in iron, the demand for brick suddenly dropped to very limited proportions and has made no improvement since, the close showing a quiet tone with values a shade easier, if anything, than at the corresponding period the preceding year, and a very fair accumulation on hand. Our makers have been compelled to compete during a greater portion of the year with imported stock, which has been plenty and low, and in some cases when in weak hands has been "slaughtered" on price to the detriment of the entire trade. The contest, however, has only been over straight brick, as upon orders for "shapes" the home producer had great advantage. As may be noted by the figures below, the imports of Fire Brick show a considerable increase over last year, and while a large proportion found sale, the amount brought out has certainly been in excess of the actual necessities of the market. This has caused more or less irregularity, especially since the dull times of mid-summer set in, and finally leaves the line of valuations differing but little from last year on either Welsh or English. The Silica brick has had good sale during the year. The peculiarity of this grade is to stand the most intense heat for an indefinite time, provided it be continuous, but when subject to intervals of cooling off and heating up, it is more liable to injury than ordinary qualities. The steel manufacturers, glass workers, etc., have been the best customers. Some sales of Lee Moor have been made as low as $30 per M., ex-ship, but $35 is an average inside rate. Dinas held as high as $60@ $65 in some cases, but could probably be reached as low as $55, and was within a few weeks offered at $50, ex-ship. The cost, however, is most likely to harden, as but little stock is expected, and it cannot be laid down here at last named figures.

The movements of Fire Brick, as far as reported, were as follows:

GLASS.—Upon the amount of business transacted during the past year, the verdict is very general that it exceeds that of the preceding twelve months by a large total, but great irregularity was shown on values with the general turn in buyer's favor, and the margin for profit was extremely small throughout. The trouble seems to have been due almost solely to over-importation. Commencing even before the close of last year our home manufacturers were overrun with orders which continued to pour in upon them until well into the spring of the present year, and after a temporary lapse again picked up and have kept comparatively full ever since. The demand represented all sections of the country, and the entire product of the works had an assured outlet long before it could be made ready for delivery, but with this advantage of liberal orders, manufacturers found themselves compelled to come into sharp and constant competition with the foreign article. The "boom" of last fall and winter seems to have stimulated importers to a wonderful degree, orders were sent out with great freedom, and the response was quick and full until the market became flooded, especially with stock in the hands of those who were not well qualified to carry or to even manage it in a judicious manner, and the one natural result followed. Price lists and discounts became of little account, and values were so completely unsettled that no positive line of quotations could be retained, although frequent attempts were made to work the market into some sort of regular form. For a few weeks past the home product has been offered under a revised list, and with a nominally steady tone preserved on the very small supply available, though occasionally "cutting" is said to be necessary, while the foreign goods remain unsettled, and more or less neglected, with considerable larger amounts seeking sale than can be used. There is, however, a more hopeful tone in regard to the future, and predictions of an improved state of affairs as the incoming year progresses. Importers are in many cases getting about the last due on contracts, and are not likely to duplicate even at a lower rate and add to the already burdensome accumulation, and as soon as the pressure of fresh supplies is removed, it is natural to suppose that an effort will be made to bring about some basis where a respectable return on the cost of importation can be secured. The demand also promises to keep up to pretty full proportions, and gradually work off the surplus. Our home make will in the meantime undoubtedly hold its own as each years' experience is adding to the knowledge of manufacturers and improving the quality of the product already well established in favor, especially on the general line of window glass.

The following shows the imports of glass at New York during the past four years:

HARDWARE.—Just at the close of last year, the market for Hardware had, somewhat contrary to immediately preceding indications, developed a sharp return of animation, and, with a liberal business in hand, dealers came into 1880 entertaining strong and buoyant views. Indeed a great many calculated with much confidence upon a renewal of the excitement and activity of the previous fall and early winter, and made their preparations accordingly. For a few weeks, expectations were fairly realized. Sales were liberal and general and the revision of price lists on a higher line of cost made by manufacturers of nearly every leading article was submitted to by buyers with little or no resistance. During early spring, however, the personal attendance of buyers commenced to diminish, then the mail orders fell off, and finally demand assumed such moderate proportions, that by comparison with what had existed and what was by many still expected, business became really flat and stupid. During the summer the Southern and Southwestern inquiry brought back rather more life, and the fall and early winter found an increased outlet offered by the wants of other sections of the country, restoring to the market a healthier tone once again and this has continued to the end. With the contraction of demand prices suffered somewhat, and in one way and another modifications from extreme cost have taken place on about all the principal styles of staple goods, but the decline is much less than might have been anticipated and manufacturers assert that the revision of lists after the first of January will be more likely to show advances than further pruning. The Trade, in short, consider matters to be in very promising shape, and while making no calculations upon another semi-speculative flurry of operations, find many evidences to lead to the belief in a healthy and full legitimate trade and at remunerative prices. Our local consumption has been no mean contributor to the exhaustion of supplies during the year, and especially in the way of builders hardware in all its various forms, and indications from the same source are encouraging for the coming season. Some fears were expressed last winter in regard to financial results of the year just closing, but all appearances indicate a condition of proserity in the Trade as a body and we hear few complaints of difficulty in reaching settlements with those to whom supplies have been distributed. Stocks just now are somewhat moderate, but manufacturers are all busily engaged in producing supplies for the incoming season, and in such volume as to indicate that few entertain fears about the business before them, especially in the way of what may be considered strictly standard goods. The export movement has been very good and developes some increase, with a probability that the growth of the foreign trade would show still larger, were not so many clearances concealed under the disguise of manufactures of iron or steel, etc.

LABOR.—The market throughout the entire season has been free from excitement or unusual fluctuation so far as the local situation was concerned and presents scarcely any feature worthy of extended notice. In some cases a slight misunderstanding or disagreement has occurred between employer and employee, with an exceptional result in the temporary suspension of work, but none of these movements reached the dignity of strike, although so chronicled in display head lines by a portion of the city press. Indeed there was really nothing to disturb the amicable condition of affairs. Work proving plenty and continuous and wages full, and this, offset by a good supply, of workmen both skilled and unskilled, formed a balance which prevented an attempt at exaction on either side. One feature of benefit to the labor employed is the retention of extreme rates up to the close of the year. Usually after the push and hurry of the fall season has passed, operations suddenly drop away and as this leaves a great many mechanics unemployed, contractors take advantage of the opportunity to cut a little on wages. Work, however, has continued so uniformly good up to the very close that no suggestion of a reduction in price of labor has as yet been heard. The uniformity of the market and the impossibility of finding any really fair basis upon which to introduce a disturbing element has kept all the objectionable features of trade unionism confined to their mildest form, and also held in check the flow of resolutions from "committee men," and of alleged argument from "orators," which in former years have proven so instrumental in enticing operatives from employment and exhausting more or less of their accumulated savings.

LATH.—This market is one of the very few where the speculative element has gained sufficient control to set aside the legitimate influences and while the "boom" was of only short duration and the collapse sharp, the effects of the ill-starred venture were felt for a long time afterward. Without going into lengthy details of the disastrous attempt to "corner" the market, and with which many of the trade, especially receivers, are already too familiar, suffice it to say that the movement commenced almost with the opening of the year and was carried through January and a portion of February, at steadily increasing cost until $2.75 or $3 per M had been reached. Long before these figures became current, however, the majority of dealers had withdrawn and cargoes pretty much all went in one direction on sales to the operators, who who were concentrating the accumulation to dictate terms thereon to the needy buyers they were expecting would come to them begging for supplies. During March, however, holders commenced to discover a few unpleasant features. First, the "needy buyers" were not forthcoming. Second, the supply continued to come with a great deal more freedom than anticipated, and finally, what was of more importance still, funds were running low at just the moment they were most needed. A struggle was made for a time to support the position, but every effort only served to reveal more vividly the weak base upon which the hopes of operators for a rise had been erected, and at last came the announcement of their failure and assignment. Prices, of course, at once took a perpendicular downward turn and with only a few small halts continued in buyer's favor until $1.50 per M was reached. This proved to be hard pan, as, with the exception of a few irregular and undesirable lots, no stock was sold for less during the season and eventually toward the close an upward turn set in which brought a recovery of 50c. per M. The evil trail of the speculative manipulation was felt during the entire late spring and pretty much all summer, inasmuch as the bankrupt stock was constantly coming to the surface, and competing with fresh arrivals to a sufficient extent to act upon values. Yet, when everything is taken into consideration, the market has really shown encouraging features. The inside rate as above named is not as low by 25c. per M as that touched in 1879, the demand has been full enough to absorb, not only the receipts from all regular sources, but those drawn in from outside points when prices were high, and the year closes with a comparatively small accumulation on hand, the prospect for demand first rate and the value having a fair recovery from the lowest with the tone firm. A number of lots are piled out at $2 limit or higher, but when expenses come to be added it would appear necessary that a further advance will have to be paid to let owners out even. Most of the piling out has been on direct orders from shippers, our receivers having learned through experience, that the course is not as a rule successful, dealers objecting to the cost and many of them seeking and obtaining supplies by car load, etc., from other than the regular points, including consignments from Williamsport, Pennsylvania. Some few cargoes are expected from the eastward during this winter, but no heavy amount until the reopening of spring navigation and the reduction in foreign charges. Generally the tone at the close is cheerful and strong with demand exceeding the supply and receivers rather refusing to negotiate on parcels to arrive except at a price much in excess of anything fully established by actual sales.

LIME.—Business in this article has proven far more satisfactory than during the previous year, both as to the amount distributed and the return obtained, and receivers do not complain much over their experience, especially with the eastern stock. In the transition from winter into the spring and summer seasons there was some little irregularity, and one attempt was made to work up a sort of corner, but the pseudo speculative element lacking the hard funds necessary to secure control of the stock they desired, were happily frustrated in their proposed movement. The cost finally reached 80 and 90c. per bbl. for the two grades respectively, with possibly a few sales of common at 5c. less, and subsequently during the fall there was a recovery to 90c. and $1.00 per bbl. with these latter figures held firmly up to the close. These prices are not within 15@20 cents per bbl. as low as those touched during 1879, and have brought a return averaging 20 per cent. higher as compared with last year, to say nothing of the increased sale of supplies, which were in excess of any year for a long time past. A large proportion of the business also has been closed upon consumptive wants, a feature that has kept demand good up to the very end of the year, and while there is a fair accumulation in the hands of some dealers, a great many buyers could still be found, was there anything to offer them. All the leading manufacturers in fact have done well with their product, and while occasional opportunities were offered for pushing up the price temporarily, it was deemed judicious not to use the advantage, as the result would have been to break up the uniform and really healthy tone of the market, and no doubt stimulate production to an extent beyond the necessities of the situation. A little trouble in securing transportation facilities would now and then arise, owing to the large call for vessels in the ice trade, and there was a slight addition to the cost of packages, but neither influence was sufficient to seriously disturb the general character of the market. The State manufacturers have also found a good market for all the Lime they could offer, and have obtained full prices throughout the season, but complain more seriously of unfortunate influences bearing upon their business. The scarcity and high cost of wood for kiln use is one point upon which much stress is laid, and another is the great difficulty at times experienced in securing packages in which to ship their product. The early and somewhat sudden close of navigation left the market here quite bare of unsold stock, but caught cargoes en-route via canal and river. From the latter, some parcels have been brought forward by rail to meet a positive and direct demand, and naturally a rate charged to cover the more expensive means of transportation. Taken altogether the market seems to be in a very healthy and promising condition, and the expectations over the spring trade are generally sanguine.

LUMBER.—The promising features at the close of 1879 have been fully realized, and the Lumber trade of the city for the year just past has proven liberal and very generally profitable. With the exception of a flurry on Spruce, all kinds of stock have been handled without the display of unusual excitement, but nevertheless sellers had the advantage during almost the entire season and could at times have stimulated the market temporarily to a much greater extent if so disposed. This, however, was not the policy, and after having established a fair advance over previously low rates, it was deemed much more judicious to preserve a comparatively steady tone and give buyers confidence to handle supplies to the extent of their wants. These wants were large and being pretty much all satisfied, the increased volume of sales and a respectable margin for profit brings the year to a cheerful and healthy close. Some signs of speculative operations could occasionally be noticed but the great bulk of operations were of a legitimate character and nine-tenths of the stock sold passed permanently from the market. Another good feature in comparison with 1879, or for that matter with two or three years past, was the absence of a cut-throat policy of competition. As a natural portion of ramifications of the lumber trade as well as any other branch of business there was more or less healthy rivalry to secure customers but none of the previous tendency to "sell at any price" and the slaughtering of values was in pretty much all cases abandoned. At the close, fair sized and pretty well assorted stocks remained on hand, but no more than an average winter accumulation, if as large, and carried with full confidence that all will be wanted at good prices before spring. Our supply of Eastern lumber and timber has been short, but other kinds, with the exception of temporary detentions, was generally found plenty enough to meet all calls. The export trade has been good and the amount shown as going out exceeds the total of the preceding year by some six million feet, with a possibility that the aggregate is still greater. How far the Custom House may have withheld information in the matter of clearances it is impossible to determine, but the evidences are strong, that a great many small parcels were constantly omitted, especially, those destined for Europe. Present indications are favorable for a continuation of the export demand and it is expected that stock in bond will be pretty well cleaned out before spring. Work in the woods is full and general and a large crop of logs will be cut with good reason to expect that the major portion of them will be banked and floated.

Spruce has found a market in very decided contrast to that of the previous year, and the entire trade can no doubt look back with reflections of the most gratifying character. The demand has been full and continuous; the rates secured were comparatively high throughout, and afforded a respectable margin to the manufacturer, with little or none of the cutting and slashing noticeable during the periods of competition of 1879, and the bulk of the product has been marketed, leaving scarcely any accumulation on hand at the end of the regular season. The increased consumption not only here but at other points was naturally the principal base from which the advantage of the selling interest has grown, but a prime stimulating factor was to be found in the actual dearth of supplies at just about the time they were most wanted. It has been a very common practice in former years for manufacturers at certain periods to make considerable outcry about low streams, a scarcity of logs, etc., upon the smallest kind of provocation, and indeed this came to be looked upon as a stereotyped portion of the season's business, which rarely led to any thing more than a temporary scare. This year, however, there was a great deal of good, solid truth behind the reports, and when buyers realized the fact that for once logs were really scarce at the mills, with not enough water to make additional drives, they became anxious and quick operators, and gave a stimulus to values which ultimately led to quite a little "boom." At the commencement of the year the line of valuation stood at about $15.50@ $18.50 covering all the ordinary grades of quality on random and special, and for several months, the fluctuations ranged 50c.@$1.00 per M above or below the quotations named, according to the prevailing influences. As predicted at the close of 1879, the new season opened with a lively demand, and for a long time with a great scarcity of stock, the mills being pushed to their utmost capacity in meeting the special orders, and unable to contribute much to the random supply. Gradually, however, the various difficulties were overcome, buyers secured enough stock to satisfy early wants, and as hot weather set in business gradually dropped off. This was soon reflected on prices, and by easy stages the cost shaded, until as low as $13.00 @ 15.00 per M were accepted on randoms. Receipts, however, were of a moderate character, and it was noticed that sellers did not weaken at all on contracts for future, their showing of firmness having its base in a very small supply of logs available, and indications that if a fresh run was secured at all it would be too late to be of much service. These reports received very little credit for a time, but as evidences of actual scarcity became plainer, the apathy of those in want of stock gave place to a sharp demand, and in a very few weeks had run cost up until it reached $18.00 @ 20.00 on randoms, and $21.00 @ 22.00 on specials, with extra difficult higher still, as large logs were especially scarce at the mills. At the above extreme cost buyers became more careful, and a great many turned their attention to substitutes, with Virginia Pine accepted in numerous instances, more particularly, however, when it could be used for common building purposes. About this time (late fall) also there was some copious rains at the eastward, which raised the stream, and brought down the logs, and as soon as the smaller mills could saw and load, they commenced shipping, with instructions to sell upon arrival. This soon began to have its influence, and sent rates back to $16.00 @ 17.00 again, but when the cold weather closed, communications with all but one or two primary points, firmness and some reaction followed, and the tone has since been well maintained. The above range of prices will average right through about $4.00 per M above the line of prices for 1879, and on a few of the special contracts the difference has been greater still. The supplies now in hand here are of very fair proportions and assortment, and under good control, with every prospect that demand will soon commence to exhaust the offering in more active form. A great many specifications have been offered, but agents decline to negotiate as yet to any extent, even at the pretty full rates they could obtain. It is more than likely, however, that extreme views must ultimately be modified, as cost is out of proportion with other grades, and the liberal cutting of logs, while of course not adding to immediate supplies, will have some influence upon the market.

White Pine, of the three leading kinds of lumber handled on this market, has found the most uneventful condition of business. The volume of operations is very generally claimed, as showing an increase over the previous year, and suffers nothing by comparison with other grades, but there was rarely good, positive vigor and snap to the movement, the fluctuations on value were over a moderate scale, and we find sellers complaining that the average was lower comparatively than for other qualities of stock. Direct purchases at primary points by large consumers, more or less competition between local sellers, and a more plentiful supply of stock than had been calculated upon held buoyant tendencies in check while as an offset to this and a positive influence in preventing any serious weakening was the liberal and general demand. All local sources of consumption have made a steady and full draft, and there has been a pretty good trade in the way of new shipments to dependent points "around about" from whence buyers came to select the special assortments required for their particular line of trade, instead of buying full cargoes and finding themselves burdened with considerable amounts entirely unsuited to their regular line of custom. The export movement has been full, indeed larger than last year, but not up to expectations, and most of the gain was made during the first six months following Jan. 1st. This has been held, as may be noticed in our table of exports below, but not of late increased. Holders of the shipping grades, however, and especially the larger holders appear to be the most confident on the market and not only predict a liberal addition to the shipping demand but higher and more substantial prices. When navigation closed the stock here was full and well assorted, but is now broken and reduced somewhat and tending to develope this feature to a still greater extent as business expands with the new year. There is however, no necessity for actual scarcity as at a sufficient advance to cover freight and expense charges, a very good supply at Albany and Buffalo can be taken by rail.

Yellow or Pitch Pine has undergone some fluctuations during the year but at no time any serious depression, and quite generally we find receivers speaking in a cheerful manner of the results of the business transacted. From January until well into the hot weather the movement was very free, most of the desirable randoms finding ready sale while on specials, buyers at times became somewhat rampant in their demands, owing to the crowd of orders upon the mills. Indeed it was for a time almost impossible to find an agent who would accept a specification in view of the time for delivery expected and the few buyers who were successful in closing contracts did so only by bidding a premium sufficient to induce manufacturers to slight some of their earlier engagements. Towards mid-summer however, the call eased off somewhat and as the deliveries gradually gave producers a better opportunity to offer fresh supplies values weakened a trifle on specials and for a period were pretty heavy on randoms. The latter in fact had been run in a little too freely from small mills and without a proper understanding as to the wants of the market, with the result to be found in quite a full accumulation and much of it undesirable. A little careful management, however, gradually weeded out the poorer parcels, some, of course, selling pretty low, and with trade commencing to improve again on the approach of cold weather the remaining stock secured a better position and found demand enough to leave a comparitively small amount unsold at the close of the year. In fact within a week or so, two or three large parcels have been placed at very full figures. In the meantime the mills have since late autumn been accumulating orders on foreign account, upon which they are still busy and likely to continue so for many weeks, while from home sources the specifications have came in with such freedom that matters have much the same general appearance as last season and the outlook is strong and promising. Of course the greatest pressure is for early deliveries, but buyers find very little accommodation and are gradually going forward, with contracts already made to the 15th of March and more distant dates under negotiation. The growing consumption of Yellow Pine in this market is fairly indicated by the table of receipts as given below, its peculiar adaptability to submarine work making it almost indispensable for dock building; the sizes to be obtained giving it great advantage in the construction of the heavy edifices of late so popular, while a more thorough knowledge of its qualities leads to its free use for purposes to which a few years ago it was thought to be unsuited. The milling capacity will probably be somewhat increased during the year but not to an extent calculated to give any surplus supply if current promising indications of demand are realized.

Hardwoods have had a very good year from the commencement to the end, and few expressions of dissatisfaction are to be heard among dealers. Occasional small fluctuations on value were reported, but the tendency has been toward a gradual stiffening, and the closing rates are at about the highest with the position well maintained and no great amount of desirable stock within reach. Advices from the interior are very stimulating as there does not appear to be any desirable assortments at primary points upon which a draft beyond a few car loads can be made, while at the same time the idea of holders, if submitted to, coupled with the ruling transportation charges, would make cost laid down here much above anything yet fully established. Walnut, Ash and Oak are particularly scarce, with quartered lots of the latter wanted. The distribution by our dealers has been mainly to local sources and embraced the usual assortment required for the various branches of cabinet work, carriage and wagon-building, car, steamboat and house trimmings and for fancy office decoration, toward which of late years there has been such a strong predilection, especially in the large down town edifices. Considerable stock has also been sent out on orders from home dependent points, and a few dealers were also enabled to place an occasional invoice on foreign calls, though most of the business in stuff to go abroad was transacted at interior depots as in former years and on contracts for shipments all the way through. An impression has been current that mahogony was gradually superseding black walnut with a large class of consumers, but this does not appear to be verified. The first-named wood has certainly had a better sale and manufacturers have also given it the preference over walnut for some kinds of work in order to introduce new styles, etc., but the latter wood has not only continued to find much favor, but the sales have generally been larger, and one prominent dealer estimates his increase over 1879 at fifty per cent. The export movement has been a good one, so far as it can be shown, making quite an increase over last year, and it is probable that the amount passing out through this port is really larger than recorded, our figures being compiled from the alleged official reports. The absurd order from the Secretary of the Treasury in force during the greater portion of the year admitting of the suppression of statistical information on exports and imports, when requested, and the ridiculous, slip-shod manner of classification adopted by our Custom House wise-acres, has a natural tendency to cast doubt upon the figures furnished. We give, however, all that could be obtained, and they must be accepted for what they are worth.

The Shingle trade is not as a rule taken to kindly by the receivers and dealers, and some indeed refuse to have anything to do with it at all. A few, however, have thought it worthy of attention, and by careful management of the market secured a successful and satisfactory business during the year. There was quite an increase in home wants and all dependent points on the Hudson, through New Jersey, Long Island, and a portion of the "east" have sent in orders freely, in some cases beyond the amounts immediately available. The export demand has in the meantime continued steady and full from week to week, and aided materially in exhausting supplies of desirable quality. On prices the tone ruled very firm, but apparently without much buoyancy, and the changes in line of quotations during the season have been few. At present, stocks are small and a larger amount in hand would not disturb the confidence of holders.

Piling has had an irregular season. Last year business was very good, scarcely a stick remained unsold, and on the first of January a great many buyers were still in want of stock. All the arrivals during the first four months of the year, therefore, were quickly taken with sales to a considerable extent made at 6 cents per foot. This, however, had a bad influence upon shippers, who overestimating the wants of consumers and probably misled by the favorable results on lumber and lath, lost their caution and forwarded stock with freedom, regardless of freight charges, until the market broke down under the supply and cost went to about 4c, carrying a considerable loss with it. This checked arrivals somewhat and gradually the tone strengthened until a recovery was made to about 5c per foot, at which the market closes, showing a difference in buyer's favor of 1c per foot, as compared with the previous year. There is quite a large amount of stock now in chains, but well concentrated under the control of holders, who are able to carry it for full rates and likely to do so. The receipts from the Provinces for 1880 were: 95,305 pcs. against 41,789 do. in 1879; 21,602 in 1878, and 26,321 in 1877.

Yard trade has been excellent throughout. In a few cases there is a grumble, but mostly over matters of minor importance, and the majority of dealers not only express satisfaction with the results of the business for 1880, but are very confident that the incoming year will develope quite as happy results. Distribution has been of a very general character, covering the entire line of city buyers from the smallest consumer who carts his purchases away on a hand barrow up to the most extensive manufacturers and builders, and there has also been a good movement in supplying nearby points. A great many small dealers, in the towns "around about" the city, require only certain special grades, and after having made some years of trial at purchasing by cargo from primary points, discover that they are constantly compelled to take considerable stuff for which they have no use and can only work off at a sacrifice. They therefore commence to make their purchases where an assortment more closely adapted to their wants can be made up. On prices, volumes almost, would have to be written to cover the variations growing out of the numerous influences, such as size of purchase, mode and time of delivery, terms of payment, etc., but in all cases, sellers have been successful in getting a good return over wholesale value, and a firm feeling is preserved up to the close.

METALS.—Our space will not permit of any detailed statements of the fluctuations or the causes leading thereto, on the various articles properly classed under the above heading. These will be found in the various trade journals devoted to the subject and we must confine ourselves to a brief general retrospect for the year. It may be remembered that during the late fall and early winter of 1879, there came over the market a period of slight dullness, but which proved to be only a sort of breathing spell after the previous remarkable condition of animation, for at the end of the year demand was again setting in with full violence, and values once more on the upward turn. Indeed a renewal of the previous excitement and buoyancy seemed imminent until along about the middle of February, when buyers became much more cautious, then began to withdraw, and finally the direct demand ceased altogether. This brought about a change in the form of operations, and sellers instead of finding buyers in constant attendance were compelled to take the initiative in all negotiations, and, with a great many holders forced to move stocks pretty rapidly, prices went off freely and by midsummer had reached a very low range all around. The consumption of the country had not in the meantime undergone any abatement, indeed up to the present still appears to be but slightly checked, and promises well for the new year, but jobbers and other distributors had been frightened into anticipating their wants with such great freedom, that they really could not carry any more stock and then over production possibly, and ever importation certainly, commenced to exert the natural influence. The finacially weak producer, whose salvation was to turn supplies into money as rapidly as produced, and the importer with attenuated margins, whose only hope was in sales before arrival or immediately thereafter, found themselves in a bad strait. The first, therefore, at once commenced to shade cost as an attraction to secure customers, and the second followed suit or abandoned his importation to the financial concerns who had made advances and values shrank rapidly under these adverse influences. Then came the Presidential campaign and the agitation of the tariff question as a prime factor in the canvas and this for a time almost totally prostrated business. Since the election there has been a considerable increase of operations, slightly speculative in some cases but largely legitimate on pretty much all styles, and the Trade generally look forward to a good year before them. The principal point appears to be toward the effort at keeping a fair balance between supply and demand, and holding the speculative element as much in check as possible. In reviewing the situation above, we have probably followed Iron a little more closely than other metals, but all kinds have been subject to much the same influences and fluctuations have shown about corresponding form. We again feel called upon to note the fact that American Iron of the highest buality has outsold the Scotch in a matter of price, and the common grades have also been valued higher than English, Middleboro, etc., on their natural merits, but the full accumulation of the latter and the manner in which it was pressed for sale have unquestionably hurt the position of American forge. The latter, however, within a few weeks has come into favor again, as consumers find it impossible to use the foreign to advantage and refuse to purchase more of it. Copper is very strong, with over fifteen million pounds under contract to dealers for delivery up to June next. Tin is also well held and Lead. Spelter, Zinc, etc., all steady at the close. Mr. James M. Swank, the Sec. of the American Iron and Steel Association, from figures now in course of compilation, estimates the production of Pig Iron in the United States in 1880 at 3,300,000 gross tons; in 1879 it was 2,741,853 tons. The importation of Pig Iron during the year was about 700,000 tons. These figures give the probable consumption of Pig Iron in 1880 as 4,000,000 gross tons.

NAILS.—That the upward turn of iron should influence the price of its product is but natural, and as Nails had the additional advantage of being controlled by powerful combinations of manufacturers, it is not surprising that the year opened buoyant and so held for some time. The cost in fact was run up to $5.40 per keg for 10d. to 60d., and an effort made to increase this, but without success, though a showing of steadiness was continued for some little time after iron commenced to go down. About the middle of March, however, a "cutting" under the list rate commenced, and was kept up to a greater or less extent during the balance of the year, the cost at one time touching as low as $2.65 per keg in wholesale invoices. Several revised lists were in the meantime issued, but never for any great length of time adhered to, and supplies have almost, without exception, been found fully equal to the call made, with something to spare. Indeed, one of the main weakening influences was the liberal supply, as the demand from all sources has really been first-rate, but competition to secure orders between rival combinations of manufacturers toward the latter part of the season gave the buyer great advantage. Accumulations are now quite fair and well assorted, with prices showing no positive strength, but manufacturers and dealers hopeful of a better market as the month progresses and inclined to adhere closely to the list rate recently established.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Considerable irregularity has prevailed in the market for Paints, Colors, etc., and in some instances we find an inclination to complain over the condition of business for the year. There certainly have been no very heavy movements of a protracted character, or periods of much excitement, but the aggregate distribution will exceed that of 1879, on pretty much all the standard lines of goods both domestic and foreign. The demand, in fact, set in earlier and continued later, and being thus spread over a somewhat longer period has not made quite so much show and flurry. Prices opened firm and made some advance during the first few months and then following the course of pretty much all other articles of merchandise took the downward turn and settled off materially along the entire line. During the fall and winter a steadier tone was once more infused and has since been very well maintained on most kinds. The greatest fluctuations have been upon articles with a lead or zinc base, owing to the unsettled conditions of metals. Combinations of manufacturers have met repeatedly and fixed upon lists with apparently every prospect of keeping prices in train, but cutting would be almost sure to follow in a very short time, and there always could be found some outside lot to compete with the regular stock. Linseed Oil commenced the year at a very full figure and for a time was steadily maintained, but signs of weakness were developed early in the Spring, which became more and more prominent as the season progressed until 20c per gallon or more was lost with no positive recovery afterward made. The demand has been very good, in fact, quite full from all regular home sources, and quite a little export trade was done, including some large orders from the Provinces, but the strong competition to secure the business, especially from the Western markets has naturalized the freedom of the movement and given buyers many little advantages.

PLASTER PARIS—Lump plaster, in reality, has had no regular market at this point. An odd cargo may occasionally have come to hand, seeking sale and there has been some resold by burners from their over recepts for re-shipment to other points, but not enough to give standing or character to the business. This is due to the fact that about all the principal manufacturers either lease or own quarries and have disappeared from the market as customers in the old form. The cost laid down here has ranged from $2.80 to $3.50 per ton, the variation due in the main to the difference in freight charges, with the position at this season naturally quite firm. The import has been considerable in excess of last year, but the consumption made a corresponding increase and the accumulation of stock on hand is probably about the same as January 1st, 1880.

Upon the market for Calcined, about the only new feature developed during the year is the increased volume of business. Some few attempts were at times made to infuse a little more strength into the values and leave a respectable margin for profit, but with never more than temporary success, as the bitter competition between rival houses, neutralized all buoyant tendencies and kept the cost about as low as during the preceeding year, indeed in some cases a lower point was touched. Consumers have of course secured much advantage through this state of affairs, and can no doubt stand it as long as manufacturers are willing to keep up the fight. From $1.10 to $1.25 per bbl. covers the range made on the ordinary grade, with the higher qualities fluctuating in proportion. The increased distribution of stock has, as a maker remarked, "been for every purpose and to everywhere." All the ordinary uses to which Plaster is put for building etc., as well as the call for fertilizing purposes, has required a full and constant supply; while shipping orders from the East, West, North and South, were liberal and at times quite urgent. Local consumption also has been free in all the sections where building was active, and continued until quite late in the season. Fire proof buildings have given opportunity to use a large amount of Plaster in the form of floors, arched partitions, ceiling blocks, etc. The shipments to California were not liberal and the exports only fair. The latter also were confined almost exclusively to direct and positive orders, previous attempts to send out goods on commission, in hopes of opening up demand from new quarters, having proven quite a failure, and, pocketing former losses, manufacturers do not care to repeat the experiment. At the close, the general tone of the market is steady and cheerful.

PITCH.—The volume of business has been quite full and will in the aggregate exceed the movement of the preceding season. Natural fluctuations have taken place on values with figures, at one time, running pretty low, in sympathy of kindred articles of merchandise, but the supply remained under control and holders soon regained advantage. Since early fall the market has favored the seller, and closes with a firm tone on a moderate supply of stock available, but without inclination toward buoyancy.

SLATE—The reports generally are of a cheerful character, on this market and the result of the business for the year appears satisfactory all around. Prices have undergone more or less fluctuation on all grades but, averaged a trifle more in seller's favor than during the previous season, and close firmly. Rates would no doubt have been better still were it not for the pretty strong competition among producers, and the constant uncertainty over the action of the small quarries. Of the latter a great many have worked on nominal capital, and the frequent necessity which compelled quick sales for funds gave carefull buyers many advantages, and held in check any attempt to materially increase value. Manufacturers, however, were not without a margin, and taking into account the increased amount of stock handled there has been a chance to come out a trifle ahead. The distribution on home account has been the largest for years. Local or city consumption, as usual, amounted to little, but the general suburban trade was liberal, and immense calls have been made from the interior with shipments, making up to a very close period with this writing.

The Western consumption was of a fairly general character for all ordinary building purposes, and also found a great increase in the calls for the roofing of depots and freight houses, the natural outcome of the vast improvements and extensions by the principal railway companies. At the close of the regular season the products of the quarries had been closely sold up, indeed, so close that few orders could be promptly filled in any description of stock, and of red slate it was simply impossible to obtain any promise of delivery at better than two or three months' time. The South, and especially New Orleans has proven a first rate customer, and from these sections a number of orders are now on hand awaiting freight accommodation, etc. The product of Slate for purposes other than roofing has also made quite an increase with a great many; sills and lintels, and fair proportion of steps and platforms wanted in building; billiard table beds consuming an increased amount also, while the product of mantles is no inconsiderable factor in exhausting the stock of Slate. Some of the designs of these mantles are very rich and attractive, and the sale of them is growing rapidly.

At the close of last year there was a sudden development of an export demand, which took promptly quite a full amount of stock, and continued for a short time during the year now under review. Orders, however, soon began to fall off and business gradually dropped into a slow, uncertain condition, and underwent no great change up to the close. The difficulty with the foreign trade has been found in the rather light consumption at all points abroad, the increased cost of Slate here, and the full freight charges which prevented competition very closely with the Welsh Slate, except in isolated cases. As compared with the cost of our previous season, say about $2 90 per square, the seller gains 25@35c and in some cases, 40c. per square, on parcels laid down along side ship, and it is thought it will not be necessary to shade these figures much to secure the attention of shippers. Demand from the East Indies has been moderate and confined mainly to small and special orders, owing principally to the overstocking of the markets abroad a few years ago, followed by a diminution in consumption with as yet no positive recovery.

Some few small orders came in from the West Indies but offered no great relief outlet for stock and the limits were rather narrow. Taken altogether the position is cheerful and the leading dealers think the outlook very promising. The export trade in view of the variety of influences to which it is subject is a doubtful one, and may prove either very active or very dull, but every indication favors the belief in a first rate home business, and a correspondingly bright tone prevails. There has been no difficulty with workmen at the quarries and the indications are that disturbances will in future be avoided by mutual concession on both sides.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE—Business on all natural outlets has been good and at times quite active, the shipping orders and home wants exhausting offerings about as rapidly as made. On this influence, values would have been very well sustained, but a still more important factor in supporting the position was to be found in the speculative element extant. Quite early in the season the movement was inaugurated and finally culuminated in sweeping purchases, both here and at the South which brought the supply under control, and, as about all later offerings were taken into the same pool, buyers found it necessary to increase their bids. On the whole, however, cost has been not much, if any higher than last season and it is somewhat doubtful if the concentration of supplies was a paying investment.

STONE—In all general features this market corresponds closely with that of every article in the building material line on the list. The distribution has been more liberal and has continued longer than during 1879, while values without showing unusual bouyancy recovered from the previous severe depression, were held steadily and afforded a fair margin to the producer. Even before the year had fairly opened, some large contracts were under close consideration and these were soon closed, while others followed in quick succession during the spring, summer and fall, and in many cases supplies are again at this time under treaty against next year's delivery. In fact some agents who during 1879 had become so discouraged as to almost prepare for giving up the business, have on the more prosperous and encouraging situation concluded to "stick," while new ones have also appeared, and when offering desirable goods secured a satisfactory business. The distribution has included a full run of orders from all the dependent points as well as the usual local call. It has also to a greater or less extent embraced all the standard varieties with now and then a little in the way of fancy stock for trimmings etc., but brown stone continues in the van as to the amount taken with the various quarries getting their as usual average of business, while the terms in which deliveries were made to consumers, covered everything from the miserable apology for an ashlar plastered upon the up town rows of buildings, to give them the name of "brown stone fronts," to the immense blocks of tons in weight used in the construction of the solid down town edifices. Supplies now in dealers hands are small and they will want more stock as soon as they can reach it in the spring.

Blue Stone has sold to the full extent of the capacity of producers to get it out, and went to all parts of the country to which distribution is usually made, with a good full proportion on local consumptive account. Values have been more or less irregular, and in some instances sellers have manifested an inclination to complain, but competition has not been quite so much on the "cut throat" order, and the principal companies have no doubt had a fair year.

The following shows the imports of Stone, as reported by the Custom House during the past three years.

There was shipped to San Francisco via Clipper ship 2,351 pieces Marble, and 1,741 Flag Stones in 1878; 1,935 pieces of Marble in 1879, and 1,545 pieces in 1880.

TAR—During the early portion of the season the market was quite unsettled and in some cases prices made a decided downward dip under competition to realize. Surplus stock however became gradually exhausted, the amounts available from primary points were found to be small with not much prospect of early increase, and holders stiffened on price and offered with moderation. The addition to cost had a tendency to check demand, and most of the late calls were only to meet the most positive necessity. The outward movement has included a somewhat larger number of shipping orders than last year, and held a full average proportion of sales to regular home buyers.

THE WORLD'S FAIR AN ASSURED SUCCESS.

We have the fullest faith now in the success of the World's Fair to take place in this city in 1883. The Commissioners, after a good deal of wrangling, have, at last, organized by placing at the head of the enterprise General Grant, the very man whom we urged for that position, long before the site was selected. THE RECORD, when first proposing the name of the ex-President for this exalted position was blamed by many parties, among them several valued subscribers, who took exception to our nomination. That, however, was in the midst of a political campaign, when all citizens, among them even some of our most esteemed friends did not reason calmly, nor looked at the question before them from a standpoint that ought always to command support, namely "business success." This now has been secured by the election of General Grant as President of an enterprize that will reflect credit not only upon our own community, but upon the entire country. Whenever this is the case, practical beneficial results must follow, no more to the owners of land contiguous to the site than to the general property holder in and around New York.

We know that some legislation will be required, which may ultimately result in the shifting of the site, now fixed for Inwood, but whether there or elsewhere, on Manhattan Island, the prestige given to the enterprise by the election of the only man, we know of, who has not the word "fail" in his vocabulary assures an unprecedented success for an exhibition, that will indeed astonish the civilized world. Organization, that great forerunner of success, has now been perfected, practical work will follow shortly under such a leader. And, let us add in the language of Colonel Ingersoll, "Don't you forget it."

JAY GOULD, MASTER.

We have it from undoubted authority that the object for which Jay Gould has been working for ten years past, the absolute control of the whole telegraph system of the country, has at length been accomplished. All the telegraph lines and their appurtenances are to-day as absolutely under the control of Jay Gould as is the Iron Mountain or Missouri, Kansas & Texas roads. It is a notable circumstance that the daily press has not cared to let this fact be known; for it is one of transcendent significance. It means that one man in the United States, to-day, can make any quotation he pleases, for any article bought and sold, throughout the whole nation. If the possessor of this tremendous power was an utterly unscrupulous operator, he has a veritable Aladdin's lamp in his possession. For, one day's misquotation of four or five of the leading staples of commerce, would put him in possession of wealth that Croesus or Rothschild could not equal. Fortunately, Mr. Jay Gould's high character is an assurance that he will do nothing of the kind, and his eagerness to obtain this control of the telegraphic system is probably due to his desire to protect the public from the machinations of conscienceless speculators.

We are particularly indebted to the Financial Chronicle for the above table; but we have corrected and added to it, so as to bring it to date. If the tables for our other productions and manufactures could be as concisely stated and presented, it would only confirm the impression given by the above striking figures.

We here see at a glance the reason for the abounding prosperity. Our productions are greater, the prices are better, and, above all, we have a currency, perfectly safe and constantly growing in amount. Instead of some $750,000,000 of paper, only half used, we have nearly double that amount of gold, silver and paper, in very active use. Timidity has given place to confidence, and enterprise follows inaction.

Then, it must be borne in mind, that our population is increasing with great rapidity and in unexpected directions. To the amazement of the country and the world, it now turns out that the South has been increasing in population a trifle more than the North. With all the advantages apparently on the side of the North, emigration, enterprise, thrift, control of money, both blacks and whites at the South have been multiplying their kind, so as to actually give them the advantage over the North. Indeed, the South will gain one member and the North loose one, in the next House of Representatives. And this also suggests to capitalists and investors the wisdom of paying some attention to Southern securities, both railroad and State. There have been some very great advances in the price of certain Southern railway securities, and the time cannot be distant when something will be done to rehabilitate the credit of all the Southern States. It is safe to predict, that, before the close of this year, there will be an active movement in Southern State securities.

On the whole, the outlook is very promising. Judged by the above facts and by others in the possession of all intelligent citizens, there is no cloud in the financial skies.

DOWN TOWN INVESTMENTS.

It was only a few months ago, that we called attention to the probable revival of values in the lower part of the city. We then pointed to the permanency of certain lines of business concentrated, especially in the first ward, by the termini of the elevated roads, and our predictions have been more than verified, not only by the improvements made in the lower part of Broadway and adjacent streets, but also by transactions in real estate running into large amounts in the second, as well as in the first ward. In fact, owing to the causes heretofore detailed, and the additional permanency established by the improvements and extensions of the Produce and Stock Exchanges, the entire region along Broadway, south of the General Post Office, has been the object of inquiry and investigation on the part of our heaviest capitalists. We merely need allude to the purchase of the northeast corner of Broadway and Wall street by two of our leading banks, to the purchase of 64 and 66 Broadway by a Philadelphia capitalist, then, again, to 78 and 80 Broadway by a syndicate of foreign investors, and now to the purchase of 8 and 10 Wall street by Mr. John Jacob Astor, to show what heavy blocks of money are going in that direction. These purchases, however, it should be remembered, are not made for purposes of speculation, but for investment on which a fair return must be had, if they are to continue. Should present owners of down town property, on the strength of these few investments, raise the prices of their present holdings, they will simply once more drive capital away from that section, and "kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

It must be borne in mind that unless a percentage on these investments, can be had larger than is obtainable by the purchase of other securities, there will be an end to the purchase of down town real estate. The time may come, and sooner than is now anticipated, that the increased rentals of last year, in the lower part of Broadway, cannot be main tained, owing to the cloud which just now is overhanging many of the mining companies occupying prominent offices in buildings near and below Wall street. Some of them, we understand, were even last quarter day compelled to offer shares, instead of cash, for the payment of their rents. Not that we consider this interest so vast as at all to affect the permanent value of the lower part of Broadway, but it is a wise policy while assisting in rebuilding a section that has for years been off color. to look at all phases of the situation. The great permanency of the lower wards for the heavy financial shipping and produce business is now established, but improvements that are important and necessary will be retarded if the speculative mania is at all permitted to settle among holders of property for which, until recently, there has not been much of a market during the past quarter of a century.

THE WESTERN UNION DEAL.

The marketing of the Panama Ship Canal shares at a premium, the eager demand for bonds to build railroads in all possible and many unprofitable places, the numerous magnificent schemes under successful headway, and finally this great speculation in Western Union, all tell the story of the financial frenzy which has seized upon the American people. We are clearly on the eve, if not in the midst, of one of the greatest financial excitements of the century. What greater sign of madness can there be, than to see a stock within a month's time, quoted first at 106, running down to 77½, and then surging back to 114.

It now comes out, that the final upshot of this speculation in telegraph stocks is, that instead of paying dividends on forty-one million of stock, the American people will be called upon to make profitable eighty millions of stock. It is not improbable that the next movement will be to force the Government to buy up the telegraph and telephone systems, at from 125 to 150 million dollars. The press, we mean the daily press, which publishes items of information from all parts of the world, will be the silent ally of the great speculative operators in their raid upon the general public as well as on the National Treasury.

Every business man knows that the poles, wires, instruments, offices and chemicals of our whole telegraph system can be replaced for something less than $7,000,000. But the business public will hereafter be called upon to pay tolls, which will pay a handsome dividend on $80,000,000. When the burden becomes intolerable to the business community, then Congress will be appealed to and the demand will be made that the nation shall purchase the watered telegraph stocks, at a figure which would build and equip all our telegraph stations 12 to 15 times over. Not an influential paper in the United States will dare tell the truth about this gigantic steal. If resolutions are passed in commercial bodies and boards of trade, they will be quietly suppressed; for this great telegraph monopoly has the press by the throat. Had the newspaper owners a particle of foresight, they would have demanded Government control of the telegraph long ere now. In Great Britain, since the assumption of the telegraph by the Government, the press services have been so cheap, that where one word was telegraphed to the newspapers ten years ago, over 570 were telegraphed during last year. In the last year the companies had control in Great Britain, the number of messages were only 6,653,000. During last year the number of messages were nearly 27,000,000.

The question of the future in politics will be the control of corporations by the great corporation of the nation. The Vanderbilts, Goulds and their associates have the power of giants, and they are using it like giants. The people of California, irrespective of party, only three short years since rose in revolt against the exactions of the Central Pacific Road. They sent Booth to the Senate and adopted a constitution, curbing the greed of the railroad and the other corporations. It is curious to notice that these same Californians, driven out of their own states by indignant public opinion, are among the leaders in the Western Union deal, as well as in the great combinations of railroad lines which so justly provokes the indignation of merchants and boards of trade. For while the great monopolizing speculators will have things all their own way, but what occurred in California a few years back, furnishes a hint as to what may be expected in future political contests throughout the whole Union. The National Bank, strangled by Andrew Jackson, was but a pigmy to the hydra-headed corporation monster which will have to be destroyed in the course of the conquering march of the American people.

REAL ESTATE VALUES.

The following table shows the assessable property of New York City for the year 1881. The table will be perused with interest, as showing the changes which have occurred during the past year. The total increase of values is $38,209,639, while the total valuation for the whole city is $980,789,939 :

Upon the completion of the Elevated Railway system, farsighted real estate dealers perceived at once that vast benefits would be derived from it, first by the upper part of the city and next by the old settled business portions of the metropolis. The increase of over fifteen million in the Nineteenth Ward and of nearly twelve million in the Twelfth Ward, will surprise no one acquainted with what is going on. But some surprise will be manifested at an increae of nearly two million and a quarter in the First Ward. We judge that next year, if the assessment is a just one, there will be a large advance in the valuation of the first nine wards of this city; but of course the greatest enhancement of values will be where brokers do most congregate, that is below the City Hall Park. Assessors in old districts are apt to be conservative and very slow, and, judging from recent sales at the lower end of Broadway, the valuation in the First Ward, given above, is altogether too low. With the completion of the new Stock Exchange, the building of the new Produce Exchange and the other improvements in contemplation, we expect to see a great enhancement in the value of property where the banking and wholesale business of the country is transacted. The mighty trade which is pouring in upon the metropolis will express itself in values on the lower end of New York Island. The costliest real estate on earth is in the old City of London, where the great bankers transact their business. It is not improbable that the time will come when real estate below Pine street, east of Broadway and west of South William, will command even higher figures than in this choice quarter of the City of London. There was danger before the elevated roads were built that the business centre of New York would move up town, but the possibility of reaching Wall street within the hour from any part of the island has settled and fixed the business quarters of the city, certainly for a generation to come.

Great as has been the advance in prices during the last year in the Nineteenth, Twelfth and Twenty-second Wards, we expect to see a very much greater enhancement in the year 1881. The settlement of Inwood as the site for the World's Fair ought to make a very great difference in values, not only in the Twelfth but in the Twenty-fourth Ward.

APARTMENT HOUSES.

Of late there has been expressed a desire on the part of many owners of lots on the west side of the city to erect large apartment houses, and quite a number of such owners are to-day at their wits end, while disposed to build, whether such structures will after all give them ample remuneration for their investment. We have taken pains of late to investigate this the commercial aspect of such enterprises, and find that the enormous profits said to be earned by owners of leading apartment houses are overstated. Mr. Edward Clark, for instance, who built his Van Corlear at a time that timber, brick, iron and other materials were at their lowest figures, ascertains to-day, as he has experienced to his cost during the past year, that his magnificent investment does not return over five per centum per annum. This information comes to us from a prominent builder, who quotes Mr. Clark himself as authority.

Now, this may surprise some of those who have been listening for the past few years to unauthenticated stories of ten or twelve per centum returns on grand apartment houses, but the experience of those who have run the gauntlet, after adding up the cost of expenditure, of maintenance, etc., etc., tells a very different story. What is called a large apartment house requires the attendance of expensive engineering skill, of janitors and assistants, aside of the well-known fact that a considerable part of the property is actually cut off by the enormous elevators now required for the purpose of answering calls for the conveyance of passengers and baggage. There are other items of expenditure immediately connected with the control and maintenance of such buildings—too numerous to enumerate—which reduce the profits to a percentage as stated above.

And yet as apartment houses are wanted in our city, it is but right that owners of lots desirous of improving them should bear in mind that a house of this description fronting, say only fifty feet on a leading street or avenue, and having no more than five stories, is indeed to them a subject of immediate consideration. An apartment house of this description will pay, and pay at least nine if not ten or eleven per centum return on the investment. The expenditures of maintenance and control connected with the conduct of a mammoth apartment house kill the revenues that by right ought to come to the investor, all of which is not the case if the building thus erected is of smaller dimensions. We may return and no doubt will return to this subject ere long. In the meantime we advise those desirous of improving their lots to be modest in their ambitious desires, and their returns will be more satisfactory after once, say a half dozen families have taken possession of their structures, instead of a half hundred, whom to control and to please takes off the actual gilt edge of the investment. Try it and see, and not only the Van Corlear, but the Fifth Avenue Osborn house's account current will bear out all we say on this subject today.

STREET CLEANING DEPARTMENT.

The reckless manner in which most of the practical work done under the authority of the municipal government is being attended to has never been more fully illustrated than during the past few weeks of wintry weather. Charges are often brought which are difficult to prove, but when a person takes the trouble to watch the doings of those, for instance, connected with the Street Cleaning Department, it will readily be ascertained how some of the evils, inflicted upon our city, its harbor and its merchants originate, and that, too, in open defiance of all laws and established regulations. On Sunday afternoon last a prominent shipping merchant, who is also a public spirited citizen, made up his mind to watch the operations of the Street Cleaning Brigade. He followed one of the carts laden with "snow" to the foot of Twenty-second street and East River, where the load was dumped. Before the dumping process, however, was concluded, he managed to get a large handkerchief full of "snow" out of the cart, took it home and there closely examined it. Just as he anticipated, fully one third of "the snow" was plain street refuse, mixed with oyster shells and all sort of dirt. The fact became at once evident that, in order, perhaps, to save the expense of scows for the purpose of taking the street refuse to the Bay, this "removal of snow" business is taken advantage of to dump snow, dirt and all into the river. Can it be wondered at that large eddies are continually forming around the piers of our harbor when this kind of work is constantly going on? The formation of these eddies compels the constant dredging of these piers, involving thousands of dollars of expense to the owners of wharf property, and impedes navigation, destructive of the city's most valuable interests.

This outrageous work on the part of the Street Cleaning Department, if not stopped immediately by the municipal authorities, should at once attract the attention of the United States Government, as this promiscuous dumping leads directly to the obstruction of navigation. In the meantime, however, we understand that an application will at once be made to the courts for an injunction against Capt. Williams' department, so as to prevent him and his subordinates from continuing this nefarious work of destroying our harbor and creating obstructions where the least possible impediment is an injury to commerce.

WHEN IS A PANIC DUE?

Congressman Hurd, of Ohio, thinks we are on the verge of a panic. We cannot be called on a specie basis, he says, so long as the greenbacks are a legal tender and gold is not the exclusive currency of the nation. If Mr. Hurd's ideas were carried out, we should certainly have a first-class panic; for the withdrawal of the greenbacks would mean contraction to the tune of $340,000,000 of dollars, and the demonetizing of silver would be a further contraction of $160,000,000 of dollars.

This would be a very fine thing for the creditor class, those who owned capital convertible into the yellow metal; but it would be a hideous calamity, not only to the United States, but the whole business world. It is surprising that anyone can be oblivious to the beneficient results which followed the partial remonetization of silver in 1878, or the prosperity which followed the adding of the gold as well as of silver in 1879, to the existing paper currency of the country.

But the Public, edited by Col. Grosvenor, is also fearful of coming disaster. His articles, both in the Tribune and in his own paper, are "sicklied o'er" with apprehension. We have built, he says, over seven thousand miles of railroad during the past year; we spent ninety million in 1879 and one hundred and forty million in 1880. We shall probably spend over two hundred million in 1881. Then we are making other permanent improvements. There is an enormous amount of house-building all over the Union; business may be profitable, but we are putting three dollars into permanent works where we are earning one dollar. Hence, debts are piling up, which we will be unable to pay when the time comes. So, in effect, run the arguments in the Public.

We have already been over that ground in this paper. We, too, believe that there is a too rapid conversion of available or floating capital into a permanent, unavailable and unproductive series of securities. But we do not look for any panic for several years to come. There are a numbers of ifs, which would surely bring on a crash; an unexpected foreign war for which we are wholly unprepared and which, with our lamentable lack of foresight, would insure the loss of New York and our whole seaboard to any third-rate naval power. Then, if President Garfield's Secretary of the Treasury should happen to be a fool or a speculator, he could easily precipitate a panic. For we have most unwisely centered enormous power in the Treasury department, which some day will be abused. Should the funding bill fail to pass and the banks withdraw their currency, that would create a panic. But these contingencies are all so remote and unlikely that prudent business men can afford to take the risk and calculate upon several years of prosperity. The money of Europe is pouring into our investments. Since January 1, 1879, we have added nearly four hundred million to our available currency. So long as foreign gold and silver sets to our shores, there is no danger of a currency panic. Some time during the coming spring there will be an alarm about the crops. Prudent speculators will sell their railway securities to buy them back again at lower figures, for they know very well that one nor two bad crops will not very seriously retard the prosperous condition of the country.

We do not think there was ever a time in the history of the country when a person might invest into almost any legitimate business with so fair a prospect of success. Of course, the most certain of all investments is real estate. Our rapidly increasing population, the large emigration, the swelling amounts of our currency, made up of and based on gold and silver, the centreing of so much population in and near the cities, the hopeful feeling which animates all circles of trade, all insure us against a crash in prices for several years to come.

WHAT ARE THE BEST INVESTMENTS?

In the fall of 1879 the most profitable investments were in stocks and bonds of railroads west of the Missouri. A comparison of the prices then and now would show the enormous profits made by those who then owned and still hold the securities of Iron Mountain, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Kansas Pacific, Rock Island, and the Granger stocks. In the summer and fall of 1880 the profitable investments were not the low, but the high-priced stocks, as, for instance, Burlington & Quincy, Chicago & Northwestern, Lake Shore, Michigan Central, New York Central, and the like.

The first effect of the better times was felt in the extreme West; there were large crops, good prices, heavy emigration, great activity in the mineral regions, all of which led to a sharp rise in the price of land, the consequent enrichment of hundreds of thousands of families; all of which immediately told upon the value of the cheap railway securities in the West. With the revival of prosperity came a desire, on the part of the great railway lines, to utilize the extreme Western system of railways. This it was that led to the increased valuation of the latter during the fall of the year just past.

But the next investments which are likely to rise are those in the Middle and Eastern States, and their advance will be more permanent than the others. The settling of the extreme West has stimulated manufacturing at the East. Indeed the tide of prosperity has literally rolled from the West to the East. We look, then, for an enhancement in value of such stocks as Erie, New York Central, New Jersey Central, Delaware & Hudson, Lake Pennsylvania Central, Lackawanna, Wabash, and, indeed, of all the roads which lead, directly or remotely, to the great cities on the eastern seacoast. The springs and lakes which feed the river system of the country are located or have their origin in the North; but the springs which feed the tide of railway business in this country have their origin in the mineral regions of the Rocky Mountains or on our vast prairies. It is the mingling of these minor streams of business which enlarges in volume as it nears the seaboard. There will be more permanence in the rise of the Middle States and Eastern securities than can be fairly expected on the roads in the far West. A failure in the wheat crop would seriously depress the Grangers; a deficiency of corn or a visitation of locusts would cause a stampede in the shares of the railways that connect with Kansas City; while a cotton or cattle disappointment would lower the values of the southwestern roads. But one or two bad crops West would not now affect the permanent value of the trunk lines East which have their terminus in this city. Our country is so vast that the failure of any one of our great commodities would not materially reduce the revenues of the eastern trunk lines, although it might prove disastrous to the roads which traverse the stricken district.

Our own judgment is, that the best investments for profit and permanence are in real estate. But if one has a preference for railway securities, there seems to us to be more of a margin in the coal stocks, specially in Jersey Central, in Erie, in New York Central, Lake Erie & Western, Wabash, Chesapeake & Ohio, and in short all the roads which seek the seaboard. There is undoubtedly money in the southern roads ; the census shows that the Southern States are not loosing in population, and that vastly more cotton can be grown by free than by slave labor. Some of the Southern State bonds now in discredit will see a marked advance during the coming year.

SHAMEFUL NEGLECT OF BUSINESS STREETS.

Elsewhere we have alluded to the manner in which the city refuse, on the pretence of being "snow," is disposed of along the docks of our rivers. This, however, is only a partial expose of the careless manner in which this pretentious Street Cleaning Bureau is doing work for which the city of New York pays annually over two hundred thousand dollars. During the past week, while snow, ice and slush were accumulating in all the avenues, streets and lanes of our city, an extraordinary attempt was made by Captain Williams to secure the good will and abundant praises on the part of our citizens. He did, it must be acknowledged, remarkably well along the Fifth avenue, Broadway, Thirty-fourth, Twenty-third and Fourteenth streets, all leading thoroughfares, through which those capable of "hurting" the Captain were apt to drive, in coach or sleigh, during the severe storms that have followed one another up rather smartly during the week. The plain business men, however, who are neither fast drivers nor politicians, who are not in the habit of showing themselves "on the road," were entirely neglected. They had to pay for the piper by loss of time and increased expenditure, caused directly by the wilful neglect with which their streets were treated by the Street Cleaning Bureau. We allude particularly to the streets crossing Broadway, below Canal street, where firms doing the very heaviest of business were unable to load, unload or forward merchandise, owing to the scandalous accumulation of snow, ice, filth and dirt before their respective establishments. Worth, Pearl, Franklin, Leonard, Walker, White, Church and Lispenard streets show to-day the neglect which characterizes the doings of this expensive municipal bureau. And yet, the merchants who require more than the fast sports the use of their streets for the purpose of filling orders that reach them from all sections of the Union, are overlooked and neglected by this would-be street cleaning department, which apparently, has not the least idea of the immense value centered in that dry goods district, but has, as far as we are led to believe, a very keen perception of the roads that are to be trotted over by the politicians, the sports and the "officials," whose complaints it hears and heeds a great deal more than those of the solid merchant, who curses in the innermost of his soul a municipal system under which he is compelled to transact his business.

SOME FACTS ABOUT MINES.

The Hibernia is the name of a new organization in which dealings are permitted on the New York Mining Board. We advise investors to leave it alone. It is situated on Fryer Hill, in a good location, and some highclass ore has been taken from the mine; but the officers and promotors include the names of several old Leadville mining-sharks, who have most unsavory reputations. Honest investors should not in any way encourage the people whose names are associated with Little Pittsburgh, Chrysolite and the other Leadville stocks in which the public have been deceived. In dealing in Hibernia, you are playing against gamblers whose cards are marked.

Silver Cliff had a "spurt" upward during the past week. This is a mine with immense possibilities, and the stock may yet sell at high figures, for there are vast quantities of ore on the dump. But so far it has not been worked profitably. The new mill, on which so much depends, will not be in operation for a couple of months. And, then, the mine is in debt to Mr. James R. Keene, its largest stockholder. Even if the mill should prove to work well, we do not see much chance for dividends this year. But the stock will be subject to fluctuations and will be profitable to speculators.

Bull Domingo has got a black eye. The insiders, who promised dividends in February, now hint that perhaps none may be paid until a couple more levels are opened. There are three theories for the break in the price of the stock. One is, that a large holder, with whom the company has had some dealings, is found to be in so many operations that his credit is precarious. So, with the amiable intent to slaughter the weak, some of his associates are going for him to get their stock at the lowest possible price. Another story is that a well known California mining operator had given calls on the stock at 6 and that he broke down the price, so as not to give any profit to the caller. But as this break occurs after President Barnum has returned from the mine, it looks suspicious. The critics of this mine says that, in the lower depths, the boulders increase in size, and the silver bearing ore, though richer than above, is limited in quantity. Indeed. it is hinted that more concentrators may be required to work the mine profitably.

Standard of Bodie has appreciated in market value recently. According to the officers and insiders, all the dividends from this mine come from one level, 385 feet from the surface. The ore on this level runs from $400 to $600 a ton. It is claimed there is enough of it in sight to last four years and insure the payment of 75 cents per month, per share, for that time. Ore is taken from half a dozen other ore bodies in the mine, none of which are really profitable, but it is wise to work them, to see if they may not develop into richer ore. The shaft is now down to a thousand feet, and before the ore body on the 385 foot level is worked out other rich bonanzas may be discovered in the mine. But cautious investors will doubt. The Cooks, who were in the famous Alta deal, are officers in this company, and perhaps some one may think it worth while to slaughter the Eastern stockholders.

Stormont has been reorganized. We warned investors against dealing in this stock, both before and after it is put on the regular board. The owners of this mine were very rich Philadelphians and New Yorkers. A. J. Johnson, the wealthy publisher, was the principal promotor. President Barnard and Professor Newberry, of Columbia College, President Knight, of the Boundbrook Road, President Palmer, of the Broadway Bank, and others, equally respectable and well to do gentlemen, were the principal stockholders. But, from all accounts, they made a bad bargain and got "stuck." There was an eager demand for shares at $5.50, when first organized, but so certain were the promotors of having a good thing, that they would not sell more than 10,000 out of the 150,000 shares. But they finally found that they were deceived. They tried to get up a "boom" by gutting the mine, and they succeeded in paying three dividends; but finally one had to be passed and the stock broke from 4⅛ to less than 2. Now there is a reorganization and some of the stock was sold at higher figures, because of the change.

The Silver Reef region, of Utah, is a peculiar one but very treacherous. We give the same advice as heretofore, dont touch Stormout.

The prices on the Comstock lode are getting worse and worse. There does not seem to be a ray of light from any part of this famous lode. The north end stocks are a lamentable failure so far.

Prof. Morgan Draper lectured before the Bullion Club last Tuesday evening on the San Juan region of Colorado. Undoubtedly Southwestern Colorado is destined to be the great mineral region of that state. The ores require to be smelted, and hence reduction works are necessary. A young man, in good health, with a few thousand dollars and his wits about him, ought to be able to make a great deal of money in Colorado, New Mexico or Southern Arizona. Until railroads, however, run near the mining region, people would do well to avoid investments in those distant territories.

Mines may be ever so rich, and yet be valueless in the absence of cheap transportation.

THE MADISON AVENUE EXTENSION.

The proposed extension of Madison avenue, first suggested in the columns of THE RECORD, is being discussed favorably by the daily press. It is more than likely that the Legislature will be appealed to by interested property owners, so as to smooth the way for the action of the Board of Street Openings, composed of the President of the Board of Aldermen, Comptroller, Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and President of the Park Department. In the meantime property owners as well as officials have thus far expressed their opinions somewhat in the following strain:

Mr. S. L. M. Barlow thinks that property owners along the line of the cut and those owning property on Madison avenue, above Madison square, could easily afford to pay the whole cost of the work and the property to be condemned. Property along Fifth avenue above Madison square is worth more than property along Madison avenue, because it is an artery which the flow of business naturally enters.

Comptroller Campbell says that, if the persons owning property along the line of the proposed cut, and those persons owning property along Madison avenue above Madison square, which would be available business property when a stream of travel could be turned from Broadway directly into Madison avenue, were willing to bear the cost of the change, he sees no objection to the project. It would certainly be no detriment to the city.

Commissioner Thompson, of the Department of Public Works, had no doubt as to the value of the work, conceding that Broadway at that point was very crowded. If the citizens owning property in that neighborhood thought that it would pay them to make the improvement, he would help them to the best of his power. Perhaps the city might even pay something toward the cost of widening Broadway, between Nineteenth street and Union square, but it would certainly, in his opinion, do no more.

Mr. E. H. Ludlow says that it would be necessary to condemn about twenty houses of an average value of $60,000. The increase in value of adjoining lots would nearly cover the whole cost. He considers this a good time to appropriate this property, as the houses are mostly occupied by families who want to move further up-town, and the present valuation of real estate is low compared with 1870.

LET IT GO THROUGH.

[From the New York Sun.]

The plan of extending Madison avenue from Twenty-third street in a direct line toward the south, until it strikes Broadway, has been revived, and is discussed in various quarters.

It is an excellent plan. The thoroughfares in that neighborhood are now exceedingly crowded, and the proposed change will do much to relieve them. Compared with the value of the improvement, the expense will be very small. The avenue should be cut through.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

McComb's Dam Bridge had better be reconstructed entirely, instead of wasting a thousand dollars on it for repairs.

The books showing the assessed valuation of real and personal estate are open for inspection and revision at 32 Chambers street, until April 30th.

Three additional men have been appointed to help the Building Department out of its overwork. This is better than no additional help, but it does not in the least come up to the actual requirements of the department.

It will be equal to a play to watch the doings of the rival applicants for Pier No. 1, North River. It will be like Greek meeting Greek when the two Commodores, Rufus Hatch and Jos. H. Tooker, plead the claims of their respective craft before the Dock Commissioners.

A bill is before the Legislature to authorize the closing of certain of the offices of public records on the days known as legal holidays. If part of the offices in which priority of lien can be secured are open all ought to be. All such offices in any one county ought to open or all close on public holidays.

Already some three thousand feet of pipe have been laid in the vicinity of the trial station of the Prall Heating Company, at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, through which the water is drawn with such rapidity that it passes through the entire length in fifteen minutes. The pressure in the pipes is about one hundred and sixty pounds to the square inch, a much more moderate strain than that first talked about.

Mr. Esterbrook has furnished an outline of his annual report, full details of which are delayed owing to the want of clerical help in the Bureau. It appears from the synopsis that $23,937,000 is considered as the cost of buildings erected during the past year, the total number of new edifices built being 2,386. The number erected in 1879 was 2,056. The largest number of new buildings was in the Nineteenth, Twelfth and Twenty-second wards.

The West Side Association has opened permanent quarters at the corner of Seventy-third street and Ninth avenue, where public meetings will be held on the first Saturday of each month. The association during the past year has succeeded in causing the construction of four miles of sewers, the opening of a large number of streets and in preventing the erection of shanties on the West Side. Various subjects tending further to improve the West Side, are now engaging the attention of the Board of Directors.

THE DESTRUCTION OF OUR HARBOR.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST THE STREET CLEANING BUREAU.

New York, January 12, 1881.

To the Editor of THE REAL ESTATE RECORD:

SIR.—With this is a copy of a letter addressed to the Department of Docks, calling on it to stop the violation of the law by the Police Department of this city, and other persons, in dumping into the East and North rivers vast quantities of refuse, dirt, &c., under the pretext of clearing the streets of snow! also affidavits from pilots and gentlemen connected with the Board of Pilots, showing the immense damage which has been, and is now being done by the above and similar infractions of the laws.

The general apathy of the public in this regard (though its attention has repeatedly been called to it both by your valuable paper and the New York Herald) is really astonishing, for every person who is in any way connected with the commerce of this port, or owns a plot of land, however small, on Manhattan Island, is interested in this matter.

Our magnificent port once destroyed or rendered in part, even, difficult of access, what becomes of real estate?

The Police Department, whose business it is to enforce the laws, is the very one at present most active in breaking them, and chiefly in the interest of Broadway property owners, the car and omnibus lines, which are reaping a rich harvest from the public and paying little or nothing therefor. What right have the Police Department to employ the taxpayer's money in cleaning one street, while all the other thoroughfares, such as Pearl street, Maiden lane, Madison avenue, &c., are entirely neglected.

The Pilot Commissioners have remonstrated in vain for years against these abuses, not only to the city authorities, the Department of Docks, and the Police Department, but to the Federal Government. By the latter they were referred some years ago to the Attorney General of the State, who in turn informed them that he could only commence proceedings on the complaint of a private citizen, accompanied by a sufficient guarantee that the expense of the litigation would be reimbursed by the complainant.

This being so, and in the event of the Department of Docks proving incompetent, or unable to cope with this difficulty, cannot the public interest be aroused sufficiently, either through the Chamber of Commerce or by the efforts of a sufficient number of citizens, to check this evil, or must we sit quietly down, bound hand and foot by the red tape of our circumlocution government, and submit to the destruction of our best interests.

Your obedient servant
R.

THE COMPLAINT AS LODGED WITH THE DOCK COMMISSIONERS.

NEW YORK, January 12, 1881.

To the Honorable, the Dock Commissioners:

GENTLEMEN.—I beg respectfully, to call your attention to the fact that, under the statute, commonly known by the "Charter" Chapter 137, of the laws of the State of New York, of 1870, by which full and exclusive control was vested in your Department over all slips, basins, docks, water fronts, lands under water, and water adjacent thereto of the City of New York, with power to protect the same, you can and should "protect" the above interest of the city and of other owners of wharf property from the great damage which is now almost daily being done through the violations of the law of 1880, Chapter 463, viz., an Act to amend Chapter 604, of the laws of 1875, entitled "An Act to prevent the deposit of carrion offal or dead animals in the North and East rivers, or in the bay of New York, or in Raritan Bay, within the jurisdiction of the State of New York," not only by private individuals and corporations, but by the Police Department itself, in that they, under pretence of cleaning the streets of snow and ice, are throwing immense quantities of dirt and street refuse of all kinds into the rivers No one might object, perhaps, to the streets being cleared of snow, immediately it falls, by its transfer to the river, but even that is liable to enormous abuse, as can be proved in the present instance. Broadway, from Twenty-third to Thirty-fourth streets, had not been touched by the Street Cleaning Department for three weeks previous to Sunday, the 9th inst. A sample, taken at random, from one of the carts employed dumping the accumulation of that period into the river, at Twenty-second street, proved to be fully twenty per cent. of mud, mixed with oyster shells and ashes. On that very day, hundreds of loads of that stuff were thrown into the river, and since that date, as you may see by the slip cut from the "Tribune" herewith, hundreds more have gone the same way. As to the effect of this sort of work on the slips and harbor, I can bring almost any number of affidavits from pilots and experts to prove that if this and other abuses of a kindred nature are not stopped, we shall soon have no harbor, or, indeed, water communication at all, and the fourteen millions cost of the Brooklyn Bridge might better have been expended in building the sea-going refuse steamers, of which the Police Street Cleaning Department long since had full plans and specifications given to them. Already there is hardly a pier or slip in the city, except those occupied or owned by the great steamship lines, where a vessel of any size can be docked or hauled out except at high water, this being notably the case on the East River side. It is the general talk among the pilots and other persons cognizant of the nature and history of the waterways surrounding this city, that the harbor, both below and above the Narrows, is rapidly shoaling in places, and the navigation yearly becoming more difficult. Two large mud flats have formed in the upper bay in places which were formerly navigable for large vessels. One of those has at present only nine feet of water, where a few years ago there were twenty-five feet, and the other is exposed at low water.

It is notorious that the city receives much less rental for its wharves and slips, than it should, by reason of the immense cost of the continual dredging required by their rapid shoaling, so that in fact we are paying our department to throw mud and refuse into our docks and slips, which we are obliged to allow our tenants liberally for in their leases to dig out again. As a sample of the rapidity with which slips fill up, it can be shown that one slip on the Brooklyn side, which in 1879 was dredged out to an average depth of 30 feet at low water, had prior to November, 1880, filled up again so that the average depth at low water was barely 20 feet. Hoping that the above will merit the attention of your honorable body, and that you will exercise your authority to prevent those frequent violations of the law, so far as comes within your power, I am, respectfully your obedient servant,

C. R. ROBERT.

[Here follow affidavits from Joseph Conway, Inspector of Board of Pilot Commissioners; of Ambrose Snow, President of said board; and of Harry Burnett, licensed pilot, all confirmatory of the charges brought in above complaint. REAL ESTATE IN BOSTON.

[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

There is no abatement in the interest in real estate. The negotiations for a plot of over 100,000 feet of the Back Bay Park lands entered upon since Christmas have been closed. It is a cash purchase by several wealthy citizens, at a valuation better than that assessed by the city. Along Commonwealth avenue and in its immediate vicinity there are thirty-two dwellings started.

Three years ago, and even so recently as last November, it was asserted by real estate men that the growth of the Back Bay district was at the expense of other sections of the city. But now these very men concede that there has been a change. The steady growth of Boston in its population has been repeatedly discussed. The increase of families among the wealthier classes, the incoming of representatives of new and important commercial and manufacturing enterprise, together with the increased wealth of our active business men, have been the factors that have made each successive leading residence quarter larger and more elaborate than its predecessor. There never was a time in Boston's history when one-tenth the amount of terminal, commercial and business improvements were in progress as now, and the increase of population that these are ultimately to draw is a subject of repeated comment. All classes of real estate, small houses and tenements, are occupied, and a new demand has sprung up all around for modest as well as showy dwellings.

In addition to the new blocks on the Huntington-avenue lands, there have just been started on the north side of Commonwealth avenue new dwellings for Mr. Horatio Bigelow, Mr. N. B. Mansfield, Mr. H. B. Roberts, Mr. H. P. Kidder and Mrs. Charles Boyden, to cost from $30,000 to $40,000 each on top of the land. On the south side of this avenue dwellings are also started for Mr. Charles W. Parker, Mr. S. R. Mead and Mr. Fay, and also two houses by Mr. W. S. Rand, three by the Shapleigh Brothers, one by U. Coffin, and two others. These are to cost, on top of the land, from $20,000 to $30,000 each. Elsewhere in this new section of the city there will be several large buildings started when the frost begins to work out of the ground, among them the "Natatorium," or swimming school, corner of Berkley street and Columbus avenue, the Boston Art Club building, on the corner of Newbury and Boylston street, and the children's hospital, on the corner of Camden street and Huntington avenue. The Simmons estate will build a four-story surgical instrument factory, 44x60, on Columbus avenue, opposite the Providence station; and further along on the same avenue, by the same estate, the building of an elegant apartment house, to accommodate from thirty to forty families, is contemplated. The cadet armory will probably locate on a lot of 28,000 square feet in the vicinity of Boylston avenue, and the building will cost about $150,000. The subscriptions are fast coming in. The Central Club and three or four other prominent associations are seeking lots upon which to build before the coming fall, and at least $1,000,000 worth of new buildings will be put upon the lands on and north of Columbia avenue during this present year.

MADISON AVENUE RESIDENCES.

The extensive purchases of lots and dwellings along Madison avenue, of late, show how anxious a large number of people are to locate on and around that thoroughfare, and secure their share of property, before an increase in value, sure to follow the proposed extension, shall have set in. Mr. Ira E. Doying's houses, on the west side of the avenue, between Sixty-second and Sixty-third streets, are just now a prize, for which several investors and dealers are contending. Of course, as a builder, who keeps continually at work, he is disposed to sell these ten houses at reasonable rates, but he, at the same time, fully appreciates the value of the locality, growing in importance almost by the month, while the care and supervision exercised in the construction of these houses entitle him to a fair remuneration. It will be noticed on examining every one of these houses that the cabinet finish in the same is of the most substantial kind, that there are double floors everywhere, that the plastering and frescoing is of superior order and that the various ornamentations are conceived with taste and without being too elaborate. The builder claims for them solidity first, neatness, comfort and cheerfulness next. Special pains have been taken with the plumbing and heating arrangements in these houses, nothing being omitted which the latest and most practical experience has suggested. In a very few days we expect to report the sale of several of these house, some capitalists being anxious to secure the entire block, for which negotiations are now pending.

In this connection we desire to call the attention of our readers to three magnificent houses which Mr. Doying is now finishing on the south side of Sixty-seventh street, between Madison and Fifth avenues, just a few doors east of the Central Park. We will have more to say of these houses in a future issue, but while everything in that neighborhood is now so readily being taken up by leading merchants and bankers, desirous of securing eligible residences before it is too late, we advise investors to examine these latest additions to the Lenox Hill section, now being so rapidly built up. We understand that the house nearest the park is held at $100,000.

Messrs. Bates & Johnson, of 114 Leonard street, have succeeded to the business of the late Wyllys H. Warner. They have purchased the stock, fixtures, tools and unfinished contracts of the late House, and having been associated with Mr. Warner for the past ten years, they feel confidence in offering their services to the public as manufacturers and erectors of steam heating apparatus. They propose to execute all work in the thorough manner which they have learned in their long experience, and which has given the House of Wyllys H. Warner its well-earned reputation.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

☞ For list of lots and houses for sale see pages vi and vii of advertisements.

The auction sales of the past week were few, as to numbers, but important considering the nature of the property offered. The sale of the Tontine Building on Tuesday, by Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son, attracted a very large audience of old-timers and investors, and it was finally disposed of at $138,550 to Mr. P. J. O'Donohue, the tea merchant, who was rather surprised when it was knocked down to him, as he supposed that it would bring considerably more than the amount he had fixed upon. The sale of the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-third street, by Mr. Harnett, on Thursday, engaged the attention of an immense crowd of people, and, as it progressed, caused considerable comment among those who remembered the circumstances under which this same property was sold two years ago. Then the corner lot was disposed of at $76,400, but it was subsequently ascertained that there was a defect in the title. This has since been remedied, and on Thursday this corner lot was sold for $87,100. The two adjoining lots were sold respectively for $26,000 and $26,300 to Mr. Horatio Henriques, who bought them for Mr. E. A. Cruikshank. The referee then announced that, enough money having been secured to cover the encumbrances, the other lots would not be offered.

Messrs. E. H. Ludlow & Co. sold on Wednesday, in South Brooklyn, the property of the Erie Basin Dock and Warehouse Company, comprising twenty-one acres, with a water frontage of over two thousand feet, to Mr. William F. Bulkley for $322,275. Work will at once be begun on this property for the purpose of establishing large dry docks, so much needed at this port.

Attention is directed to the auction sale of the Dolan estate, announced by A. H. Muller & Son for the 22d inst. The property comprises several valuable houses and lots in various parts of the city.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK.

Notwithstanding the fact that the actual business of the year has hardly been entered upon, and has to some extent been interfered with by the extraordinary severity of the weather, a large number of transactions have been consummated during the week. In fact, more property has been sold than the brokers are willing to report. This relates especially to speculative parcels in the upper part of the city, and also to transactions along the West Side and in Harlem.

Investment property continues to be exceedingly active, leading buyers, like the Astors, taking advantage of the present situation to secure most eligible sites. Nos. 8 and 10 Wall street, which was reported sold in the beginning of the week, has been secured by Mr. John Jacob Astor for $500,000. The buildings will be torn down in May, when present leases expire, and a grand office structure, 44x120, having probably eight or nine stories, will replace the present buildings. It will be remembered that No. 6 Wall street is already owned by Mr. William Astor, who purchased it in August last for $156,000. This, however, has only 22 feet frontage, and cannot as yet be improved, owing to leases which extend to 1885.

It was authentically reported in Pine street yesterday that a prominent law firm, acting in behalf of a private capitalist, had made a cash offer of $700,000 for the property known as 69, 71 and 73 Broadway, corner of Rector street. Upon further enquiry, this report proved to be correct, and Mr. Henry C. Clench, acting on behalf of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, as owners of said property, has, we understand, transmitted this offer for approval to the Company's officers at Hartford. The building, which fronts 82 feet on Broadway, and runs through to Church street, where it has a frontage of 50 feet, is 221 feet deep, running along the entire Rector street block.

No. 468 Broadway, being the southeast corner of Broome street, 24x100, has been sold at private contract to Mr. Anthony Mowbray, for $110,000. Though the building now returns an income of about 10 per centum, it is understood that a large new warehouse is to be constructed there for a prominent silk importer.

Other business property in neighboring streets is also quite active, especially in Greene street, where Messrs. L. J & I. Phillips have sold two old buildings, between Spring and Prince streets, for $44,000, and a 25 foot first-class warehouse on the same street, between Broome and Spring streets, for $57,500. The same firm has sold other business property in Crosby and adjoining streets, on private terms; also a vacant lot on the south side of Eightieth street, between Madison and Fifth avenues, for $20,000.

No. 392 Bowery, 22.1x149, owned by Fernando Wood, has been sold by Mr. Fisher, for $18,500, to L. Morris.

Two very important sales of eligible lots on Madison avenue have been concluded at private contract during the week. Mr. Robert L. Stuart has sold to Mr. H. G. Marquand the northwest corner of that avenue and Sixty-eighth street, 120x100, for $150,000. Mr. M. intends to construct there a fine private residence for his own use. Messrs. Scott & Myers have sold the northeast corner of Madison avenue and Sixty-sixth street, 74x100, to Rev. Dr. Guilbert, of the Church of the Holy Spirit, for $75,000. A church, costing $60,000, is to be built upon the site.

Mr. Isaiah Myers has sold his fifteen lots at St. Nicholas avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street, four on the avenue, the remainder on the street, for $80,000, cash.

Mr. Max Weil has sold his six lots on the west side of Eighth avenue, 150 feet south of One Hundred and Thirty-third street, near St. Nicholas avenue, for $24,000.

Four lots, on the northeast corner of Ninth avenue and Nineteenth street, have been sold by Mr. Tingue, for $16,000.

It is reported that the block front on Fifth avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-fifth and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth streets—eight lots—has been disposed of for $85,000.

About eleven lots, including water rights, at One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Harlem River, have been sold by Mr. Charles Randell, for $24,000.

Mr. Brewster, of Plainfield, N. J., has purchased at private contract, four lots on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, 150 feet east of Eighth avenue, for $15,000. Two lots on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, and one lot on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, 100 feet east of Eighth avenue, have been sold together, for $12,000.

Mr. L. N. Fowler has sold, at private contract, during the week, a gore plot on the north side of One Hundred and Eleventh street, 75 feet west of the Boulevard, 101.3x48.4x112.2, to J. M. Lichtenauer, for $3,800, cash; also two lots, containing frame houses, on the north side of One Hundred and Fifth street, 125 feet west of Tenth avenue, 50x100.11, to C. B Thornal, for $9,000.

Four lots, on the south side of One Hundred and Fifteenth street, 300 feet east of Second avenue, have been sold for $9,200

Mr. Vernon K. Stevenson, Jr., has sold three lots on the south side of Ninetieth street, 100 feet east of Fifth avenue, to W. Richardson, for $37,500. He has also sold the following improved property: No. 622 Fifth avenue, 25x65x100, Columbia College lease (ground rent $800), for $55,000, to John W. Mesery; also to Mrs. Cooper, of Tarrytown, a house in Fifty-sixth street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, for $24,500.

Mr. S. M. Brown has sold, at private contract, No. 1965 Madison avenue, 19x55, near One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, to Mr. F. W. Wills, for $18,000.

We also hear of the sale of the following houses: No. 64 West One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, for $9,500, and a 15-foot house on Seventy-second street, between Madison and Fifth avenues, for $23,000.

The following are the sales at the Exchange Salesroom for the week ending January 13:

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Since our last regular report cost has increased somewhat on common hards, but there is an absence of any positive buoyancy, and the tone occasionally developes a little irregularity. Demand in fact, fluctuates with the condition of the weather as usual at this season, and operations after being almost entirely suspended for a few days, are likely under a sudden change of the elements to become very active in order to improve opportunities for pushing forward operations. Buyers, therefore, want brick, and want them quick, or are quite indifferent, and the feeling on values varies accordingly, the amount of stock also acting as factor to influence matters. Had the consumption not been lessened by the completion of some of the larger jobs and temporarily checked upon work still in progress, the supply of late would have been very small indeed, but a little careful management since the first of the year, has enabled customers to get about what they wanted and prevent any undue inflation of ideas among sellers, except a few who have been "talking" much higher rates than they have as yet found it possible to realize. As we write, the amount available is small, and for the best stock, including only a few Haverstraw's and Long Island's, about $9 per M is asked openly, but there is reason to believe that $8 50 would buy, and the call is not very sharp. Some few Jersey's are quoted at $8 per M, and a cargo of Pa'es sold at $4.50 per M, while extreme views of the situation as above indicated are not fully supported, it may be as well to add that there is nothing of a depressing cdaracter, and, in fact, if anything the advantage is with the seller. The North River supplies cannot be depended upon, Staten Island stock is about all frozen in, and while the weather might for a long time prove moderate enough to permit of consumtion with freedom, it does not of necessity follow that access would be gained to the above points. Such offerings, therefore, as could be made from other primary points, and the gradually diminishing accumulations would form the only base of supplies, and each draft made thereon must as a natural sequence strengthen its value.

CEMENT.—Demand is very good for domestic and with the comparatively moderate amount available, the general tone of the market pretty steady. As a rule, $1.25 per bbl is the quotation named, but stock can be reached at $1.15 per bbl. Foreign finds a seasonable demand, and on all the leading brands the line of valuation is well preserved. Stocks fair and pretty well under control.

LATH.—The market has been pretty well maintained until within a few days, and receivers were making a great show of firmness on the "expectation" of small receipts. Some way or another, however, they did not "expect" exactly right, as the arrival of several cargoes, mostly from Calais, brought an accumulation of four or five million lath on sale, with nobody over-anxious to purchase, and the result was a weakening on values, as the only means to secure customers. The price went back to $3 00 per M, and there stands at the moment, with the tone a little doubtful. Receivers say the tendency is toward a recovery of firmness, as the above mentioned arrivals cover about all due, while dealers, not being greatly pressed on the demand from consumers, are willing to stand off on the possibility that a few cargoes afloat for this port may have been overlooked, and drop in before it becomes necessary to purchase

LIME.—There not much Change in the position. Anything receivers may have to offer meets with immediate and prompt attention, and more could be placed if available. It has not, however, been considered judicious to make farther change in the price at the moment, and quotations remain as last given.

HARDWARE.—Operations have been at an almost complete stand still since our last, about the only business being upon orders received by mail for some little lot required to meet an urgent necessity. Dealers, however, are confident of the future, and look for an immediate revival of trade when once the year fairly opens. As usual at this season there is a large number of price lists under revision and from the numerous announcements during a couple of weeks past we select the following:

The discounts adopted at the recent meeting of manufacturers of Wood Screws were as follows: Flat Head, Iron, 50 per cent; Round Head, Iron, 45 do; Flat Head, Brass, 50 do; Round Head, Brass, 40 do The American Screw Company will issue the following discount sheet: Iron Black, Iron Tinned, 50 and 7½ per cent; Block and Carriage Rivets, 50 and 7½ do; Rivets in bulk, 30 and 7½ do; Burrs, 30 and 7½ do; Philadelphia Pattern Tire Bolts, new Philadelphia list, 70 and 10 do; Bay State Tire Bolts, common list, 80 and 5 do; Flat Head Iron Machine Screws, 60 do: Round, do, 55 do; Flat Head Brass do, 25 do; Round do, 10 do: Taps for Machine Screws, 35 do; Stove Bolts, 40 do; Sink Bolts, 40 do; Pointed Wires, 40 do; Tapped Nuts, 20 do; Hand Rail Screws, 60 and 10 do; Coach Screws (by the keg, 150 lbs.), 60 do; Fence Wire, No. 9, 3¾c per lb. net. They also have a revised list for Hand Rail Screws, showing prices per gross at 9@10; 11.25 and 12.25 for 4, 4½, 5 and 5½-inch lengths respectively, size 5-16 in 1 nut; 10.25, 11.25, 12.50 and 13.50 for same lengths, 5-16 in 2 nuts; 11.25, 12.50, 13.50 and 14.50 for 4½, 5, 5½ and 6-inch lengths respectively, size ⅜ in 1 nut; 13.50, 14.50, 15.75 and 16.75 for same lengths, size ⅜ in 2 nuts.

On Ives' Patent Burglar Proof Door Bolts there is a reduction of 10 per cent., the new discount standing at 50 per cent.

The Vise and Tool Manufacturers' Association have advanced the discount on Solid Box Vises to 30 per cent. and reduced Hammers and Sledges to 40 per cent. for Cast Steel and 30 per cent for steel face, the balance of the list remaining unchanged. The agents of Joshua Wilkinson & Son announce prices at 10c per lb. on Solid Wrought Anvils; 13½c. on Solid Box Wrought Vises; 11c. do. Wrought Steel-Faced Smith's Sledges; 11½c. do. for Smith's Hammers and Stone Sledges; 12½c. do. for Turnpike Hammers 2½ lbs. and over, and 13½c. for do under 2½ lbs.

The File manufacturers, according to previous agreement, will increase cost on one round Edge Mill Saw File 7½ per cent., and on two round Edges do. 15 per cent.

The rates on Augers and Bits, Chisels and Drawing Knives will remain unchanged by resolution of manufacturers. At a meeting of the Cast Butt Manufacturers discounts were fixed at 45 per cent. on Narrow Fast Joint Butts, 45 per cent. on Broad do., and 55 per cent. on Narrow and Broad Loose Joint Butts, all others remaining unchanged. It is announced that the quotation on Coe's Genuine Screw Wrenches will be 50 per cent. discount from list, and "Mechanics'" Wrenches will continue to rate at 10 per cent. less than the "Genuine."

On Copper Rivets and Burs there is a slight advance, the new discount standing at 33⅓ per cent.

The Eagle Lock Company announce that the list rates of the following numbers are advanced to catalogue list, viz.: No. 1,001, without keys, 3 60, 3.40, 3.20, 3.00, 2 80, 2 60, 2.40, 2 20, 2.00, 1 80, 1.70, 1.60, 1 50 and 1.50 for A B, etc., to O inclusive, and also place the discount for Cabinet Locks and Keys at 25 per cent.

The Stanley Rule and Level Company have issued a new discount sheet, and among the changes reported are: Sliding T Bevels, quoted 50 ⅌ cent. discount, Gauges 50 do. do; Plumbs and Levels, non-adjustable, 65 do. do; Boxwood Rules, 70 do. do; Ivory, do. do; and Try Squares, 50 do. do.

Henry Disston & Sons have issued a new catalogue, containing several additions to the line of goods offered and also changes in price, and have decided on a less complex form of discounts, the allowances now standing as follows: Pages 8 to 25, inclusive, 40 per cent.; do. 26 to 81, do. 20 do; do. 82 to 91, do. 40 do; page 92, Files, 40 do.

LUMBER.—On home account the demand does not greatly impove as yet, but the shipping calls are better, and a considerable amount of stock is under treaty at full prices. This includes parcels to go out from here, mostly white pine, and cargoes to load and sail direct from Southern yellow pine ports. So far as it goes, business appears to be in satisfactory condition on the general market, and dealers almost without exception speak in a cheerful, hopeful mood over the prospects for the winter trade, while many look for great activity and higher rates on the first flurry of the spring operations, in view of the liberal amount of work planned out. Some of the accumulations have been slightly broken, but as yet the amount of stock available is fair, both in quantity and assortment, and most of it available at market rates.

Spruce has a more or less nominal position. The offering of anything positively attractive would no doubt secure bids, and, in fact, receivers have found some inquiry from buyers anxious to ascertain how soon an offering may be expected, but the natural uncertainties of the season make it necessary to use much care in promising arrivals for any specified time, and operators do not come to an agreement readily. It is intimated that some lots have been quietly offered from yard at about as low as supplies can be reached afloat. By cargo the rates stand at about $17@18 for randoms, and from this up to $21@22 for specials.

White Pine has been offered to about the extent of the demand, but with no show of anxiety or pressure and holders generally remain quite firm in their views. Export indications are favorable and the local consumptive demand has of late assumed more promising features. Stocks in some cases are a little broken. We quote $17@20 per M. for West India shipping boards; $23@25 for South America do.; $15.50 @16 50 for box board; $17.00@17 50 for do. wide and sound do.

Yellow Pine does not sell to any extent from stock in hand, and it must also be a pretty nice random to command attention, with values on such offerings somewhat uncertain. Specifications for special cuts, etc, are coming in with freedom and agents are getting pretty full rates, especially when they will promise an early delivery. This, however, is rare, as the mills continue crowded with work on foreign orders unfilled. We quote random cargoes at about $23.50@25 per M.; ordered cargoes, $24@26 do.; green flooring boards, $24@25 do.; and dry do. do. $25@26. 0. Cargoes at the South $14@17 per M. for rough, and $19@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods have been offered with a trifle more freedom, but apparently the quality was not satisfactory and buyers moved indifferently. Anything at all attractive, however, is wanted. We quote at wholesale rates by carload about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do.; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do.; culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@47 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch. $25@27.50, and do. inch, $33@35 do.; hickory, $35@45 do., for Western, and $65@75 for good nearby stock.

Shingles find a fair shipping call and command former rates The home movement rather slow. We quote Cypress at about $6 for saps and $8.50@9 for hearts; pine shipping stocks, $4 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $2.50@4.50 for 16-inch, as to quality and to quantity. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30-inch, $16@22 25 for A and $28 75@33 25 for No 1; for 24-inch, $6 50@16 for A and $16.75@23 for No. 1; for 20-inch, $5@10.50 for A and $11 25@11 75 for No. 1

The yard trade is picking up again, and on the general assortment of goods called for full prices are readily obtained.

From among the lumber charters recently reported we select the following:

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

Lumberman's Gazette.

The market is quiet, but few transactions being noted. Prices remain firm, and confidence in their maintenance prevails. The inactivity of the past week is not unusual at this time of the year, when business men generally are balancing their books and giving more attention to the settlement of accounts than the placing of orders. Two or three lots have been sold at $7, $14 and $32, which are the prevailing figures, with a variation of a half dollar either way. Shingles are inactive, but salt is in good demand, and shipments active.

The weather continues favorble for logging operations, with an addition of snow during the week. The conditions could not well be more favorable for operations, and all the logs the mills can cut are likely to be got in, but whether they will be got out of the streams is likely to be a problem. There has been no rain since October, and but little snow, so that the streams can hardly be at a high stage when the break-up comes. There are several months yet before that time comes, and favorable changes may occur.

We make the following extracts from the Chicago Northwestern Lumberman:

CHICAGO.

Having reached the close of the year, we may take a retrospective view of the receipts and shipments for 1880, which, according to the figures that have been available from week to week, aggregated on December 1, 1880, as compared with 1879, as follows:

	Receipts		Shipments.
	Lumber.	Shingles.	Lumber	Shingles.
1880..	1,534,282,000	645,60 ,000	803,732,763	123,342,000
1879..	1,440,244,897	660,518,000	735,176,595	143,546,000

These figures are subject to a final revision, which may result in the discovery of errors changing the total result, although they may be assumed to be correct enough for all practical purposes From them it will be seen that the total receipts of 1880 exceed those of 1879 by 94,037,103 feet of lumber, while the receipts of shingles decreased to the extent of 14,918,000. The figures of shipments are, as has often been stated in these columns, based upon a well-known error in averaging car loads at an amount fully 4,000 feet less than the actual contents, and, adhering to our custom of the past year, we increase them by the addition of four-sevenths of the gross. By this means we ascertain the shipments of the year 1880 to have been 1,261,908,627 feet of lumber as compared with 1,155,277,507 feet in 1879, an increase in the trade of 1880 of 106,631,120 feet, or in the neighborhood of 9 per cent. As these figures deal only with the shipments out of the City, and take no account of the sales for city and nearby consumption, they are, of course, incomplete, and are of value only as showing the extent of the Chicago trade with the outside world. With the report of stocks on hand January 1, which will shortly be prepared, we shall be able to sum up the total trade of the season.

Business at the yards is quiet, but a good feeling prevails, with great hopefulness regarding the future. Cars are becoming more plenty, and the general prospect for the future is cheering.

HARDWOODS.—Trade has improved since the holidays, and inquiries are quite numerous. Arrivals have been light, and have included but very little dry stock. From men who have looked through Indiana and Missouri we learn that dry walnut is scarce, and some lots of it are held unreasonably high. That the price here will decline no one believes, and manufacturers will doubtless be obliged to pay present prices for greener stuff. That will involve an extra expense for drying, which will add to the cost of the wares made from it. Some of the minor furniture manufacturers take rather a gloomy view of it. They insist that the price of furniture must be higher, or lumber lower, else the profit of manufacturing will not be sufficiently large to make it a paying business. They undoubtedly take a correct view of it; but just how the prospects can be brightened, none of them know. We know, however, that some of them would readily step out of their present business tracks into others, did the opportunity offer.

For the first time we hear of contracts of considerable size being made for red oak. As the readers of the Lumberman will remember, we have said much in favor of this neglected wood, and we think that it is high time that it should receive more prominent attention. We recently saw an order for 1,000,000 feet of hardwood that was placed in hands of an agent, who operates largely and travels extensively, to be filled, and fully half of it was for dimension in red oak. Yet it is a common occurrence to receive letters at this office asking if red oak is marketable. There is a large supply of it in Michigan and Wisconsin, in fact, in nearly every State, but the owners have looked upon it so long as worthless that it is hard for them to change their minds. Again, because they have been unable to readily contract it standing, leads them to believe that it is not so much wanted after all. That indicates nothing. Seasoned hardwoods, of any kind, would not go begging for buyers, but manufacturers, by a large majority, buy from month to month, if not oftener, and when they want a bill of lumber standing trees will not fill it. But there are some contracts to be obtained if the men who own red oak will keep their eyes open. Some time ago a gentleman advertised in this paper for upwards of a half million feet, but for some reason he was unable to obtain it. The favorite hardwoods have become scarce to such an extent that other kinds must take their place. Walnut, cherry and white oak must be superceded to a great extent by red oak, birch and gum. Some of the manufacturers protest against the inevitable, but this will neither help them nor postpone the change.

The cooper business took a holiday a week long, and it is not particularly lively yet. About the only active demand is for whiskey barrels, and the snug weather and low prices made the men indifferent about turning them out rapidly. But few staves are coming to market, and prices are unchanged.

In Cleveland the demand is active and prices firm. The yards handle about 10,000,000 feet yearly, and their stock of dry lumber just now is small. Almost any price can be obtained for fine dry walnut, in small quantities. Standing timber in that vicinity is held at good round prices, and we hear of 16 cents per foot being offered and refused for oak piles.

The Northwestern Lumberman has the following on the work in the woods:

Up to the present time, the reports which have come in from the districts where the work of getting out the raw material, that during the coming season will be converted into lumber and shingles, is going on, have been nearly all of one kind. They have told, with a unanimity that must be gratifying to the owners of saw mills, of an abundance of snow, cold weather, and good roads—in fact, of a combination of all the favorable conditions that are needed to make the work easy and rapid. That what has so far been accomplished has been as easily and as rapidly done as could reasonably be expected, everyone knows that is at all familiar with logging operations. The cold weather set in early, and where it has not been followed by an abundant snow fall, has continued steadily enough to admit of the making of capital ice roads, which are generally as good as snow ones, and in some situations even considered superior to them. It is only natural that the loggers should take advantage of all these favorable circumstances, and tha they should strain every nerve to make the most of them. Every reader of the Lumberman knows enough of the disposition of the average operator in the woods to know this, and enough of his capabilities to know that he has been measurably successful in achieving his purpose. It is no doubt safe to say that the Northwestern loggers have as much of their work done as they ever had at this time in the season, and the Lumberman is under the impression that it is considerably farther advanced than it has been to this date in any preceding year. The advices from the principal streams, which we print in another column, bear us out in this supposition. They report the camps all busy, and as they have been in that condition a number of weeks, and as the advancement of the work they have to do has been interfered with by no serious drawbacks, it is not unfair to suppose that they have a good part of the stock they propose to put in, already banked.

The progress already made, and the favorable conditions that exist for continuing the work, render it almost certain that a full stock of logs will be banked in all parts of the Northwest. What this stock will be, or in what proportion it will exceed that of last year, it is impossible now to determine. The only thing about it that is certainly known is that it will be large, and probably large beyond all precedent. Our Muskegon correspondent informs us that it would not be surprising if 800,000,000 feet was banked on that stream alone. In other parts of Michigan, and in Wisconsin on both sides of the State, it is the manifest intention of the loggers to put in an immense supply, and where the present capacity for handling and manufacturing it is inadequate, provision is being made to increase it. It is claimed, to be sure, that in many cases the loggers and mill men have already reached the limit of their ability to manufacture lumber, and that any increase in the log supply over last season will not therefore imply that more lumber will be cut; but, while this may be good theory, the developments of the coming months may show that its correctness will not be borne out by the results. While the Lumberman would not like to assert positively that such is the fact, it greatly fears that if the logs are cut and banked, some way will be found to get them to the mill, and to manufacture them afterward.

The reports from sections outside the Northwest show that equally favorable conditions exist therein. The work in the Canadian logging district is progressing finely, and the operators there, as in other places, are striving to do all they can. Taken altogether, the logging season so far has been one of the best that was ever known, and the outlook promises that it will continue so.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER,
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.,

The extreme cold weather of the past ten days might naturally be expected to nearly stop all the wholesale as well as retail lumber business, but as a matter of fact St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis and all the other wholesale markets have shipped about as much lumber as they did last fall. The papers all say that it is on account of old orders which the want of cars has forced to lay over, but we are satisfied that the demand for lumber is the chief cause. As fast as the farmers can get room to deposit their extra millions of bushels of wheat and get their pay for it, they will buy and pay for lumber to improve their houses, barns and fences.

The railroad problem at Chicago will continue to absorb all attention until it is determined whether another year's war on rates is to disturb all the markets or not. This matter is considered elsewhere in the paper and no later advices are at hand, except that a small reduction has been made on lumber rates from river points and Chicago, on lumber ordered for the use of the western railroads. Chicago is shipping a little less than two million. St. Louis nearly a million and both doing all that the railroads will permit. Hannibal is behind with orders and short on assortments. Even Minneapolis has hardly been able to get cars enough to keep up with orders in this extreme Minnesota weather.

From all parts of the pineries comes the cheerful news that the loggers are doing a splendid business, with plenty of snow for good hauling and a big start on the work of one year ago. We estimate that there is ten to fifteen per cent. more logs on the bank Jan. 1st., than there was one year ago.

The annual statement of the last year's business, which we have nearly ready, will show more business done and less stock on hand, than any year during the last ten. Prices are firm and likely to remain so unless the railroads upset the market by cutting rates west from Chicago.

THE EAST.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin has the following:

There is not much activity in Western lumber, but there is more inquiry than last week, and were it not for the influence of the bad weather there would be a fair business in progress. There has been very few arrivals. Eastern lumber is in good demand for this season, notwithstanding the check occasioned by bad weather. Southern hard pine is firm, with upward tendency, though with an absence of local demand.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trades Journal of Dec. 25th, says:

Although pitch pine timber has been selling freely at 68s., we hear that, in consequence of the satisfaction which recent shipments from that port have given, 70s. has been obtained for a cargo of Pascagoula.

The reports of the journal upon business generally refer to the prostrating influence of the holiday season, and the following covering the Liverpool market is a fair sample of all the other principal depots:

The close approach of the Christmas holidays has already had the effect of retarding business, and comparatively little has been done during the past week in the way of making sales. This is likely to be the condition of trade until the new year is well turned, when buyers may be expected to make their usual large purchases for the spring and early summer months, but at present only small orders are the rule in the trade, and these for urgent and special wants. There is evidence of a slightly better tone in the deal market, but it may be only temporary, and as the stocks on hand are ample, manufacturers abroad must not be buoyed up with the hope that high rates are going to be had, as was the case last year. Buyers will be very chary of business for some time to come, seeing how widely the season's import has varied from the condition it was so persistently said it would be; that is to say, we are not to have any but a very moderate production, and yet the import has been exceedingly large.

On the 17th inst. Messrs. A. F. & D. Mackay offered one cargo of spruce deals withdrawn from the previous sale, and about 580 logs Miramichi birch and other hardwoods. The competition was fairly brisk, and a decided improvement was shown in the sellers' favor, the advance being probably about 2s. 6d. per standard beyond what would have been the case the previous week. The prices realized were:

Spruce deals, St. John, N. B.—16 to 26 ft., 3x11, £7 15s to £7 17s 6d; 12 to 15 ft., 3x11, £7 7s 6d; 9 to 11 ft., 3x11, £7 5s; 16 to 26 ft., 3x9, £7 10s to £7 15s; 12 to 15 ft., 3x9, £7 2s 6d to £7 5s; 9 to 11 ft., 3x9, £6 17s 6d to £7; 16 to 26 ft., 3x7, £6 12s 6d; 12 to 15 ft., 3x7, £6 10s; 9 to 11 ft., 3x7, £6 5s; 9 to 23 ft., 2½x7, £7 7s 6d; 9 to 20, ft., 3x15, £7 17s 6d; 9 to 23 ft., 3x14, £7 7s 6d; 9 to 25 ft., 3x13, £7 5s; 9 to 22 ft., 3x12, £7 7s 6d; 9 to 19 ft., 3x10, £7 5s; 9 to 26 ft., 3x8, £6 15s to £6 17s 6d; 9 to 22 ft., 2½ and 3x6, £6 17s 6d; boards, rough, £6 to £6 2s 6d; Scantling, £6 5s; Deal ends, £6; Palings, 80s. per 1,200 pieces.

Only about about 100 logs Miramichi birch were sold, at prices ranging from 12d to 13d per ft., the remainder being withdrawn.

This week's mail from Havana reports:

Fair demand, at from $34@35 per mille feet, for white pine, of which one cargo has arrived on contract; stock of pitch pine continues scanty and we anticipate $35@36 per mille feet for the first disposable cargo of desirable quality to come in.

NAILS.—No demand to speak of on home account either local or shipping, and business extremely dul all around. A few parcels called for to complete export orders, but not enough to have any influence upon the tone or character of the market. Supplies are ample and well assorted, and as a rule offered without hesitation. The recent list rates remain current, and are generally called steady.

We quote 10d to 60d common fence and sheathing, per keg, $2 90@3; 8d and 9d, common do, per keg, $3 25@3 35; 6d and 7d, common do, per keg $4.50@4 60; 4d and 5d, common do, per keg, $3 75@3 85; 3d and 4d, light, per keg, $4 50@4.60; 3d, fine, per keg, $5.25@5.35; 2d, per keg, $5 25@5 35.

Cut spikes, all sizes, $3.25@3 35. Floor, Casing and Box, $3.75@4.25. Finishing, $4@4.75.

CLINCH NAILS.

1½ inch, $5.50@5.60; 1¾ inch, $5.25@5.35; 2 inch, $5@5.10; 2¼@2¾ inch, $4.75@4 85; 3 inch and longer, $4.50@4.65.

PAINTS AND OILS.—There has been no movement to speak of on the general market, and the reports are without features of interest for the time being. A hopeful tone is assumed respecting the future, and it is expected that the trade will work more in unison for the support of values on standard goods when business gets fairly under way again. On the general range values show no positive variation, but there is still more or less irregularity in the cost of leads and zincs. Linseed oil not very active, and the actual movement confined mainly to small lots for immediate use. Buyers have been making some effort to secure contracts for future delivery, but the rates at which they bid are below sellers' views and not much business is accomplished. We quote at about 55@56c. for City and 60@61c. for Calcutta, from first hands.

PITCH.—A moderate demand reported from all quarters and the market without new features worthy of note. Stocks are ample. We quote at $2@2 15 per bbl. for City, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Supplies have continued under close control, and holders offered very indifferently with values naturally well sustained. The demand, however, was somewhat checked by the extreme cost, and business lacked animation on both the wholesale and jobbing markets. As this report is closed, the quotations stand at about 47½@49c per gallon, according to the quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—Business without much animation and confined to the ordinary wants of the regular trade. Stocks, however, remain under control, and the line of valuation is kept up to a fairly steady level, no further recent reduction having been made. We quote $2.50@3 for Newbern and Washington, and $2 75@3 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

No. 137 BROADWAY

Investors and dealers who have been visiting Harlem and the annexed district during the past ten days, and have gone back to their homes and offices without securing the property they were looking after, should remember that the real estate market has indeed entered upon a new phase. It is of no use to clamor now that these and those lots could be had for such and such a price one or two years ago. All this has been changed since then. Real estate is at last feeling the effect of the prosperity that has been making itself felt in various lines of trade and business, and the surplus fund thus accumulated in the various banks by individual merchants and others has for more than a twelve-month past been seeking a safe outlet for investment. The present high prices of railroad and other securities has at last driven investors to real estate, which, having been neglected until the very last moment, has at last come to the front. It is there now and will stay there, and, while this lasts, it is of no use to allude to the prices of one or two years ago.

GROUND FLOOR INVESTMENTS.

While the general public is making money, by buying stocks and bonds at present market prices, it should be borne in mind that the largest profits are made by the inside rings, who are constructing the new transportation lines. In connection with Jay Gould and all the large railroad men, are certain favored capitalists, who are apprised of these new undertakings. Thus, the new extension of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road is in the hands of a construction company and the capital is already subscribed, the shares commanding a very high premium. So with the new road to Mexico. These construction accounts are never open for public competition. They are the profits in advance of the great operators and their special friends. Some of the quotations of premiums on these favored securities tell their own story. Central Construction of the American Union Telegraph sells from $1.00 to $1.25; Lackawana and Western extension is from $27 to $32 premium; New Orleans Pacific subscription $13 and $16 premium; Texas Pacific subscription, $12 to $13¼ premium; American Railway Improvement, $42 to $49 premium; American Union Cable, $5 to $15 premium; Iron Steamboat subscriptions, $3½ to $5¼ premium; Mexican National Railway, $3 to $3½ premium; International Improvement, $32 to $39 premium, and this list might be indefinitely extended. The most profitable of these enterprises are never made public. These insiders, with their construction bonds, every time come ahead of the first mortgage bonds. They are often paid in first mortgage bonds to the amount of their subscription and stock as a gratuity besides. It would be an instructive chapter in the railroad building of this country, if it could be found out how much actual money was paid in by the original constructors of a railroad, and then a comparison be made between that sum and the amount of the mortgage bonds and stocks floated upon the public. Our methods of building railroads is very wasteful. There is a vast piling up of bonds and stocks, for which the public have to pay and of which a great deal is the purest fiction. It is the productive industry of the country which is finally taxed, to give vitality to these fictitious capitals. These construction companies help to make the rich richer, but the bulk of the community must assume the burden at last. It should be borne in mind that all taxation, whether corporate or national, comes finally upon land and upon labor, and the fact that land has to share so much of these burdens is why we refer to it in these columns.

REGISTER'S OFFICE.

If the authorities question the expediency of erecting a new building for the valuable records now in the old building, let some of them visit the place at this time when it is deluged throughout with water, and Mr. Docharty has been compelled to have the books piled up promiscuously in such dry corners as were available. Great damage would have been done the records in this instance if he had not personally and promptly taken the measures for their protection.

THE TELEGRAPH SITUATION.

At length the tardy and short-sighted people who control the daily press are beginning to call for a government ownership of the telegraph system of the country. In no other country on earth, save the United States, is this indispensable agent of modern civilization permitted to be the football for stock speculators.

The Herald now mildly favors the building of telegraph wires by the Government. The great majority of the newspapers, however, will never dare to take any such position, as they are completely under the control of the speculative operators in the telegraph stocks.

It is rumored that W. H. Vanderbilt was very much astonished when, on signing the papers, he discovered that the whole telegraph system had passed out of his hands into those of Jay Gould. Justly, or unjustly, Mr. Vanderbilt is an object of detestation in the "street." It is charged that his best friends and members of his own family were losers by his telegraph deal with Jay Gould. Mr. Vanderbilt's great wealth is of itself sufficient to make him not only feared but hated. It is the penalty of all greatness to be envied or detested. And neither Jay Gould nor W. H. Vanderbilt have as yet linked their names with any enterprise which has for its object the good of mankind.

From present appearances, we judge the consolidation will be effected, and that the agitation for new telegraph lines will quiet down. We presume the Western Union will be wise enough to deal liberal with the public, for the present at least. It can do this and pay 6 per cent. upon the eighty million of capital. There is no rivalry that can affect the companies for two years to come. The Government will not act during this short session, and any new company could not get into successful operation in less than two years.

There are two small companies in existence, one called the American Rapid Company, which has lines from Boston to Washington, and which uses the automatic system; the Mutual Union Company is a more important organization, but its lines, as yet, extend only from Boston to Philadelphia. It will be to Washington before spring. The first National Bank is behind this last company, and it means business. Its original intention was to supply wires for private firms who wish to deal directly with their agencies in other cities. But, having poles and wires, it could easily go into the general news business. There are no independent wires west of the seaboard cities not controlled by the combination, save alone the Government wires, connecting with distant and unprofitable weather stations. Insiders, say that Western Union stock is good for 125; that it is, in fact, the best purchase on the list. The leading manipulators will make a great deal of money out of this deal, but the final upshot will be the Government control of the whole telegraph system.

A GREAT SOUTHWESTERN COMBINATION.

The "street" is full of stories of great railway consolidations. The latest is that the Iron Mountain, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and Texas Pacific, with connecting branches, is to be formed into one gigantic company, the stock of all the companies to be converted into one bond and one stock, covering the whole of Texas except the roads running from Denison south to Galveston, that is, the Houston & Central as well as the minor roads which lead to the Mississippi and to Galveston. In other words, all the roads which lead south and southwest into Texas which connect that state with St. Louis and Chicago and continue to Mexico and California, through Arizona, are to be under one general management. There is, however, one rival in the future, the St. Louis& San Francisco is running a road south from a point in Missouri, near the Indian Territory line, which is to go through the Choctaw country and which will probably in time connect with the Houston & Texas Central. This latter road, by the way, ought to belong to the Iron Mountain & Missouri, Kansas & Texas combination, as it is the natural route south through Central Texas for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and all its connections, but by the will of the late Commodore Morgan, the majority of the stock is held in trust for the Morgan estate, to be used for the benefit of the steamship lines which connect Southwestern Texas with New Orleans and New York. In other words, this road runs South to feed the steamship lines. It will be impossible for Jay Gould to capture this Houston road, but there is nothing to prevent it connecting with the St. Louis & San Francisco as soon as the latter has completed its line through the Indian Territory to some point south of Denison. As the San Francisco is also running west to the Pacific coast, it is not likely to be soon controlled by Jay Gould.

It may be that these reports of a consolidation are premature, but according to all precedent they are certain to take place. The combined roads can be managed more economically, the connections can be built with less danger of competition at important points, and through connections can be made in time between St. Louis and the City of Mexico as well as San Francisco, via the Texas Pacific. The last road has a very valuable land grant and is properly a continuation of the Iron Mountain road. The great increase in the population of Texas, its growing importance as a vast cotton and corn field, the constantly increasing demand for its myriads of cattle all promise an enormous business for the existing roads as well as whatever branches can be built during the coming five years. No matter what the fluctuations may be, or how many raids may be made upon the stock, the properties themselves are bound to become more valuable month by month. The railroad building alone demanding so large an amount of supplies from a distance will pay all the roads handsomely. But this proposed combination of all the Southwestern roads is only another illustration of what has taken place in the Louisville & Nashville systems, in the Granger stocks and in connection with all the trunk lines.

LOOKING AFTER THE WELLS.

The Sanitary Inspectors of the Twelfth, Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards have been instructed to examine the wells in their districts to discover their number, their liability to contamination, the effect of the water in these wells upon the health of those using them and the deaths probably attributable to them. If this inquiry is made with judgment it will benefit these great and growing wards, wards which have so much of a future before them. Indeed, this district extends from Eighty-sixth street to Yonkers on the one side and to Woodlawn on the other. There ought to be thorough drainage in this entire region before there is much more buildng. It seems the Park Department is severly blamed by the Health Board for its neglect to comply with the provisions of the law which requires it to take proceedings to construct drains when directed by the Health Board. There is a law which provides for the drainage of the wet lands in New York City. The Health Department has had five separate districts examined and prepared maps of the drains required and the land necessary to be taken for them. Two of these have been sent to the Department of Public Works and three to the Park Department. To the latter have been sent the maps of the Mill Brook district, the Bungay drainage and the Monteray swamp, while the Department of Public Works has in its possession the maps for draining the pestilent region east and west of Eighth avenue above One Hundred and Forty-fifth street.

We are commencing a year of great activity in building. Let the departments having the matter in charge see to it, that the ground on which buildings are erected has been properly drained. It would help all the property of New York if it was known that active measures were being taken to clear the city of the pestilence which arises from the wet lands.

IS A THREE PER CENT. GOVERNMENT BOND DESIRABLE?

We say no. Decidedly no. And for the following reasons:

I. This is a new country with undeveloped resources. Capital is needed in every direction and for every conceivable purpose, legitimate and illegitimate. It follows that a three per cent. Government bond could only be temporarily, if at all, kept at par, and as soon as business became normal we would see our Government bonds quoted at a discount instead of at a premium.

II. A three per cent. bond would only add fuel to the flames of speculation, which is now raging so fiercely. It would make everything else seem so cheap, that prices would go up inordinately to a height which could not be maintained and a panic would thus be produced prematurely. Hence every conservative interest in the country should discountenance in all legitimate ways this artificial lowering of interest or rather this undue appreciation of the value of a Grovernment debt.

III. Three per cent. for Governments at par, is little short of a calamity to a numerous and most worthy class of our population. It is a direct injury to the provident poor who have money in savings banks and to widows and orphans who expect to live upon moneys invested in first class securities. It is a serious matter also in these times of rising prices, for a family to have their income reduced from seven per cent. upon their investment to a little over three. When we take into account the vast sums invested in Governments, in savings banks and in trust companies, it will be found that the most helpless and deserving class of our population will have their standard of comfort lowered, which will force them into the labor market as competitors.

IV. And, finally, we oppose the attempt to lower the rate of interest to three per cent., because it would be injurious to the best interests of the country. It is utterly preposterous to suppose that a five or ten year bond bearing three per cent. interest can be floated. Were the taxation taken off banks, it is just possible that for the profit upon circulation, they might exchange their overdue Governments for three per cents. But outside of the banks and for this special purpose, there could be no serious demand.

It is, of course, desirable that we should refund at a lower rate of interest the bonds coming due this year. But the condition of the money market ought to give the figures at which Government bonds can be marketed. Our point is that, even if it were practical, it is not desirable to reduce the rate of interest to three per cent.; for were it possible to accomplish this, it would be bad for the whole land-investing interest. Rents would fall off to four per cent., the middle class would be impoverished, people with fixed incomes and salaries would get a smaller reward for their investments and work, in fact every one would suffer but the very rich, the magnitude of whose operations would more than make up for the reduction in the returns of their investments.

A TRIUMPH OF HARD WORK AS WELL AS OF SPECULATION.

We can but confirm this week the intelligence furnished in these columns in regard to the supreme management of the consolidated telegraph companies. It will be Jay Gould's management, and his only. That is to say, the system upon which the vast machine is to be run will be of his conception, under his supervision and his control. It is true, indeed, that the full details of consolidation, which, after all, are only of secondary importance, cannot be given to the public through the columns of the daily press, for the very simple reason that the editors of these papers do not, themselves, know the details. We go further, by saying, and have good reason for saying it, that Dr. Norvin Green, himself, does not know how the details of the future management are to be arranged. Of one thing the community may be sure, and that is, that Mr. Jay Gould will be the real telegraph manager of the country. And, in this connection, let us remind our readers that this extraordinary genius has, in the management of the American Union Company, displayed a tact, inaugurated a system, and infused an energy such as has never before been noticed in the control of a concern—young in years, and which had to fight a wealthy corporation of years of repute and standing. And more than this, could the full history of this American Union Company be written, our readers would stand astounded at the tremendous obstacles that were thrown in its way from its very start, how it had to fight its way, almost foot by foot, in the highways and by-ways of the various cities of the Union and in the courts of the several states. Many a concern would long ago, dismayed and disheartened, have given up the fight and surrendered the attempt, but the enterprise upon which Mr. Gould set his heart and indomnitable will went on and onward, until it reached the goal of success. To do all this work, he alone put his hands in his pockets, but not only did he furnish the capital, he also selected his lieutenants, and dictated the system and policy that have brought about the astounding result of the picture we now contemplate, viz., the smaller whale swallowing the larger one. While this American Union was still in its swaddling clothes, it was taught the great lesson of economy, unflagging industry and wholesome moral courage to resist and overcome all obstacles in and outside of the courts. It is a mistake to look, in an enterprise like this, simply at the Wall street speculative manœuvres, that either aided or abetted this success. Whenever those who stand among the outside public, if ever they will, learn the history of the management of this concern, how carefully the infant was nursed from the very outset, and how rapidly it was taught to stand on its own legs, go right along and rely upon itself only, it will be admitted that the speculative financial manœuvres were mere by-play, and that the actual success is mainly due to the training of the infant. The service has been as complete and perfect as telegraphic service can be. Officials, high and low, were at their respective posts early and late, day after day, regardless of holidays. Electricians and operators of skill only were and are employed in this concern, and the price of common labor was kept at its very lowest possible standard.

And now that success has attended such management, can any one doubt how the business of the consolidated companies will be controlled? It may be the voice of a Green or an Eckert that will preside, nominally, over its destinies, but, at all times, it will be the hand of Gould, and, in less than six months old Commodore Vanderbilt will turn in his grave and wonder how the greatest enemy he possessed has virtually become the real heir, if not of his capital, then, indeed, of the power that accompanied that capital. Bearing these matters in view, stockholders may rest assured that the system of economy, hard work, energy, perseverance and the seeking of public favor by low rates, which has brought the American Union to its powerful position, will be strictly maintained in the management of the consolidated telegraph companies. Jay Gould is not only a speculator, he is an executive officer of the very first order. He cares not for the glory of reputation, but he does care for the power that follows practical magnificent results.

SANITARY SCIENCE IN ITS RELATIONS TO LAND OWNING AND BUILDING.

Owners of real estate, as well as would-be investors, would do well to take cognizance of the publications made in the interest of sanitary reform. The public are deeply interested in the question of health. Sanitary reformers, health boards and physicians, have, through numerous publications, shown how important is the proper location of houses, sewerage and plumbing. The Health Board maps of the healthy and unhealthy portions of New York City are becoming better known every day. There was a time when a person bought or occupied a house without any reference to local conditions of health. Sickness was supposed to be a visitation of God, and the invisible powers were blamed, rather than the wet soil, the imperfect sewerage or the defective plumbing. But the notion that disease comes from anger of an offended Deity is fast giving place to the belief that, if we have healthful surroundings and live proper lives, we may escape diptheria, consumption, fever and many of the ills to which flesh is now heir. This is a matter that builders, among others, may as well carefully consider. There are plenty of locations in and around New York that are normally healthful, where there is no malaria or where, if there is, proper sewerage and underdraining will make healthful. There are others again which are necessarily hot beds of disease. The tendency of legislation is in the direction of holding owners of property, who are careless of their tenant's health, to a stern accountability. In a Chicago court, recently, a Mr. Clausen, whose family suffered from sewer gas poison, has sued his landlord for $5,000. He proved that the house he lived in had a wooden drain, was made of two-inch plank, had no openings for ventilations and, at one time, fifty houses were connected with it. The drain was almost level and had not been cleaned since built. There were no traps in the house. Mr. Clausen's child was sick and he paid $400 for medical attendance. We should not be surprised were the case to go against the landlord, for it is clear that the houses built were not such as human beings ought to live in. People, about to buy houses, would do well to make rigid inquiry into the history of the property, for it is barely possible that, some time in the future, they may be held liable to their tenants, if there is defective plumbing or the connection with the sewers are out of order.

It is somewhat unfortunate that, in the upper part of New York, land, where the soil has been recently turned up, there is danger of more or less malaria, but it is susceptible of proof that wherever there has been underdrainage and the streets have been curbed, guttered and sewered, that there the poisoning of the air ceases and the neighborhood becomes healthy. We presume there must be more or less sickness in all the newly built districts of the city. We know that when the boulevards were constructed, the West Side was especially unwholesome, but with the underdraining that has since taken place, we believe that in the future the western and northwestern part of the city will be as healthful as it is known to be down-town. A little attention to these matters in the building of houses, to-day, will save people from sickness in the future, and will, moreover, prevent pecuniary demands upon property holders who invest in new buildings.

WHAT EX-GOVERNOR McCOOK SAYS.

"Governor," said the writer, "how about mining in Colorado?"

"I expect," he replied, "to start in three hours for Denver, where I reside. I have had a good deal to do with mining and made some money, and I regard Colorado as a great state for the mining interests."

"You were, I believe," said the writer, "Governor for two terms, once as a territory and afterwards as a State. You must have your preference as to what is the most profitable part of Colorado. What do you say to the San Juan region?"

"Well," replied the Governor, "I have tested my luck in all the principal camps in the State, and I prefer the Clear Creek country, Gilpin County. San Juan undoubtedly has a great future, but then it is inaccessible. For six months of the year it is snowed out from the rest of the world, and my experience has been that it is unprofitable to work mines in very cold regions. Why, half of your men in the mines are on the sick list, for there the thermometer is often ten or fifteen degrees below zero, while in the mines the thermometer marks 46 to 48. The air is thin and the miner, on emerging from the warm levels of the mine, catches cold and is laid up with pneumonia and other disorders; so that you work under very great disadvantages. As the country becomes settled, especially if railroads are constructed, San Juan will loom up as a very important mineral region, but I prefer to put my money where there is a prospect of a more certain reward."

"You prefer, then, the Clear Creek country? Why, I have understood that the rock in that region from the Hukill mine, near Colorado Spring, up to the Terrible mine, and beyond, is of a very hard character and unprofitable to work."

Here the Governor smiled and said, "the hardness I think, is in the people who are running the mines. If they were entirely honest and served the companies as faithfully as they would themselves, there are plenty of mines in the Clear Creek country which would earn handsome dividends, but the system of robbing that is going on is simply appalling. Take a superintendent who, in his own home, is an honest, straightforward, upright man, put him out in a mining region away from society, from public opinion, without any supervision or responsibility and he acts very queerly. His supplies cost too much, his labor roll is too large, there is waste in everything. Now, I own the Snowdrift mine. I am forced to go on the spot and work it myself. In my mine there is a narrow streak of ore that is very rich. Without the most careful supervision the workmen can rob me of my property. They can take home in their dinner pails several dollars worth of ore a day; they can put it in their pantaloons pockets and there is a good sale for it at the custom mills. All these things have to be looked after, and it seems impossible to do it through hired superintendents."

Said the writer, "How about Dunderberg, Hukill, Bobtail, Freeland and the other Clear Creek country mines on this market?"

But the Governor declined to express an opinion Just now he admitted they were all frozen in. He did not think that much could be done before the first of May. The Creek was all ice and would not work a mill. He said there was more gold and silver than ever taken out of the mines on the North and South Clear Creek country, but he declined to say anything about any special mines.

GOSSIP OF THE STREET.

"What are the prospects for the Funding Bill," said the writer to a person who has unusual facilities for knowing how things are going at Washington.

"There'll be no funding bill passed this session," was the reply. "As it passed the House, the funding bill is a blow aimed at the national banks. It is intended to force them to take a loan at three per cent., which is not worth that figure on the open market. Now, the national banks are very powerful and are largely represented, both in the Senate and House, by their directors and attorneys. Then, there are the holders of the bonds to be converted; these represent over $600,000,000. They, of course, would like the five and six per cent. interest to continue for another year, and hence that money power will fight against the refunding bill. Then there is the First National Bank of New York, Secretary Sherman's pet. For reasons of its owns this very powerful institution is opposed to refunding. This corporation knows how to effect legislation, and is as powerful as the press of the entire country. There are, therefore, these three interests, the national banks, the holders of the bonds falling due this year, and the First National Bank, which are opposed to the bill that has passed the lower House. There will be no refunding. But Congress at present, in considering the matter, is simply playing into the hands of the great bull speculators."

"Why is Erie so weak," asked the writer of a gentleman, supposed to know something about that stock.

"Well," he answered, "all the arguments would seem to point to higher figures. The business is large and profitable, a dividend will certainly be paid upon the preferred shortly, and the statement will show that four per cent. be paid upon the common stock next May. But the Delaware & Lackawanna extension to Buffalo is progressing rapidly, and this will affect the price of Erie when the competition begins. If the bull campaign continues, it may be taken in hand and go to sixty."

"How about the coal stocks?" asked the writer of a banker, who has made them a specialty.

"All will go to much higher figures," he replied. "I have] heard say that Delaware & Hudson will sell to 140. It is understood the Twenty-third street crowd are buying it. New Jersey Central is also a purchase, because of its connection with the Baltimore & Ohio which will yet prove very profitable. New Jersey Central will be out of the hands of a receiver before April.

ABOUT MINING.

There has been a great deal of activity in Bull Domingo. It is said some 50,000 shares changed hands during the past week. Some very large houses are dealing in this stock. It has been strongly held by people connected with the New York Central Railroad. The price fluctuated between $2.60 and $3.75. We mentioned last week that the raid was engineered to clean out a weak holder. This, we understand, has been accomplished.

This stock was originally marketed at $7.50 and $10, and as high as $12 has been paid for it. The present figures are not encouraging to the original subscribers. One theory of the dealing in the stock is, that it has been made active, so that large holders can unload.

FATHER DE SMET.

Last spring, when the stock of this company was being marketed at $20, through the agency of the Bank of California, we warned investors against touching it because its destinies were in the control of Archie Borland. Had our warning been heeded investors would have saved their money. The stock has since went down to $5, although lately, we believe, it has been quoted at $6 and $7. It is now reported that the enormous debt of $200,000 saddled on the mine by Borland has been paid off. It seems Archie had been in litigation about water rights, which cost him a great deal of money, as the decisions were against him. To recoup himself he saddled upon the Father De Smet property certain water rights and privileges at an enormous figure. It seems the laws of California permit this kind of legal robbery of stockholders. There were some important people among the stockholders of the Father De Smet, D. O. Mills among others, and it is now rumored that Haggin and Tevis have got control of that fine property. If they have, the stock is a buy for the mine itself is a magnificent one, as good as the Homestake or the Deadwood. In the hands of Haggin and Tevis it would soon become permanently dividend paying. The annual election is soon to take place, when it will be seen whether control has been secured of this fine property. If it remains in Archie Borland's hands it will be worth nothing at all to the stockholders.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

The new station at Seventy-fifth street and Second avenue was opened last Tuesday.

The assessment rolls for regrading and repairing Prospect avenue, from Hamilton to Ninth avenues, have been completed.

About 250,000 feet of yellow pine, the property, of the Brooklyn Elevated Road, will be sold at auction by the referee on the 27th inst.

The new Assessment Commission has decided to fit up rooms for its use at 27 Chambers street, where they will begin work on February 1.

Tweed's Americus Club, at Greenwich, Connecticut, has been purchased by Col. Robt. G. Ingersoll. He will reside there with his family during the summer.

The Brooklyn Register of Arrears announces that he will immediately begin to make out the list for unpaid taxes, water rates and assessments for the purposes of sale.

Legislators at Albany are framing bills for the protection of the harbor against Williams's dirt. If they would legislate men into office gifted with conscientious regard for their duties, such bills would be unnecessary.

The Board of Fire Commissioners have had submitted to them a hose bridge, to be used in streets where the surface car tracks are placed, so as to allow the car companies to run their cars, in case of a fire occurring on their lines, and where the hose must be stretched across the track. The bridge is to be furnished by the railroad companies.

Yesterday's storm and the havoc made with the telegraph wires, resulting in the falling of numerous telegraph poles in various parts of the city, ought to revive an ordnanance once introduced in the Common Council compelling the removal of these poles. All telegraph wires should be laid in tubes, underground, as is the case in European cities. Aside of the disfigurement of our streets, as is now the case by these standing nuisances, the telegraph companies themselves will be benefitted by protecting at all seasons of the year their wires against sudden and violent storms.

HARD TIMES IN GERMANY.

From the Pall Mall Gazette.

A foreign correspondent writes to us: "Misery is very great in Germany. Selling prices and land rents are falling frightfully low. The result is that debtors on mortgage cannot pay the interest of their debts, and are dispossessed and their properties frequently sold at half the value they had some time ago. This depreciation cannot be attributed to foreign competition, as the importation of corn and other produce has been taxed. It is generally believed that the fall in prices is due to the scarcity of cash. Germany wanted to have the gold standard like England; but gold does not remain in the country, and, circulation being slow, everything decays, and agriculture languishes still more than manufactures and industry."

FOR THE INFORMATION OF INVESTORS.

Messrs. Fisk & Hatch have issued for 1881 their "Memoranda concerning Government Bonds," which really ought to be called a "guide through Wall street." Even the veriest "lamb" will be instructed by studying the pages of this compact little book, which not only details at length the modus operandi of Wall street business, but even goes so far as to initiate the new comer into the mysteries of the Stock Exchange, the queer doings of the brokers, the manipulations of the bankers, and the slang of the hangers-on around New street. Any investor with this book in his pocket and retreating to a quiet corner will at once, by glancing at its index, understand the meaning of what some wily broker intends to "fire at him." He will then make up his mind that it is to his advantage to consult the head of a firm which has had the pluck thus to lead him safely out of the labyrinth of Wall street speculations.

Aside of this, however, there is information contained in this little book of great value to any merchant or capitalist anxious to guard safely his surplus fund. The law of the street is there laid down in a manner that anyone who at all can read must understand. This we say, even without making any allusion to the statistical information furnished in abundance, and more than is contained in all the almanacs of the country combined. We congratulate Messrs. Fisk & Hatch for having thus manfully unfolded the mysteries of the street. They will reap the reward for this labor in the continued confidence of their numerous customers, and additional orders from people whose attention is now called for the first time to their mode of doing business.

THE SALE OF MOORE, JENKINS & CO.'S WAREHOUSE.

On Wednesday next there will be sold at auction, at the Exchange Sales-room, No. 111 Broadway, the well-known Moore, Jenkins & Co.'s warehouse, at the corner of West Broadway and Franklin street The sale will be a noteable one, as the property is virtually a landmark, conspicuous for its locality and adjacent to the great dry-goods district of our city. Apart from this, however, the very fact that it is located on an open square, where ample facilities for loading and unloading goods are afforded; any wholesale firm, whether engaged in groceries or dry-goods, doing a large trucking business, must acknowledge this spot to be the very place for the proper conduct of its business.

The building was erected in 1869, at an expense of $84,000, on ground that costs $86,000, making the total original cost $170,000, or, in round figures, with taxes and interest, $200,000. It is constructed of iron and Dorchester stone, has a mansard roof, and the facings of the front are superior to what one is accustomed to meet with in that section of the city. The height is about 87 feet, but there are two elevators communicating with the six different stories, and there is ample light, favored by the situation of the building, on all of the various floors. The insurance on that side of West Broadway is low, as it is just outside of the dry-goods district, and the taxes also are quite moderate. There are further in this building ample facilities for sample rooms and offices, in fact, the second floor, which has been used by the late firm of Moore, Jenkins & Co. for that purpose, having really nothing to equal it in that section of the city, large plate-glass windows throwing in ample light and adding cheerfulness to the entire floor.

Two years ago, Mr. Henry Welsh, wholesale grocer, erected a building having 85 feet front and six stories high, for his business, right next door to the premises described above on Franklin street, and Messrs. Francis H. Leggett & Co., wholesale grocers, have recently bought 89 feet by 80 on Franklin and Varick streets and West Broadway, for $100,000. On this site they propose to have finished, by next summer, a magnificent building suitable for the requirements of their business. The additional fact that other cheese and butter firms intend to build in the immediate vicinity, fixes that locality as one of the most desirable for investment, not only for the wholesale grocery trade, but also for large manufacturing enterprises.

Investors, who will take the trouble to examine this building before the day of sale, will find that Mr. Richard V. Harnett, who is the auctioneer, will make the terms of sale quite liberal, and will announce the same from his stand.

The Fifty-fifth semi annual statement, showing the condition of the Home Insurance Company, 119 Broadway is published elsewhere. It will be seen that the assets of the concern reach near $7,000,000, and that the net surplus is $1,639,245.93.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

☞ For list of lots and houses for sale see pages vi and vii of advertisements.

With the exception of some East Side business parcels, sold by Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son, details of which will be found at foot, but few sales of importance engaged the attention of the large audience that now daily frequent the Exchange Sales room. No matter how insignificant the offerings are however, at public sale, close attention is paid to them by dealers and brokers, all on the look out for favorable bargains. Jere. Johnson, Jr, sold during the week some Hoboken property, belonging to the Kerrigan estate, and bidding for the various plots appeared to be quite lively among those acquainted with the locality, but yet prices did not come up to the expectation of the attorney in charge.

Some very important sales are announced for the coming week. Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son will sell on Tuesday next, by order of Edgar S. Van Winkle, improved property on the Bowery and Franklin street, in this city, and on Fleet and Prince streets, Brooklyn. Also, by order of executor, valuable lots on West street, corner of West Twelfth street, and houses on Hudson street; also, on the same day, a house and lot on Thirty-seventh street (Murray Hill), with lot and stable adjoining.

Messrs. E. H. Ludlow & Co. will sell, on Thursday, valuable property on Washington square and Macdougal street, also Nos. 42 and 44 New street. Full particulars of all these sales can be found in our advertising column. The last firm announces the sale of Broadway and Thirty-eighth street, and valuable Fifth avenue property for February 3d, of which more will be said hereafter.

The sale of Moore, Jenkins & Co.'s warehouse, announced for the 26th instant, by Mr. Richard V. Harnett, is commented upon at length elsewhere.

We also desire to call the attention of investors to eligible improved property offered by Mr. H. L. Stone, who represents a large corporation, disposed only to obtain market values for its carefully selected property.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK.

A large number of transactions have been keeping the brokers, dealers, investors and builders exceedingly busy during the past week. Some of these have been closed, others are still pending by the eye lids, but it will be seen by the accounts that reach us from all sources, that real estate, indeed, has at last attracted the attention of those who have surplus funds to spare. Of these there are quite a number not heretofore owners of real property, but there are also in the market a large number of builders, who are actually at a loss where to go for lots upon which to build. Everything worth looking at has virtually been sold, they say, on the East Side, and they are not quite ready to go to the West Side. There has, indeed, been a demand on the part of some of these builders for West Side lots, but the majority of them are hesitating as to the manner of handling the same. Incidentally, we may report in this connection the offer of eight lots on Seventy-third street, directly adjoining Mr. Clark's houses, for $56,000, to a builder, no longer than a week ago, and the same lots cannot be had to-day for less than $60,000.

Of course, in the multiplicity of sales now made at private contract, brokers are unwilling to communicate the details of the transactions closed by them, but sellers and buyers are not so close-mouthed. We find, therefore, that Mr. Heber R. Bishop has sold the southwest corner of Fifth avenue and Sixty-seventh street, 100 feet on the avenue and 150 on the street, for $300,000, to private parties. On the ground thus secured, three houses will be built on the avenue, and one 30 foot house on the street. It is stated that one of the houses proposed to be erected has already been sold for $200,000.

Mr. Bishop has also sold a plot of ground on the north side of Sixty-fourth street, 175 east of Fifth avenue, 60x100, to Mr. Anthony Mowbray, for $70,000. The purchaser intends to erect thereon two first-class private houses.

Mr. Hall J. How has sold at private contract the northeast corner Madison avenue and Sixty-seventh street, 100 feet on the avenue, and 50 on the street, for $6),000. Since this sale was effected, $92,500 has been offered for same and refused, the holder declining to take less than $70,000.

It was reported, yesterday, that Mr. Kilpatrick had sold the four lots on the southwest corner of Seventh avenue and Fifty-seventh street, for $75,000, to a builder, who intends to construct there a first-class apartment house.

The entire block bounded by Seventy-ninth and Eightieth streets, First avenue and Avenue A, containing about fifty lots, has been secured at private contract by Mr. Moritz Bauer, for about $186,000. It is understood that he has already resold some of the lots, but, of which we have not been able to gather particulars.

A single lot on the south side of Sixty-sixth street, between Lexington and Fourth avenues, has been sold by Mr. Huyler for stabling purposes, for $12,500.

Two lots on the north side of Seventy-seventh street, between Lexington and Fourth avenues, have been sold by Mr. J. B. Smith, for immediate improvement, to a builder, for $15,000.

Four lots, on the northeast corner of Ninth avenue and Ninetieth street, have been sold for Philip Milligan, by Tobias & Co., for $ 6,000, to Samuel Badger.

The transactions in the Harlem region continue without interruption. Mr. Stephen McCormick, of the Department of Public Works, has sold his five lots, on the south side of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, for $3,5 0 cash, each. Mr. Freesteadt has purchased four lots on the south side of One Hundred and Fifteenth street, 300 feet east of Second avenue, for $9,200. He intends to improve them without delay. Four lots, on One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, are reported sold for $4,250 cash, each. Four and a half lots, on the north side of One Hundred and Fifteenth street, 270 feet west of Fifth avenue, have also been sold for $15,500.

Mr. W. J. Barnes has sold eight lots on One Hundred and Twenty-third street, east of First avenue, for $20,000; four lots on the corner of Second avenue and One Hundred and Sixth street for $16,000, and four lots on One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, near Seventh avenue, for $20,000.

Mr. V. K Stevenson, Jr., has sold, for Messrs. Steinway & Sons, two lots on the south side of Fifty-ninth street, 400 feet west of Sixth avenue, to Mr. Charles E. Appleby, President of the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company, for $35,000.

Messrs. Corlies, Macy & Co., purchased from the Suydam Estate, No 39 Nassau street, 37x112, southwest corner of Liberty street, for $185,000.

Scott & Meyers have sold the four-story brown stone house, No. 142 West Sixty-seventh street, 20x100.5, for $30,000.

The officers of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company have not accepted the offer of $700,000 for 69, 71 and 73 Broadway, corner of Rector street, reported in this column last week. In their letter, refusing the offer, they state: "We are not ready to accept your proposition, as we consider the property of great deal more value."

It is understood, however, that Nos. 17, 19 and 21 Broad street, as well as No. 55 Exchange place, has been contracted for on behalf of the Charter Oak Life by Mr. Henry C. Clench, the resident agent, to Mr. James C. Parrish, for $650,000. As the terms of this contract only allow a few days of refusal, which have since been bruited about, additional offers—first of $675,000 and subsequently of $700,000—are now held in abeyance. It is understood, however, that the parties holding the original contract are perfectly willing to take title with the least possible delay.

Mr. John Jacob Astor, who recently purchased Nos. 8 and 10 Wall street, has submitted to his new tenants a proposition that, if they will remain on a four years' lease, he will not pull down the structures on the 1st of May. In submitting said proposition, however, he has increased the rent. Two tenants who now pay $4,500 each per annum have been raised to $10,000 each. In this connection it was reported to us in the street during the week that when last year Nos. 2 and 4 Wall street were pulled down to make room for the new bank building, Messrs. Loomis & White, as well as Alley & Dowd, took offices at 40 and 42 Broadway. Although some distance from the Stock Exchange, they have renewed their leases for the coming year, though at increased rates, but still at a rental considerably below the figures now asked for Wall street offices.

It should have been stated in this column last week that the sale of sixteen lots on St. Nicholas avenue, and the additional ones on Eighth avenue, amounting in all to $104,000, was effected by Mr. Francis Crawford. He has also sold three lots on Sixth avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-first street for $16,500, and a four-story brown stone house on Lexington avenue (No. 800), for $18,250.

It is reported that the southwest corner of Nassau and Beekman street now occupied by the Nassau Bank, as well as the adjoining Beekman street property, including Leggett's old book store, will shortly be converted into a nine story office building, the property having recently been acquired by Mr. Eugene Kelly, the banker.

The Globe Theatre, opposite the New York Hotel, is to be re-constructed, at a cost of $125,000, for Harrigan & Hart. The Theatre Comique building is to be pulled down on May 1.

Increasing activity and higher prices prevail in Brooklyn lots, particularly on the "Lefferts-Brevoort Farm."

Jere Johnson, Jr., has sold during the past week eight lots on the southwest corner of Marcy avenue and Jefferson street for $8,000, nine lots on Jefferson street, south side, 100 feet west of Marcy avenue, for $8,640.

James Slater, of the Berkeley Apartment House, New York, has purchased the Pavilion Hotel, at Islip, for $20,000. The Pavilion cost $50,000.

Mr. William Simis is having fourteen houses erected on the Healy property at Far Rockaway, and eight on the Wave Crest property, which are to cost $65,000. Mr. A. S. Davis has also contracted for the erection of an $8,000 residence on the property recently purchased from A. P. Man.

The Bennett farm, at Northeast, near Sag Harbor, has been sold to John N. Smith, of Brooklyn

Twenty-five acres of the Smith tract, at Lake Ronkonkoma, has been sold for $25 an acre to a Brooklyn gentleman, who proposes clearing it for garden purposes, besides having a summer residence there.

The following are the sales at the Exchange Salesroom for the week ending January 21:

—:o:—

☞OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, BANKERS,

No. 5 NASSAU ST.,

NEW YORK, Jan. 13, 1881.

DEAR SIR:

The price of the 6 per cent. first mortgage bonds of the Elizabethtown, Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad Company has been advanced from 97½ and interest, to par and interest, to take effect from this date.

The price of the Chesapeake and Ohio bonds, Series A, has been advanced from 102½ and interest, to 104 and interest, from the same date.

The active demand for both the above classes of bonds for permanent investment during the last few days has absorbed the amounts placed at our disposal at the prices at which they were heretofore offered.

We have this day issued the eighth edition of our "Memoranda Concerning Government Bonds," corrected to Jan. 1, to which has been added other matter of interest to investors, including general remarks on Wall street and stock transactions, a glossary of terms used in connection therewith, statistics of the growth and progress of the United States in production, population, &c., and notes on gold and silver.

Copies may be had, free of charge, upon application at our office in person, or by mail.

Very respectfully,

FISK & HATCH.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Some of the possibilities suggested in our last report have been realized. The weather has proven sufficiently open to permit of out-door work, and all jobs under way were pushed forward rapidly, yet there has not been enough moderation to restore communication with the principal primary points, indeed, in some instances, the ice embargo has strengthened, if anything, and about all the fresh stock offering was composed of such cargoes as could work through from Long Island. As a sequence, the position shows an increased consumption and a diminished supply, with a further stiffening on values. The market, in fact, may be said to have steadily favored the seller, with the tendency still upward at the close. It is calculated that the current consumptive wants are about three million brick per day, and this is not only making rapid and serious inroads upon the accumulation of dealers, but seems to assure the sale of all cargoes likely to come forward for the present, especially as the position of most builders makes it incumbent upon them to force their work forward to completion whenever supplies can be obtained, and cost comes anywhere within the bounds of reason. As matters now stand it is almost useless to attempt giving any positive line of quotations, and we shall omit figures for the present, as being simply nominal. The highest rate fairly confirmed is $9 50 per M, but $10 is hinted at as having been made, and certain choice makes are held higher still. Of pale brick we hear of none offering, and there is also an absence of fronts in wholesale parcels.

CEMENT—Generally the position is without change to note. Demand is fair, stocks are not large, with few additions making, and the advantage remains to a considerable extent in seller's favor. Still no direct buoyancy can be shown, and former quotations are retained.

HARDWARE.—The market has shown no unusual animation but business is improving a trifle, and the outlook commences to take more cheerful and promising form. Indeed, the trade quite generally are confident and calculate upon a healthy market as the year progresses. Values show some irregularity, and this is most noticeable on Strap and T Hinges, the combination of manufacturers having broken up. Sales have been made at 60 and 10 per cent, and even 70 per cent. discount. Among recent announcements we note that the Old Colony Iron Company have made reductions on their price list of August 1, as follows: C. P. Bruce Steel-Edge Shove's and Spades, D. Pratt do do, A. L. Reed do do, C. Miller, Iron do, Carr do do, and Saunders do do, 50c per doz; F. Stanley Solid Steel do, Carr Steel Scoops do, and Ward do do, 75c per doz Manufacturers have advanced the price of Cordage 1¼c., and now quote Manila Cordage, sizes above 12-thread and Hay Rope 13½c. do 12-thread (⅜ in. diam) 14, and do 6-thread and 9-thread (¼ in. and 5-16 in. diam.) 14½; Manila Cordage Bolt Rope and Yarns 15, and do 6-thread and 9-thread 16; Manila Whale Lines 15; Tarred Manila, 13; Fine Tarred Manila Lath Yarn, 14½; Sisal Rope, sizes above 12-thread and Hay and Side Rope, 11; do, 12-thread (⅜ in. diam.) 11½; do, 6-thread and 9-thread (¼ in. and 5-16 in. diam.) 12; Tarred Sisal Lath Yarn, 10½; Russia Hemp Tarred Cordage, 12½; American Hackled Hemp Tarred Cordage—; Tarred American Lath Yarn, 12¼; Fine Tarred American Lath Yarn, 13½; Navy Oakum, 8½; U. S. Navy, 10; Best Oakum, 11; all net cash.

LATH—Not much change has taken place on this market, except probably a slight gain of tone. We do not learn that $2 per M. has been shaded, on any sales made, and at the current writing this is still being paid with not much stock offering afloat, and holders generally speaking with much confidence in their ability to at least hold the market where it is. Buyers show no great anxiety, but still have exhausted a pretty full supply during the past few weeks and, on the supposition that reports of light amounts to come are correct, there is little of a positively depressing nature to work upon the market.

LIME—Values are unchanged all around. Holders get former rates without difficulty, and appear to be satisfied with them, the market rules uniform and cheerful, and the supply keeps within small and easily managed proportions.

LUMBER.—The market shows no positive activity, and the appearance of any extra supply at the moment would, in all probability, cause receivers some difficulty. Making due allowance for the season, however, the distribution is fair on home outlets, and with the calls made for export, a pretty good distribution of stock takes place, while on prices sellers retain sufficient advantage to support the former range for all really desirable goods. Stocks are showing some reduction and a partial breaking up of assortment, but are still full enough to meet the current call. Bills for special cuts of both the Eastern and Southern product continue to be tendered with much freedom, and, like last year, buyers all desire to be served very early, but agents are unable to meet them with the promptness desired, and the negotiations do not progress rapidly. This troubles sellers but little at the moment, as all mills in a position to work have as much as they can attend to for weeks to come.

Spruce arriving, as expected, shows but a small aggregate, and, in view of the few mills at work, no increase is likely for some time to come. Supplies, however, are not much wanted for immediate delivery, and receivers would be bothered to dispose of a few extra cargoes unless they made the price very attractive. Specifications continue to be tendered, and it is thought a few have been closed upon, but the particulars are not made public, and generally agents are not anxious to negotiate, except for very distant dates. Specials continue to range from $22 downward, according to sizes, and randoms are quoted at about $17.00@18.00 for extreme figures.

White Pine retains a very fair market, and, with the possible exception of some disappointment over the volume of trade thus far developed since the opening of the year, there is not much complaint. Indeed, it is thought that temporary influences alone retard the movement of buyers, and that demand is postponed rather than lost. Supply and assortment still admit of any ordinary selection, but the accumulation commences to show shrinkage. We quote $17@20 per M. for West India shipping boards; $23@25 for South America do.; $15.50@16.50 for box board; $17.00@17.50 for do. wide and sound do.

Yellow Pine on random offering afloat or in yard is not wanted to any general extent, but still the best lots occasionally receive attention, and within two or three weeks a few sales of some magnitude were made and at full prices. What buyers most desire is just what they cannot get, viz.: special bills for extra cuts, etc., and early spring delivery. The mills have engagements far ahead, and the majority are compelled to refuse further orders even at extreme bids. We quote random cargoes at about $23.50@25 per M.; ordered cargoes, $24@26 do.; green flooring boards, $24@25 do.; and dry do. do. $25@26.50. Cargoes at the South $14@17 per M. for rough, and $19@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods continue very firm on all first-class stock, especially of walnut, oak and ash, and the demand good, but business checked by the absence of desirable supplies. Exporters are among the customers, but find nothing here to suit them. We quote at wholesale rates by carload about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do.; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $20@35; do. do.; culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@47 do; white wood, ½ and ⅝ inch, $25@27.50, and do. inch, $33@35 do.; hickory, $45@45 do., for Western, and $65@75 for good nearby stock.

Yard trade is irregular, according to location and facilities for delivery, but reaches a fair total, with a tendency to increase. Prices in a general way rule steady, but dealers differ somewhat in quotations, and the range of figures is kept wide.

From among the lumber charters and engagements recently reported we select the following:

A schr, 113 tons, from Jacksonville to St. Kitts, lumber, $9.50; an Am brig, 252 tons, from Wilmington, N. C., to Aspinwall, lumber, $12; three Br schrs, 147, 141 and 84 tons, from St. John, N. B., to New York, lumber, $8; three schrs, 151, 153 and 170 tons, from Portland to New York, lumber, $8; a schr, 150 M lumber, from Bucksport to New Bedford, $8.50; a schr., 180 M lumber, from Jacksonville to New York, $8.50, a schr 115 M lumber from Jacksonville to New York; $8.50, or Fall River, $8.75; a schr, 275 M lumber, from Savannah to New York, $8.25; a schr, 225 M lumber, from Darien to Boston, $5.25; a schr, 250 M lumber and timber, from Darien to Boston, $7 and $8; a schr, 200 M lumber, from Savannah to Baltimore, $5.25.

THE WEST.

The Chicago Northwestern Lumberman has the following upon the Chicago market:

For the first twelve days of January the receipts of lumber by rail at Chicago show a large increase, in fact, about 86½ per cent. over those of the corresponding time in 1880, aggregating 4,966,000 feet. As the hardword trade reports light receipts in its branch, we attribute the bulk of lumber arriving to special bills ordered from the mills for work now in progress. The shingle receipts of the week are decreased, those of the current year being, for the week, 1,375,000, against 1,670,000 for 1880. We learn that a large amount of building and bridge timber has been ordered from the mills, and this in volume sufficient to carry the conviction that the weekly report will show an increase in receipts over the season of 1880, up to the opening of navigation. The shipments of lumber have been, for the week, 6,259,000 feet, against 4,494,000 feet for the same period in 1880, while the shingle shipments are 1,080,000, against 1,263,000 for the same week last year. Trade is not lively, but, as a rule, the dealers are satisfied with its volume, and will remain so, as long as the extremely cold weather lasts, while the inquiries are reported as sufficiently extended to lead to a buoyant feeling regarding future prospects. Prices are well maintained, and with the volume of shipment showing an increase over the comparatively mild weather of the same week in 1880, the hopes regarding the immediate future of trade may well be considered legitimate. Many special sizes of dimension are remarkably scarce, while ordinary sizes are in some instances not easily found. In boards and finishing grades, well-seasoned stock is found much less easily than green, or such as is only in fair condition for shipping. Cars are readily obtained and will be in fair, if not good, supply until navigation opens.

The regular report of the Secretary of the Lumberman's Exchange being unavoidably delayed for a few days, that official has issued a condensed statement of the stocks in Chicago yards January 1, with comparative figures for 1880 and 1879, which are as follows:

	1881.	1880.	1879.
Lumber	497,840,673	451,282,059	410,773,560
Shingles	188,722,000	29,057,000	200,750,000
Lath	50,321,185	58,630,800	41,272,300
Pickets	1,980,232	2,129,760	1,106,654
Cedar posts	63,659	404,730	479,085

From this statement it would appear that the yards of this city reduced their stocks during the month of December to the extent of 62,038,610 feet of lumber; 11,317,000 shingles; 8,864,815 lath, and 726,071 pickets, while the stock of cedar posts was increased by arrivals to the extent of 15,933 above the shipments. The lumber stock, it will be seen, is not greatly in excess of that at the beginning of 1880, being greater by only 46,558,614 feet, or a little over 10 per cent., that also being about the percentage of increase in the shipments of 1880 over those of 1879. The report enables us at the same time to determine—although it will require a final revision of the figures to arrive at positive correctness—that the total sales of lumber by Chicago dealers during the season of 1880 aggregated 1,487,723,386 feet, together with 646,935,000 shingles. That this is a handsome showing, even for the acknowledged largest market for lumber in the world will be at once conceded, but we much mistake the signs of the times, if the current season does not show results of still greater magnitude.

HARDWOODS.—At some yards trade is quiet, while in other directions dealers report it brisk. Two years ago 2x2 balusters were a drug in the market, but the demand has increased at such a rate that it takes up the stock about as fast as it arrives. The stocks in the yards of dealers who receive principally by water, are gradually growing smaller, and the receipts by rail for the past week, on the whole, have been light. One dealer has received 100,000 feet of dry walnut from Indiana, and another has received a quantity of ash. New York manufacturers have been picking up ash in this market, and several car loads have gone forward. Oak remains in light receipt, owing principally to a scarcity of cars. A quantity of oak that was loaded at Valparaiso, Ind., December 14, has not yet reached its destination, and other shipments about as long on the way are reported. The car manufactories throughout the country are making an effort to nearer meet the demand for cars, which makes a call for oak unusually large. The stock of cherry is larger than a few months ago, and it is in somewhat lighter request Last fall it was not to be had, and the men who wanted it so badly used other wood instead, and finding that it answered their purpose, they have not wholly fallen back upon cherry. Ebonizing is hardly as much in vogue as it was, and furniture men have learned that other wood besides cherry can be used to advantage. In the economy of nature few of her products are exhausted that cannot be advantageously replaced. We do not think that maple for ebonized work has received the attention to which it is entitled. Washed with vinegar, in which scraps of iron have been allowed to remain for a while, it becomes black and is readily polished. We are not aware that this method has been published, but it is cheap and efficient.

The hunt for walnut is fast extending out of the old fields of operation, and in Northern Tennessee an eye is upon nearly every tree. In Nashville the enormous price of $50 has been paid in the log for sizes 22 to 24 inches in diameter, of fine quality, and $45 for logs of a lower grade is not unusual.

As hardwoods have advanced the trade in veneers has increased proportionately. The veneer men complain of the scarcity of burls, and say they have been pretty thoroughly picked up, especially throughout Indiana, where heretofore they have obtained a large portion of their domestic stock. Bird's-eye maple seems to be losing ground, and there is but little call for it. Notwithstanding the increased demand, the veneer business is largely overdone here, and if half of the dealers were out of the way the other half might do a respectable business. The stock of mahogany in town is light, and some of it of inferior quality. We saw some magnificent plank, three feet wide, twenty feet long and three inches thick, without a blemish, that are to be used for counters in the custom house. It is no easy job to find perfectly clear plank of that size, even in pine.

The Northwestern Lumberman commences its annual review of the lumber production of the Northwest with the Lake Michigan districts. From elaborate tables of detail the following is condensed;

* Add 3 ciphers to the year 1879 in both columns, making them millions instead of thousands.

The lumber left over at the mills this season is not greatly in excess of the amount on hand a year ago, the difference being, in round numbers, only 27,000,000 feet. This figure would also have been larger had the mills run to the usual time, as a considerable quantity of the logs now on hand in the water would have been carried over in the shape of manufactured stuff on the mill docks. The amount on hand, however, is probably large enough to meet the demands of the yards that will require fresh supplies of stock at the opening of navigation, and the fact that it is no larger, will have a tendency to make prices firmer during the winter and early spring.

In respect to the amount of logs hung up or carried over in the main booms in the district under review, it is impossible to obtain any reliable figures. Reports from six of the principal streams foot up 168,000,000 feet, but this amount is, of course, only a fraction of the whole. In nearly all the smaller streams there are more or less logs back that do not appear in our column of "logs at mill," which is intended to cover only such as are in the mill boom or yard, or where they will be available for the first work of the mill in the spring, and these, in the aggregate, would, no doubt, considerably increase the total amount on hand or in the streams at the close of last season. Many of the mills are said to be fairly well supplied with logs for immediate use, and there is no apparent reason, therefore, why they will not be able to make an early start when the season opens.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.,

The extreme winter has had its usual effect on the distribution of lumber. Chicago has managed to send ont about a million and a half per day, principally on old orders. St. Louis has run down to less than half a million some days, while Minneapolis has shipped a lessened amount as will be seen by the table. Dubuque and the other river markets are doing a corresponding trade. All are confident of an extensive spring business, which will practically exhaust stocks before seasoned lumber can be furnished next summer. The railroad mills find orders plenty to keep them going during the winter without resorting to cutting on prices or any drumming. We believe that there is now as little disposition to slaughter prices to secure trade as was ever known at this season of the year in all the markets.

From Saginaw comes the cheerful news that a much heavier business is coming to them from Ohio and eastward than ever was known in the winter season. Heretofore the winter shipments by rail have been very light from that section. This may be taken as an omen that Chicago and the West is not to be bothered much with Saginaw lumber next season.

Complaints grow more general of broken assortments. We hear of Chicago dealers picking up sorts at Saginaw and interior points in Michigan to enable them to fill orders.

The loggers are doing a fine business everywhere. In Michigan when they "skid up" the logs before they commence hauling, the choppers are nearly through, excepting along the eastern shore of Michigan (where they make ice roads). There is plenty of snow for hauling logs all over the pine regions.

STATE.

Figures from Tonawanda, N. Y., show that the receipts of lumber for the past year were the largest on record. Fewer shingles were received than during either of the three years preceding, and for eight years the lath receipts have not been so light. The following are the comparative receipts of lumber, lath and shingles by lake for the last eight years:

	Lumber.	Shingles.	Lath.
18 3	104,900,000	1,112,000	1,258,000
1874	144,754,000	10,323,000	1,506,000
1875	155,384,805	13,088,500	6 559,200
1876	207,728,327	18 907,500	6,137,700
1877	221,897,007	23,219,400	5,126,050
1878	206,655,122	31,435,500	3,629,300
1879	250,699,043	30,122,000	5,606,400
1880	323,370,814	22,920,000	1,349,600

The comparative shipments of lumber by canal from that port for the same period are as follows:

1873	89,273,378
1874	115,752,111
1875	120,659,795
1876	165,545,747
1877	188,400,339
1878	173,085,462
1879	206,442,542
1880	291,000,000

The shipments by rail during 1880 were 76,980,000 feet, an excess of 18,876,000 feet over those for 1879.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

It is perhaps worthy of remark that while pitch pine has the character of getting more and more into public favor in this country, very little of it has figured in our London sale reports lately. Its friends maintain that it will gradually supersede Baltic fir timber for most of the purposes to which that wood is applied, but hitherto it does not appear to take any lead in this market as yet.

LIVERPOOL.

In the wholesale business there is little doing, as holders of spruce deals are not now inclined to sell unless at a fair price, as the season is now closed, whilst the Canadian stocks, having cost high prices abroad, are being held with firm hands, and sellers of pitch pine, both hewn and sawn, are by no means disposed to give way from the prices they are asking, seeing the high rates they are compelled to pay at the shipping ports, and the great competition there now exists for this wood in the continental markets of Europe, and in North and South America.

There have been no sales of whitewoods during the past week, but the mahogany sales of the 22d and 23d inst. must have been fairly satisfactory to the shippers, for though the attendance of buyers was but small, it embraced some of the right sort, who, wanting wood, did not stick at a bid or two in order to get what they wanted. This gave a tone to the sale which otherwise would have been wanting, especially in the case of the Honduras and Mexican mahogany, Honduras cedar, and American black walnutwood.

METALS—COPPER.—Ingot has been selling fairly in small lots on the ordinary run of orders, but no unusual animation shown. The supply remains under complete control, and holders firm and confident. We quote at 19¼c. for Lake. Manufactured copper finds a good general demand, and the tone of the market is strong at full former rates. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper ordinary size over 16 oz per square foot, 28c. per lb; do do do. 16 oz and over 12 oz per square foot, 30c per lb; do do. 10 and 12 oz, per sq foot, 32c per lb; do do, lighter than 10 oz per sq foot, 34c per lb; circles less than 84 inches in diameter, 31c per lb; do 84 inches in diameter and over, 34c per lb; segment and pattern sheets, 31c per lb; locomotive fire box sheets, 28c per lb; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz per sq foot, 26c per lb and Bolt Copper, 28c per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has had a somewhat irregular market, but with reduced supplies and better accounts from abroad the market takes a more cheerful turn and closes with much firmness. We quote at $21.50@24.50, according to brand, delivery and quantity. American pig has been selling with greater freedom principally on contracts against the coming output of producers, but the demand was coaxed to some extent and prices made no improvement. The close, however, is steady. We quote at $25@26 per ton for No. 1; $22@23 do do. for No. 2; and $22.00@22.50 for forge. Rails have continued to sell readily for both near-by and distant options, according to the ability of the mills to deliver, and values were well maintained. Large numbers of foreign rails are selling for Southern delivery. Old rails and scrap iron more active and higher. We quote rails at $45@48 for iron and $58@60 for steel, according to delivery. Old rails $29@30 per ton; scrap, $29@30. Manufactured Iron has been a little more active, and the market gradually gains strength, though there is no attempt to force a large advance. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes at 2.3@2.5c. from store, and Refined at 2.5@3.5c.; wrought beams at 3c. Fish plates quoted at 2⅝@2¼c.; track bolt and nuts, 3½@3⅝c.: railway spikes, 3c.; tank, 3@3.1c.; angle, 3c.: best flange, 6c.; and domestic sheet on the basis of 3½c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig has found a very active demand, and on liberal sales prices rapidly advanced. The increased cost, however, has a tendency to reduce the volume of demand somewhat, and at the moment business is a little slow, without, however weakening the views of holders. We quote 5@5¼c. The manufacturers of lead are steady and quoted: Bar, 6c: Pipe 6½c., and sheet, 7c., less the usual discount to the trade; and Tin lined pipe 15c. Block Tin pipe, 40, on same terms. TIN—Pig has been touched slightly by speculative manipulation, but also found a very good consumptive demand, and with stocks under control the position is now generally firm. We quote 19¾@19⅞c. for Australian. 20@20¼c. for Straits, 20@20⅛c. for English Refined, 19¾@19⅞c. for do. Common. Tin Plates met with a fair call from regular sources and have remained pretty steady on the average with the close rather tending in sellers favor. We quote I C. Charcoal, third cross assortment, $5.75@5.87½ for Allaway grade, and $6 12½@6 37½ for Melyn grade; I. C. Coke $4.87½@5.00 for B. V. grade; $5.12½@5.25 for Yspitty grade; Charcoal terne $5 12½@5.25 for Allaway grade, 14x20; $11@11.12½ for do., 20x28; Coke terne, $4.90@5 00 for Glais grade, 14x20, and $10@10.12½ for do., 20x28—all in round lots. Spelter is firmer and meeting with a somewhat better demand. Quoted at $5@5¼ for domestic. Sheet Zinc also gaining in value and quoted at 7¼@7½c. according to quality and quantity.

NAILS.—The demand has been somewhat better from many quarters, and dealers feel correspondingly cheerful. Supplies, however, are pretty full, and as a rule there is enough anxiety to realize to keep prices from taking very buoyant form at the moment. The list rates are somewhat more closely adhered to.

We quote 10d to 60d common fence and sheathing, per keg, $2 90@3; 8d and 9d, common do, per keg, $3 25@3 35; 6d and 7d, common do, per keg, $3.50@3 65; 4d and 5d, common do, per keg, $3 75@3.85; 3d and 4d, light, per keg, $4 50@4.60; 3d, fine, per keg, $5.25@5.35; 2d, per keg, $5.25@5.35.

Cut spikes, all sizes, $3.25@3 35. Floor, Casing and Box, $3.75@4.25. Finishing, $4@4.75.

CLINCH NAILS.

1½ inch, $5.50@5.60; 1¾ inch, $5.25@5.35; 2 inch, $5@5.10; 2¼@2¾ inch, $4.75@4.85; 3 inch and longer, $4.50@4.65.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Business without much animation, and mainly in the ordinary form of orders from the regular trade. Supplies and assortments appear equal to all calls made, and holders fairly inclined to operate, but without unusual effort to hasten matters. On prices there is no important change, except for leads, which show quite an improvement in sympathy with the advance in metals, and also on the stimulus of small stocks, the accumulation of both "dry" and "in oil" affording but little chance for selection. Linseed oil has met with only a moderate and somewhat uncertain demand, but the tone of the market was firmer and more cheerful, with holders inclined to ask a little more money for their stocks. Supplies are not large. We quote at about 55@56c. for City and 60@61c. for Calcutta, from first hands.

PITCH.—The call does not extend much beyond the ordinary run of orders, and business lacks general animation. Supply fairly balances the outlet, and values are steady. We quote at $2.00@2.15 per bbl. for city, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Business has been a little slow and uncertain during the greater portion of the period since our last, and the position at times somewhat nominal. Holders, however, had the supply well enough in hand to prevent pressure to realize, and it would have been difficult to secure positive concession, though rates have eased off a trifle. As this report is closed, the quotations stand at about 46½@48½c. per gallon, according to the quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—A fair average movement reported by most dealers, and the market remaining steady on all desirable parcels of stock. Supplies are ample for the outlet, and no buoyancy is secured. We quote $2 50@3.00 for Newbern and Washington, and $2.75@3.30 for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

DANGER AHEAD.

There is a legend to the effect that a prophet, in days gone by, foresaw that at a certain season a rain would fall which would have the effect of making all who were exposed to its influence insane. The prophet warned the people, but his voice was unheard. As the fatal day approached he retired to his cave, while the world outside paid no heed to the descending rain. As he had predicted every one became insane who was exposed to the shower. The wise prophet remained in his cell, knowing that the outside world was full of crazy people. At length his isolation became unendurable, and he said to himself, "Of what use is it to be sane in a world of mad men?" So he plunged into the crowd and became happy by being as insane as the rest.

Who can doubt but that the investing public at this moment are practically insane? Look at the figures of stocks in Wall street and compare them with what they were but three years since. It is true there is reason for much higher prices for stocks. It is needless here to recapitulate them, but, of course, the most potent factor in the case is the great money inflation. Before 1879 we had, as an exclusive currency, some seven hundred million of paper money, counting greenbacks and national bank notes. In addition to the paper money then afloat, we have added some six hundred and twenty million dollars of gold and silver, which is either coined or available for coinage. In other words,we have to-day from thirteen to fourteen hundred million of currency as against half that amount of paper money only two years since. At that time business was dull because people were apprehensive, and such money as was used was carefully guarded. Now confidence has taken the place of distrust, and credit as well as money is used to the uttermost, and what do we see? A huge stock speculation repeating the experiences of last year; a vast increase in the population of all the large cities; five thousand miles of new railways under way, and twenty-five thousand miles additional projected. We are rapidly putting all our spare cash into new enterprises, and converting our floating into fixed capital. Every new enterprise, no matter how risky, is no sooner on the market than the money pours in to fill up the subscription list.

There is danger in all this. It is true that the hopeful, sanguine and adventurous are making money. Indeed, it is the conservative and the cautious who have not profited during the past two years, and the market is now led, and will be led, by the most adventurous and reckless speculators. We all know what became of the men who made sudden wealth during the paper money era, the Jay Cookes, the Clews, and the other mushroom bankers. It is they who were the first to go by the board when trouble came. We are developing new financial leaders similar to those who first fell in 1873. We do not say that higher prices will not be reached. We believe stocks will finally go higher, but we warn investors that the time has come when stocks should be left alone. There is danger in trying further to inflate prices. It will be the part of wisdom now to seek other investments which have not been stimulated unduly. Real estate is as certain to go up as is the sun to rise to-morrow morning. It is the one property which, as yet, has felt little of the stimulus of this great superabundance of money. Prudent people will take their profits in speculation, and hereafter invest it in real property. The fortunes being made to-day in real estate are the permanent fortunes; ones which will last the longest. In this we know we are giving good advice, and the whole real estate interest ought to warn investors against the danger of continued stock speculation.

THE IDEAL CURRENCY.

Mr. John Thompson, president of the Chase National Bank, in a letter to the Tribune, urges the adoption of a currency scheme, which certainly is worth considering, if not adopting. It is not original with Mr. Thompson, as it has often come up in the interminable debates on the best currency for a civilized community. Mr. Thompson wants the Government to base all currency upon coin or bullion actually in the Treasury of the United States; that is to say, to issue no paper money except upon an actual deposit of gold or silver, but to issue currency without limit to those who have the bullion or coin to make it good. This would at once satisfy the bullionists and the greenbackers. It would give us a paper money absolutely secure. It would make the United States the greatest user or consumer of bullion in the world, and hence would have a tendency not only to retain all the gold and silver we produce, but to continue drawing it from other nations. Mr. George S. Coe and other bankers, as was evidenced at the Saratoga Banking Convention, are warm advocates of this scheme, while it has been, in a measure, endorsed by Congress, for to-day it is legal to deposit silver for notes of not less than $10 denomination, and of gold of not less than $20 denomination. The silver certificates are being widely circulated, but Secretary Sherman has shut down upon the gold certificates, for the law is permissive and not mandatory.

Among the advantages which this scheme would afford, are the following:

I. It would give us the most perfect and safe paper money ever issued, a currency literally as good as gold and far handier.

II. It would immensely encourage the mining of gold and silver in the United States, by affording an immediate market for it in every treasury and bank.

III. It would do away with the objection of the newspapers and small traders to the forced withdrawal of small notes. In France, Great Britain and Germany, paper money of small denominations is not permitted; hence, gold and silver coin are in universal use. In this country, although we produce bullion and Europe does not, all the channels of retail trade are gorged with small notes, to the exclusion of gold and silver coin. But there is such an immense business done in packages, and it is so handy to send one and two dollar bills for subscriptions to newspapers and in payment, by mail, for small wares, that the small notes are popular. These could be kept afloat, under this new scheme, as the depositor of bullion could command one's and two's, as well as fives, ten's and twenties.

IV. It would preserve us from the possibility of currency panics, to which we are now, with our mixed currency, very liable. It is in the power of the national banks, today, by selling their bonds and withdrawing their notes, to cause a contraction that would ruin every business interest in the country. It is not safe to lodge such tremendous power in the hands of any institution or institutions which profit by the fluctuations in the price of money. It is certain to be abused, some day or other. A currency based on bullion would insure us against any panic due to the issuance of a circulating medium.

V. While staple, the currency proposed would be elastic. If there was a demand for more money, we would sell our products abroad, and draw gold and silver from any part of the world. If there was a redundancy of currency, that would soon correct itself by the demand for gold and silver in the arts.

VI. Then, see the immense prestige of the United States among the nations of the earth if it had stored in its treasury vaults the vast sums of bullion which would represent the paper money afloat. We would sood hold more bullion than all the banks of Europe combined. The adoption of such a currency would make New York at once a centre for the exchanges of the world.

VII. The machinery for making this change already exists in the provision made by Congress for issuing gold and silver certificates. Let the law be so amended, making it mandatory on the Secretary of the Treasury, to issue so many gold and so many silver certificates per month on demand, and providing for the gradual retirement of greenbacks and national bank notes, and the thing can be done within two years time.

Of course we see the objections that can so easily be urged, the chief one being the uselessness of piling up immense masses of gold and silver in our Treasury vaults, unused. But, then, people don't want to use gold and silver to pass from hand to hand; while they insist upon having a gold and silver basis to their paper currency. Why then not let them have a Government certificate in the form of bills, for every dollar of bullion they deposit in the care of the United States Treasury.

One feature of Mr. John Thompson's scheme is decidedly objectionable. He wants to increase the weight of the American silver dollar to 450 grains. This, we think, is undervaluing silver, a great American product. The historic 412½ grain silver dollar more nearly represents the normal ratio between the two metals.

We allude to this subject, not with any idea that the above scheme will be endorsed, but people who own realty or desire to be possessed of it, should, above all others, pray for a currency that is stability itself, one in which there is no possibility of fluctuation. Our National Bank system was organized to meet a war exigency, and it must in time be reorganized and put upon a peace basis. There is danger this present year that the banks may suddenly withdraw their currency as they have the power to do, and put a stop, for a time at least, to the steady improvement in the values of realty. Our mongrel currency of legal tender Government notes and private bank notes, is illogical and incongruous and cannot last, and when the adjustment takes place, there is a liability to dangerous fluctuations. The only certain cure for all our currency ills would be the issuing of Government notes, based on the actual deposit of bullion in the Treasury of the nation.

GIVING THE CITY ITS DUE.

An anonymous circular has been widely distributed, pointing out how the Surrogate's office can be made self sustaining. The author of this brochure thinks it monstrous that the county should be forced to pay the cost of probating the wills of the rich men of this city. It seems that even the recording of the wills of Vanderbilt and Stewart was charged against the city tax payers. During the past year 994 wills were probated, and the cost to the city is about $66,000 a year. This may not seem a large sum, but really the city should not pay anything for doing this work. The writer shows that the Register's office and the County Clerk's office do not cost the city anything, the fees being sufficient to more than cover the salaries of the employees of these offices. He also points out "that the government of this city, when compared with that of six of the governments of Europe, with their standing armies and navies, and taking into account the population, costs about five times as much per capita, and yet we talk of the tax-ridden people of the Old World. Nowhere are the people more tax-ridden and more patient under it, than in the city of New York. How is this, in a city rich as New York is? Rich in docks, paying wharfage; in markets, paying rents; and in other real estate which ought to bring an income, but much of which is leased away for nominal amounts?"

The one weak feature of a republican form of government is, that universal suffrage seems to break down in cities of over 300,000 inhabitants. It is somehow difficult to get honest and efficient government by our ordinary party machinery. Perhaps, however, we have entered upon a new era. Comptroller Campbell is certainly the right man in the right place; and it will be found, perhaps, that we are equally fortunate in Mr. Grace, as Chief Magistrate in the city. Let us hope so.

THE DRY GOODS DISTRICT.

Some months ago we called attention to the fact that the Elevated Railroad, in this city, had apparently settled for all time the present location, in and near Wall street, of the great banking business of this city. The time has passed for any one to speak of Union square, as the future centre of the monied interests of the country.

The costly fire proof buildings, recently erected, and now projected in the Wall street neighborhood, indicate that this great interest is as firmly fixed and as likely to remain there as the Bank of England is in its chosen locality.

In the same article we showed that other interests were likely to be permanently settled near other stations of the elevated railroads, and that the station in Grand street was as likely to anchor the foreign dry-goods business in that vicinity, as the Franklin street station was to keep the domestic dry-goods business in the fine buildings it now occupies in Leonard and Worth streets and the adjacent territory. In this district there is now a scarcity of stores, which has led within a year past to an increase in rents of from fifteen to thirty per cent., and in some instances even more. Some of the tenants, after refusing to pay the advanced rents, have had hard work to find such premises as they required for their business, and after looking around the market have been glad to buy out the parties who had taken leases of the stores they were in.

This increased demand will eventually cause new buildings to be erected, and in accordance with our expectations, the first large improvements are to be on the land nearest to the "L" station at Franklin street and West Broadway. All the lots on the northeast corner of Leonard street and West Broadway, having a frontage of over 100 feet on Leonard street and 140 feet on West Broadway, extending nearly back to Franklin street, have been purchased, and the old buildings are now being torn down.

The firm of Minot, Hooper & Co., who now own the store they occupy at Nos. 51 and 53 Leonard street, are to build a store at No. 45, about 40 feet in front and 100 feet in depth; adjoining this a store having over 63 feet frontage on Leonard street and extending back 140 feet on West Broadway, covering in all 9,500 square feet, is to be built by the Central Real Estate Association.

These two stores are to be uniform in design and six stories in height, so constructed that they can be thrown together in any or every story as one building, for any business requiring an unusual amount of room. We have seen the plan of the front, which is to be of iron, and we predict that this corner store will be recognized as one of the handsomest dry goods stores in this city. It will certainly be one of the largest; except Claflin's and Stewart's we do not call to mind any of equal size. The new buildings will have every possible improvement including cellars made, as modern science has rendered practicable not only watertight however far they may be carried below tide water, but by the use of asphalt and felting they will be rendered absolutely secure from the least dampness.

This new association will have a capital of $225,000, which may be added to whenever it decides to acquire additional property. It has been organized under the same general act that the New York and Manhattan Real Estate Associations made use of, which improved a large number of lots in Worth, Thomas and Duane streets, on the Hospital property. Among the trustees of th Central Real Estate Association are Messrs. Samuel D. Babcock, Jacob Wendell, Walter B. Lawrence and other well-known real estate owners.

The architect is Mr. J. Morgan Slade, to whose energy and knowledge of the results likely to be secured by the investors, is mainly due the rapid filling up of the subscription list. Mr. Slade and his brother, Mr. George P. Slade, are well known in the dry goods community, from their having had charge of the New York and Manhattan stores. Their constant intercourse with fifty to seventy-five lessees has given them an intimate acquaintance with the wants and preferences of tenants. Mr. Jarvis Slade, their father, was largely instrumental in organizing the asssociations above mentioned, which obtained long leases of the Hospital property. This gentleman was a pioneer in this district, and besides acquiring a large interest himself, it was mainly due to his influence that it was so rapidly covered with first-class buildings. Numerous friends of his recognize their indebtedness to him for exceptionally good investments in Church and all the cross streets, between Duane and White streets, and the ownership by many prominent firms of the stores they occupy, is in a great measure due to his sagacity and the friendly counsel he has always been ready to give when applied to.

This ownership is, and will continue to be, an important element in retaining the business where it is now located.

In this connection we may call the attention of our readers to the advantages of associations formed in accordance with the statute provided for the purpose in this State, for improving tracts of land when the investment is larger than desired by a single individual. Many people dislike to have joint ownerships of land, subjecting them in case of death to a possible sacrifice of their property by partition sales; such persons might often be glad to start improvements in localities where they have large interests, if they were acquainted with the convenient features of this method. The plan of having a property owned in $100 shares, makes it as easily transferable as shares in the New York Central Railroad or a National Bank, so that the owners can divide their real estate among their children and grandchildren as readily as any personal property.

The checks for 2 per cent. received each quarter by the shareholders of the New York Real Estate Association probably please the recipients quite as much, as the quarterly checks at one-half the rate of interest, from Secretary Sherman, solace the holders of United States 4 per cent. bonds, which command so large a premium.

We are also informed that Messrs. Minot, Hooper & Co., and A. D. Juilliard have each acquired several lots in Leonard street, west of West Broadway for manufacturing and storage ware-houses, and that other parties are negotiating for lots for this purpose, which is another evidence that all the old buildings must give way to the need for additional facilities in this convenient locality.

Last week we called attention to the improvements made and to be made in Franklin street, on the west side of West Broadway, by Messrs. Welsh, Leggett and others, and we are now informed that still other large buildings are to be erected in this vicinity by Messrs. R. and O. Goelet and other parties, and it looks as if the facilities both for up-town and down-town communication by the Sixth Avenue and Ninth Avenue Railroads were making this territory the best location for the large wholesale grocery houses, and for large manufacturing enterprises connected with the dry goods interest, and as if Franklin street was to be very much such a thoroughfare in the wholesale district as Fourteenth street is in the retail business.

OHIO'S BUSINESS PROMISE.

(Special despatch to New York Daily Times.)

CLEVELAND, Jan. 25.—During the Presidential campaign, when values that depended upon the future were uncertain, because that future was uncertain, there was little done or attempted in the line of real estate. But the spring will see a decided revival, and it is the impression of real estate dealers and of other men of experience in land movements that a season of great briskness is about to open. Of course, some of this is due to the natural growth of a city that has gained 68,000 inhabitants in a decade, but more can be charged to the desire of many capitalists to get away from the uncertainties of stocks, and still not down to the low interests of savings banks or government bonds. Rents are advancing steadily in Cleveland, and the demand for good dwelling and business property exceeds the supply. In some parts rents have gone up from 15 to 20 per cent. in the last two months, and a general advance is inevitable. Thousands of dollars have been invested during the last six months in new manufacturing enterprises —not in half-speculation as when the iron business was so overdone a year ago—but in general manufacturing establishments moved from other points or started as offshots of older concerns that could not supply the market in their various lines.

Not only in Cleveland, but in other cities and towns of Ohio is the same thing heard. Real estate is moving upward quietly and surely in Toledo, Columbus, Akron, Springfield, Canton, and elsewhere. In Youngstown, one of the leading iron towns of the West, houses cannot be found in numbers to suit demands, and new ones are constantly under contract. Even better prices are noted in the sales of farm property in various parts of the State, and the general feeling seems to be one of satisfaction and confidence. In short, the thinking part of this generation seems to have had enough of excitement and speculation, and is disposed to settle down to a safe and careful method of money making, with some certainty of keeping it after it is made.

GOSSIP OF THE STREET.

"What do you hear that is new?" said th writer to a prominent broker.

"That Rome & Ogdensburg road is to be the westerly connection of the Ontario & Western which accounts for the strength of that stock."

"But," said the writer, "according to an inside official, who was interviewed for the REAL ESTATE RECORD recently, the Ontario & Western will not be in fit condition to do a competing business with the Erie and Central for eighteen months. Practically the road has to be rebuilt from Middletown to Oswego, and as yet it has no outlet to New York. Even when completed, the expectation is that its chief value will be as a grain carrier in connection with the boats which will get through the Welland Canal. This can only be during the summer time, when railway freights are lowest."

"You are right," said the broker, "but there are several points ahead in the price of O. & W. yet. People who are handling it, know what they are about. I myself believe that the time is coming when the O. & W. will again be quoted in the twenties."

"I see," said the writer, "that there is quite a movement in the fancies, 'the railroads of the future.'"

"Yes," said the broker, "and that is a feature which makes old street operators doubtful about prices. When the cats and dogs get lively, it is time for prudent people to sell out. Another bad symptom is the enormous amount of new railway securities which have been floated upon this market. And then the cheek of the promoters. Why, they are asking par with accrued interest for mere mushroom railroads. I see no present signs of calamity, but excessive expenditure in railways will cause the next panic when it does come. This, your know, has occured repeatedly in England."

"I see there was a flurry in Boston, Hartford & Eries. They ran up from 55 to 66."

"Yes," said the broker, "there is a new organization of the New York & New England road, into the stock of which the Boston, Hartford & Erie bonds are convertible at their face value. It will not be long before you'll be able to buy a ticket on the West Side elevated road for Boston, for the track of the New York & Northern road intersects the New York & New England road at Brewster Station. Then the New York & New England road will soon reach the Hudson River at Fishkill, at which point the ferry will convey the cars to the Erie track on the other side of the river. This will afford a new outlet for Erie coal to a large part of New England, and will help the sale of the New England and Erie stock. There is one cloud in the future for the Boston, Hartford & Erie bonds. In February the question comes up before the courts as to whether the common stockholders were not deprived of their rights by the foreclosure of the Hartford & Erie bonds. That cat sells less than a dollar a share, but it may be quoted at higher figures pending court proceedings.

INCREASED INTEREST IN MINING SHARES.

During the last two weeks there was developed an increase of interest in the mining market. Brokers are all kept busy, the transactions are very large and the corridors of the New York Board are thronged with speculators. There has not been any special new development in mines; the Comstocks are duller than ever, and the shares dealt in are not generally those which pay dividends. But, nevertheless, there is life in the market and the mining interest is indubitably growing. It is acknowledged that the regular Stock Exchange made a mistake in having anything to do with mines. That interest requires special attention and very different manipulation. There is no buying or selling of mining shares on margins, they must be purchased or sold outright. The immense extension of interest in railway stocks has crowded the dealers in mining shares into the very smallest corner of the room.

One group of dividend-paying stocks has been largely dealt in, during the past week, at advancing figures. We allude to those in which Col. Bidwell was interested when alive, to wit, Green Mountain, Cherokee, Rising Sun and Goldstripe. Report speaks well of these mines, and they seem to be well managed and manipulated, at least on the Mining Board. Silver Cliff has been active and all the probabilities point to much higher figures. Bull Domingo has been inactive, but inside owners say that a movement will soon be inaugurated to put the price of the stock up. But mining share points are very uncertain. People who own Iron Silver stock claim that now the road is clear for developing the most magnificent property in Leadville. This claim embraces a thousand acres. It was so promising that the same California gang who ruined Chrysolite and swindled the stockholders, secured an option that controlled the management of the Iron Silver mine. They played the same old game, capitalized the company for 500,000 shares, placed all they could of the stock at $7.50 per share, then sold short and raided on the stock and, to help their schemes, injured the mine in every way. They got up lawsuits, so as to put the title of the mine in peril, the current expenses were charged with the labor of 600 workmen, when less than 200 men were employed. In short, every device was tried known to the expert California mining swindler. We give all this on the authority of a large holder of the stock, without vouching for its entire accuracy. It is claimed that the mine is now controlled by Mr. Leiter, who is an honest business man, and now the mine is to be developed so as to bring out its immense possibilities. Still, we would not advise any one to purchase it.

The American Mining Board seems to be approaching dissolution. It was started by a group of Californians to further their schemes, and who voted themselves large salaries in the Board, as well as in the Trust Company. This last institution, by the way, has been re-organized on a cheaper basis. Loaning money on mining shares does not seem to bs an extensive or lucrative business.

Seats in the New York Mining Board command $800, and people who know the growing interest in mines, are of opinion that the price will be much higher before the end of this year.

Real estate and rents are advancing in Philadelphia, as well as here, and that, too, at a pace which excites attention. According to the Record, there are fewer houses to rent there now than at any period for many years, and the demand has not been equalled since the panic. Many owners have increased their rents 10 to 15 per cent for houses on which the leases have expired or are about to terminate. Others have notified their agents to ask a higher figure on the lease-expiring properties for the balance of the year. At Cincinnati and Chicago and other important points the journals report a like activity and improvement.

RAILROADS THROUGH THE MINERAL REGIONS.

The Eastern public are little aware of the activity in railway enterprises in the mineral regions which lie adjacent to the Rocky and Sierra Nevada Mountains. Undoubtedly the most important portion of the earth in its promise of mineral productions, is that which extends from the Isthmus of Darien north to Oregon and northeast towards Lake Superior. There may be other sections of the world surface which contain as much or more hidden wealth; but the especial value of our west coast mineral region is that it is now being intersected with railways, and that the American race has the inclination, the money and the kind of population to promptly develop the incalculable wealth of this country in gold, silver, iron, copper and other metals. We have had some tolerably wild railroad building in the West, through forests and over prairies, and the return has not always been what the promotors expected. But it is a curious fact that every railroad in a mineral region has paid enormous profits. We all know what the coal and iron of Pennsylvania have done for the railway interests East; but very astonishing profits have also been made in very wild and mountainous countries by the construction of short railway lines. A line of ninety miles of narrow gauge road, running from Palisades, on the Central Pacific Road, south, to Eureka, has paid for its capital stock every two years since it has been built. The returns from this road was the nucleus for the gigantic fortune of D. O. Mills. The roads to Virginia City and Carson City are also very profitable. It was in these that William Sharon made much of his money.

During the week, Mr. L. M. Chittenden lectured before the Bullion Club, on the new railway enterprises in the State of Nevada, and their connection with the two transcontinental lines, one completed and the other shortly to be completed. The lecture was full of matter which would have interested all the railway and mining men of the country. Through the faulty organization of the city staffs on our daily journals, lectures like these are not reported and are lost to the country. Even the mining and financial journals neglect them, as they seem to think publishing the paid puffs of swindling mining companies pays better.

Mr, Chittenden claimed that the belt of country extending from the Comstock lode in a southeasterly direction across the State of Nevada and into southern Utah, and which includes the Eureka district, Silver Reef and the famous Horn Silver mine, is probably the richest mineral region, of the same size, on earth. It is as yet but very scantily developed, owing to the lack of railway facilities, as well as wood and water. But railways are now under way; the Southern Utah, which starts from Salt Lake, now runs over 200 miles south to Frisco where is situated the Great Horn silver mine. Here it turns to the West and will run through sonthern Nevada, opening up this rich mineral belt and putting it in communication with some of the finest coal beds in the world, which have recently been found just across the southern border of Utah, in New Mexico. Fuel is all important in Nevada, and here is an abundant supply of it for mines, the greater part of which require coal and coke. The mines of that region are not free milling, and the ores of those mines reqnire chlorination and roasting, but Nevada has the most famous salt marshes in the world, and it is in eastern Nevada that the famous mountain of salt exists, large blocks of which were on exhibition at the world's fair in Philadelphia. Then, another railroad is projected down through the centre of Nevada from north to south, which will supply wood to the mines, as well as bring supplies and carry ore and bullion cheaply. This road will also be extended so as to form a connection between the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific.

Mr. D. G. Croly, the secretary of the club, followed the lecturer in an account of a visit he paid Candelaria, Nevada, in the spring of 1879. He had traveled from Bodie to Walker Lake, a distance of some sixty miles, and he way struck by the picture of desolation which the surface of the State of Nevada presented. He told of Rhode's salt marsh, where thousands of tons of the finest salt could be gathered daily, without any visible diminution of the supply. With railway communications the salt marshes could not only be utilized for the mines, but could be sold throughout the country. Mr. Croly has visited Bellville, where the famous Northern Belle mine is situated, and he was much impressed with the immense possibilities of the country as a mining camp. But the region is so deficient in water, that man and beast have to be supplied with liquid that is paid for at the rate of five to eight cents a gallon, while wood was eighteen dollars a cord. He thought the time might come when the passes in the Sierra Nevada Mountains might be so widened and deepened that the moist winds of the Pacific coast might largely extend the area of wooded country in Nevada. There was such a pass at the Mammoth mine and though that was situated on the easterly slope of the Sierra Nevada, the country about was dense forests, due to the moist air of the Pacific Ocean finding its way through from the west side after passing over the valley of the Yosemite. Mr. Croly also pointed out the reason for the difference in price in the stocks of the Central and Union Pacific roads. Under Jay Gould's management the Union Pacific had built feeders to its main track, north and south, in every direction. Among the assets of the Union Pacific are thousands of miles of branches running to the mineral regions north and south. The Central Pacific had pursued a different policy and had allowed private persons, like Sharon and Mills, to get control of the branches which connected the mineral regions with the trunk line of the Central Pacific. In the opinion of the speaker, we are on the eve of immense developments in the mineral regions of the great West. As yet we have but scratched the surface, but with the building of these railways the mining interests of the country will be prodigiously developed. The next decade would see the largest addition ever made to the stock of gold and silver in the world. The great silver discoveries of the Spaniards, after the conquest of Mexico and Peru, gave an immense impulse to the business of the whole world. We were about soon to add to the bullion of the world far in excess of what had been done by the Spaniards when they were in their prime. It was unnatural for this country to be draining gold and silver from other parts of the world. In a normal state of trade we should be exporting bullion very largely, as it is one of our productions as much as cotton, wheat or petroleum. The mining centre of the continent would hereafter be New York, and in time the transactions in mining securities will be as important as the dealings now are in railway shares.

Professor Stewart added his testimony to that of the previous speakers respecting the vast possibilities of mining in Nevada and the adjacent regions. But he further thought that New York capitalists would some day be astonished, when they found out how rich were the mines on the east coast of Maine.

MARKET REVIEW.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

☞ For list of lots and houses for sale see pages vi and vii of advertisements.

While landlords are paying special attention to the rent question just now, purchasers and investors in real estate are unusually lively for the season. It is now settled that there will be an increase of rents along the whole line. We have already noted the fact that the agents of the Astor estate have announced an advance in rents of 10 per cent., but 15 per cent., and even 20 in good locations, has been asked for renewals of leases of first class residences, while in some choice locations near the Stock Exchange, rents have advanced to figures which cannot very well be represented by percentages. Time was when the stockbroker did his business in a dingy office, his only furniture being a safe, a desk and a couple of chairs. But the business of the brokers has grown so much, that large offices and suites of rooms are in demand. As all wish to be near the Stock Exchange, it follows that rents in the district bounded by Broadway, Broad and Wall streets, and Exchange place, have witnessed a phenomenal rise.

It is to be remarked that the increase in rentals has been, first, in business property far down town, and, secondly, in fashionable up-town quarters, below and on the east side of the Central Park. The new rich, those who have made a great deal of money within the last two years, are looking around for first class residence property, and, as their ranks are increasing, there is no danger that there will be any over-building this year.

The first effect of the World's Fair organization is shown in the announcement of a sale of the Dyckman property. There is already a lively speculation in real estate in the neighborhood of Inwood, which will grow to large proportions as the time comes near for the holding of what promises to be the greatest exposition ever held. The property to be sold is on Ninth avenue, Academy street, Sherman avenue, Hawthorn street, Post avenue and Naegle avenue. The prices for these lots will be eagerly canvassed by all who are interested in real estate in the Twelfth and Twenty-fourth Wards.

The sales on the Real Estate Exchange during the past week were numerously attended, and the prices were generally very good. It may be remarked that residence property between Tenth and Fortieth streets does not do quite as well as property further up-town. Thus a fine residence property in East Thirty-seventh street, between Lexington and Park avenues, a four-story high stoop brick house, built on a full lot, with a stable adjoining also on a full lot, brought only $42,400—$45,000 had been refused at private sale.

Last Saturday was sold the estate of Peter Dolan, deceased, by Adrian H. Muller. The particulars of this and other sales will be found below. The prices were generally quite satisfactory.

The same auctioneer sold the property Nos. 148 and 150 Franklin street, and also some property corner Bowery and Bayard street, for what was considered very satisfactory figures.

Morris Wilkins sold some property in New street (Nos. 42 and 44), for $42,500; also some property corner Macdougal and West Fourth streets; a residence on West Washington square was bid up to $27,000 and withdrawn.

Richard V. Harnett sold the warehouse of Moore, Jenkins & Co., at the corner of West Broadway and Franklin street, near the elevated station, which was bid in by the plaintiff for $95,000.

GOSSIP OF THE STREET.

Sixty-two lots of land, comprising the block between One Hundred and Fiftieth and One Hundred and Fifty-first streets, from Tenth to Eleventh avenue, have been sold for $157,000, an average of $2,500 each.

Messrs. Lespinasse & Friedman report the sale of nine lots on the Boulevard and One Hundred and Forty-second street, owned by Mr. Chamberlain, being five lots on the Boulevard and four on the street, for $32,000; also four lots on One Hundred and Seventeenth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, for $4,000 each. The lots on Seventy-third street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, adjoining Mr. Edward Clarke's houses, previously alluded to as having been sold at $60,000, were not so disposed of, but they have been sold by this firm at $7,000 each; total, $56,000, to Mr. Hamilton, the builder, who could not find the lots he required on the East Side, and hence tries the experiment of building on the West Side,

The same firm have sold four lots on the north side of Eighty-fourth street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, for $6,500 each.

The Nos. 15 and 17 Broad street are said to have been sold, but we have not the particulars.

Butler & Matheson have sold 45 Pearl street and 32 Bridge street, at $14,500. The house No. 10 Stone street was sold on private terms.

Riker & Co. have sold for Mr. Thomas F. Durant the Fifth Avenue Riding Academy building and lease for $90,000 cash. This property is known as Nos. 7, 9 and 11 East Fifty-eighth street and Nos. 14, 16 and 18 East Fifty-ninth street. It is 200 feet east of Fifth avenue, and its dimensions are 75x200. This property is leased from the Astor estate.

The same firm sold two lots on Seventy-third street, for Mr. J. L. R. Wood, for $7,750 cash each. These lots are on the south side, west of Ninth avenue, 50x102.2 feet, and are immediately to be improved with three first class brown stone dwellings for private parties. The same firm has sold a dwelling, store and stable with an acre of ground, at Bronxville, Westchester County, for $5,500 cash.

NOTES

We call attention to the statement of the Niagara Fire Insurance Company. Upon a cash capital of $500,000 the company has accumulated assets amounting to $1,557,486, of which over $600,000 is net over liabilities and capital. The year past shows an increase of $130,000 in excess of increase over expenditures.

The twenty-first annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, published in another column, shows its assets to be $41,000,000 and its surplus $9,000,000. The income in 1880 was $8,700,000; the payments to policy-holders, $4,800,000, and the amount of new policies written, $35,000,000. Such figures exhibit great financial strength and prosperity.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS —The general features of the position remain just about the same as last noted, and we have no positively new features to advise. When the weather is open and mild the consumption is full and rapid, all contractors using their utmost efforts to expedite the work in hand, especially as recent indications seem to show that more may be expected to follow immediately after. Supplies in the meantime run very moderate, and can be brought forward from only one or two sources, with buyers ready to negotiate upon anything merchantable, and at full figure. Receivers of cargoes, in fact, retain an immense advantage, and as a portion of them are not what may be called "regulars" on our market, they seem a little inclined to squeeze matters occasionally to a pretty severe tension, as some buyers, absolutely compelled to take some stock at almost any cost, have learned to their sorrow. Accumulations in yard, in the meantime, are fading away gradually, and bringing a good return to dealers, though in many cases selling relatively lower than the figures asked for car goes. There is still an absence of any solid basis for quotations, in view of the position in which the general market is now placed, and figures would be only nominal. Some of the few lots available are held at $10, but under existing circumstances there is no price for anything until negotiations have actually been closed.

CEMENT.—A good, fair seasonable demand is reported for both domestic and foreign with the general market standing about as for some time past. Holders for the most part are firm and none appear to have enough stock to lead to open or free offerings, but thus far the outlet has all been supplied and former rates accepted.

GLASS —There is not much doing in window at the moment, most of the orders covering in the main ordinary memorandums for regular sizes etc., and buyers show no great anxiety over the near-by future. Supplies are full and increasing and values quite unsettled. The foreign stock is offered with much freedom and at very low rates and to compete with this influence domestic manufacturers are allowing much better terms, but appear to be unwilling to make public the exact rates.

HARDWARE —The tendency toward an improving business continues, and already some few dealers report quite a little animation. The call comes from seasonable quarters, and covers about the usual assortment, with buyers moving cheerfully and apparently not afraid to invest to the full extent of their known wants, and in some cases beyond. The severity of the winter has had an influence to check considerable business, owing to the difficulty and expense attending the movement of supplies. On Strap and T Hinges the rates continue unsettled, but for other goods the position fairly steady. The Putnam Nail Co. have issued a revised list for Horse Shoe Nails as follows: Nos. 12 and 10 at 23c., No. 9 at 24c., No. 8 at 25c., No. 7 at 26c., No. 6 at 28c., No. 5 at 31c., No. 4 at 50c. and No. 3 at $1, subject to a discount of 10 per cent.

The Pump manufacturers, at a recent meeting, adopted the following rates: Cistern and Pitcher Pumps, 50 per cent. discount; Drive Well, Yard, Set Length Lift and Set Length Force Pumps, 45 do; Brass Cylinder Cistern and Pitcher Pumps, Iron and Brass Cylinder Force Pumps (excepting Horizontal, Power and Rotary), either single or double acting, including Hand Boiler Pumps, 40 per cent.; Horizontal and Hand Rotary Pumps, including Rotary Barrel Pumps, 35 per cent.; Hydraulic Rams and Garden Engines, 30 per cent.

LATH—The general situation continues favorable to the selling interest. Stocks in hands of dealers are by no means liberal, and in some cases prove quite small, while consumption is pretty good, and gradually increasing, with little prospect of an offset in the way of fresh arrivals of any magnitude for some time to come. Sudden accumulations of several cargoes, such as occured a short time ago, must naturally have temporary depressing influence, but a little careful management placed all the offering, and receivers say they could "do it again." The close is firm.

LIME—Demand is good, and everything offered has been placed with full former rates obtained all around, the market ruling firm. A larger supply would no doubt have found an outlet, but no addition of importance can be looked for before spring.

LUMBER.—Our local market does not amount to much in the way of operations from first hands and business is largely dependent upon such parcels as may from time to time work forward from primary points. Supplies, however, are full enough for all wants at the moment and receivers do not appear over anxious for any additional arrivals. Consumption has been fair since the commencement of the year, but not quite so full or anxious as anticipated, the shipping movement, through temporary influences has been checked, and these features prevent any great amount of buoyancy. Confidence, however, appears in no way shaken among holders and expectations are in some cases of very positive character, though as a rule we think the tendency is to calculate upon a good healthy trade at ruling rates, rather than upon anything in the way of a speculative stimulus and its almost certain reaction. All accounts from the country, East, North and Northwest, show an immense amount of log cutting with indications favorable for a good run in the spring.

Spruce has developed little or no change of late. Amounts available are small and of irregular offering, and as buyers cannot always be found who are in a position to handle supplies at this season, the sale is somewhat a matter of chance, with prices correspondingly uncertain. Should a customer happen to be waiting, a full figure could be obtained, but if it were necessary to hunt up a buyer, and this is the most likely, the cost would have to be very attractive. Specials continue under treaty, with some sales, and are still quoted at $18@22 on the entire range, but the latter figure only for extra difficult. Randoms nominal at about $16 50@18 per M.

White Pine has sold fairly on home account, including a shipping demand as well as local orders, and full prices were obtained with very little difficulty. Exporters were also very well represented, and in some cases evidently a little more anxious, though rarely moving beyond positive orders. Current freight accommodations are not very attractive. We quote $17@20 per M. for West India shipping boards; $23@25 for South America do; $15.50@16.50 for box board; $17.00@17.50 for do. wide and sound do.

Yellow Pine is quiet. The stock here is not of a character to satisfy the general call, and it is only rarely that a sale from the accumulation can be made. For futures the offerings are very small, and it is claimed that the mills have gone behind on their orders to a greater extent than ever, owing to an interruption in the supply of logs, and an addition to the number of engagements on foreign account. On some schedules, for local account, there has been business, but only at a premium. We quote random cargoes at about $23 50@25 per M.; ordered cargoes, $24@26 do.; green flooring boards, $24@25 do.; and dry do. do. $25@26.50. Cargoes at the South $14@17 per M. for rough, and $19@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods are not very active owing to the scant supply of desirable parcels, but buyers are willing to pay extreme rates to secure what they desire. We quote at wholesale rates by carload about as follows: Walnut, $77@85 per M.; ash, $33@36 do.; oak, $35@40 do.; maple, $30@35; chestnut, 1st and 2d, $30@35; do. do.; culls, $18@20 do.; cherry, $45@47 do; white wood, ⅛ and ⅝ inch. $25@27.50, and do. inch, $43@45 do.; hickory, $35@45 do., for Western, and $65@75 for good nearby stock.

Shingles continue in small demand for export, but are not much wanted on home account. Prices firm. We quote Cypress at about $6 for saps and $8.50@9 for hearts; pine shipping stocks, $4 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $4.50@4.50 for 16-inch, as to quality and to quantity. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: For 30-inch, $16@22.25 for A and $28.75@33.25 for No 1; for 24-inch, $6 50@16 for A and $16 75@23 for No. 1; for 20-inch, $8@10.50 for A and $11 25@11.75 for No. 1.

Among the yards business is good, when the weather admits, and the general position seems to be cheerful. Prices about as before with a fairly steady tone.

From among the lumber charters and engagements recently reported we select the following:

The Nor barque Rebus, 665 tons, from Pascagoula to the United Kingdom or Continent, timber, £5 15s.; a Br brig, 189 tons, hence to Las Palmas, lumber and general cargo, $1,500; a schr, 299 tons, from Wilmington, N. GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

SAGINAW VALLEY.

LUMBERMAN'S GAZETTE OFFICE, Bay City, Mich., Jan 25, 1881.

The market is without change and rather quiet. Some sales are being made, but the volume of transactions is not large. There is a disposition among some dealers to hold off to see what the harvest will be, but that can make but little difference. The main question is, will the general business of the country be as prosperous this year as last. If any one can settle this question to their satisfaction they can go ahead with their purchases of lumber, for, taking last year as a criterion, there cannot well be an overproduction. Notwithstanding the enormous cut of 862,453,223 feet made by the Saginaw river mills, there was reported on hand unsold at the close of the season only some 203,000,000 feet. It is quite likely all this amount was not unsold when the annual report was published. Not only have sales been made from it ever since the season closed, but we know of a good many lots that were entered in the column unsold for the reason that positive information could not be obtained regarding it, although it was generally understood to be sold. There is probably at this moment not to exceed 150,000,000 feet of lumber on hand unsold. As to the product of this year, it is not possible to conceive how it can be larger than last year. There is a limit to the capacity of the mills, and it was probably reached last year, and whatever may be the log crop, only so much of it can be manufactured. Sales have been made the past week at $7, $14 and $32, which is the prevailing quotation. At $6.50, $13 and $30 coarser lumber can be bought, while the very best can not be obtained at less than $8, $15 and $35. Inquiries for stock continue liberal, and the condition of trade is considered satisfactory.

The shingle trade is not generally large during the winter, but is a little more sluggish than usual just now. The quotations are $1.60@2.00 and $2.60@3.00.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER, Minneapolis, Minn.,

The polar waves which have been sweeping over a large part of the country have had a very visible effect upon the lumber business, as it might naturally be expected to have. This is shown by the table of shipments from Minneapolis as well as the reports from elsewhere. All have dropped off about the same per cent., and our advices indicate that all are well satisfied with the situation and prospects, as one of our patrons remarked the other day, "There is very little comfort in an order to ship lumber when the thermometer is twenty-five degrees below zero." The time grows short until the winter storms will be gone and the lumberman will be standing on his head howling for cars to carry his lumber, and his cries will be in vain, his stock will melt away before he can replace it. This roseate view of the case is justified by the outlook. The West is filled with the products of 1880, which are being hurried to the markets of the world as fast as our transportation can carry them, and this produce will give the farmers of the West a vast amount to invest in improvements. They are now out of debt and ready to buy lumber as soon as they get the proceeds of their wheat, corn and pork. No one complains of an overstock of any kind of lumber, but nearly every one murmurs the absence of many important kinds from the yard. No one needs money bad enough to buy trade by cutting prices.

The loggers are all shouting happy over this exceptionally good winter for logging. They are securing an enormous supply of logs, but they cannot all be cut if driven out, and the fraternity are now abundantly able to carry over the winter all the surplus which can be cut even if they are all run out of the streams. This makes an important difference in the situation now, and two years ago when the loggers impoverished by several unsuccessful years were forced to sell at the first offer.

The Chicago Northwestern Lumberman continues its yearly review, and our latest dates cover a full report of the Eastern Michigan district. We have only space for the following, but advise those interested to send for a paper and read the balance:

Comparison with former years shows that the mills in this district accomplished more last year than ever before within the limits of a single sawing season. The gain is certainly more than respectable, and tends to confirm what was pretty well demonstrated by the review of the operations of the Lake Michigan mills, in the Lumberman for last week.

that the season of 1880 stands far in advance of any predecessor in its lumber manufacture. We give below a comparative statement of the lumber cut by the mills on the Saginaw river, and that left over at the close of the season, for the 16 years ending with 1880:

	Lumber sawed.	On hand at close of season.

The Lumberman's weekly report is as follows:

The developments of trade during the week which has elapsed since our last report have not been such as to lead to any great buoyancy of feeling, while no depressing elements have intervened. The shipments of each day but one have exceeded those of the corresponding days of 1880, and while this excess has been but moderate it is yet an indication of at least a better tone than then prevailed. The trade, too, feels reasonably well satisfied not only with the present status, but with the outlook for the immediate future, and while, among so large a number of dealers as is included in the lumber industry of Chicago, it is hardly to be expected that all should be free from that dyspeptic condition which sees nothing but disaster and ruin ahead, the number of these is so few that the rest can afford to laugh at them. It is only an occasional one of whom it can be said that he is cutting the list, and this on only a few of the lower grades. The list as established more than two months ago is well maintained, while some grades are so scarce that the list quotations do not give any idea of their present value. Especially is this the case with many, if not all, sizes of small timber, which, while quoted at from $11.50 to $13, are worth all they will bring, and those who have them ask from $17 to $20, without losing any orders. Sales of 3x12, from 14 to 20 feet long, on which the list ranges from $11.50 for short to $13 for the long, have been made at $17 for all lengths; 6x6 is in short supply, and many other kindred sizes are monopolized practically by one or two yards, which knowing their value ask and obtain it. From present appearances the opening of navigation will find the market bare of this class of stock. In some of the more ordinary grades there is a diversity of opinion as regards values. We hear from one that the list price of $13 50 on fencing is too high, while a sale of 200,000 feet has been made this week at $14. We hear of no items on the list that are weak, although one or two houses have striven to stimulate trade by a 50 cent cut on some grades. So far as we can learn, the effort has not been eminently successful.

Notice is given by the Secretary of the Lumberman's Exchange of a meeting of the lumber dealers of this city, to be held Monday next, when no doubt it will be developed what grades are in full stock and what ones are in short supply. It is useless to speculate on what the action of the meeting, as regards the price list will be, but we can guess that the list will be left practically unchanged. None with whom we have talked advocate a reduction of the present figures, but all agree that a revision is needed in the raising of them on some special grades.

HARDWOODS.—Trade in the aggregate is fair. Several of the furniture establishments have not started up since their stop a couple of weeks ago, which tends to lessen the demand. Receipts continue light. We note one bill of 100,000 feet of walnut from Tennessee, and there is considerable whitewood coming from the same State. It is safe to say that Tennessee is now producing three-quarters of the whitewood that comes to this market. Several Chicago parties have mills in that State, and most of them are being run for all they are worth. The weather has improved to such an extent that logging is progressing fairly. A large amount of whitewood, comparatively, will be cut in Michigan this winter. Some experienced dealers are of the opinion that with the increased facilities for obtaining whitewood, the tendency will be to lower figures, while others, equally experienced, think in the other direction. A dealer who received 150,000 feet last week placed the entire lot direct from the cars, and he could place as much more, were he able to obtain the same quality. While this wood is accumulating in a few of the yards, just now, transactions like the above plainly indicate that the live yards will not be overstocked yet awhile.

There has not been so much green lumber in market since last spring. A majority of our dealers stick their lumber at the producing points, thereby saving freight and yard rent, but this winter a larger proportion of it is being brought to the yards, as much of it will be readily disposed of instead of dry stock, which cannot be had

The inquiry for ash is of the liveliest kind. Undoubtedly, considerable ash will be cut in the Saginaw district, Mich., if the present favorable weather continues. The pine business is the prime consideration, and the hardwood cut does not begin in earnest until the pine is secured.

Chicago parties who went to Kansas full of hope that something in the way of getting a stock of walnut might be done, have returned empty handed, finding that the standing timber is held altogether too high in proportion to the price of lumber in this market.

In the hardwood districts of northern Michigan the cut will be large. In the vicinity of Charlevoix, the snow is rather deep for easy work, but there is not enough to materially retard operations. The same reports as regard a big cut also reach us from Wisconsin and Indiana.

The Bay City Lumberman's Gazette comes to us with an exhaustive review of the Saginaw market. At the moment we can only find room for the following:

A noteable season in the history of the lumber trade, considering the amount of business done and the steadiness of prices and the demand for stock is that of 1880. The figures on the books of the custom house show that more lumber has left the Saginaw River by vessels than during any other year in the history of the trade in this district. The tabulated statement elsewhere shows also a larger product of lumber and logs than ever before recorded in the history of the trade The season of 1880 opened with uncertainty and doubt clouding the minds of dealers in nearly every locality except the Saginaw district. Here the wideawake and intelligent manufacturers seem to have grasped the situation with a clearness of comprehension which gave them confidence and resulted in a firmness and uniformity of views which proved of great benefit While dealers East and West looked for a break in prices, the manufacturers of Eastern Michigan held steadily to their faith that an increased demand would maintain and even increase rates, and they have had the satisfaction of having their judgment vindicated by the logic of events. The demand for lumber stocks at the East has been unprecedentedly large, so much so that not only have the resources of the Saginaw Valley and the various Canadian sources of supply been taxed to their utmost capacity to meet it, but the Northwest has been drawn upon to quite an extent.

There were, it is true, some casual causes for the extra demands of the Eastern market upon the West. There was a falling off in the supply from the chief producing districts of the East, the streams in Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Pennsylvania failing to bring down the logs put into them. The supply of spruce from the St. Lawrence was also somewhat limited. Nevertheless, it is undeniable that the demands of the Eastern market have been unusually large. It is gratifying to know that it has not been a speculative one, but that the lumber which has gone thither has been required to meet the wants of consumers. It has been a season of general prosperity in the trade, and if the profits of the dealers have not been as large as to percentage, the difference has been more than made up by the amount of business done. The manufacturers have made money, and and there is no denying it. Their profits have been good, and the Saginaw producers have probably done better than those of any other section; because they have held their stock firmly, and resisted every effort of the bears to depress prices.

The shipping season opened in March, and up to May 1st over 80,000,000 feet of lumber had gone forward by water. The market ruled firm the entire season at $6, $12 and $30 for ordinary stock, while good stock sold readily at $7, $14 and $30 to $32. Choice grades sold at $7 50, $15 and $36, and, in some instances, $8, $16 and $35 was realized.

The season was noted for a scarcity of the best grades of lumber, and towards the close dealers were unable to fill orders for that class of stock. The stock on dock, of coarse lumber, is larger than usual, but it is now in better demand, and there will be comparatively a small quantity of marketable lumber on the dock, at the opening of navigation, unsold.

Since the close, there has been an active request, and from 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 has been sold for shipment next season, while some choice lumber has been purchased for next season's delivery, yet in the woods.

The lumbering operations this year are extensive, and a large crop will be the result. That the year 1881 will be marked by great activity in the lumber trade, there is scarcely room for doubt, while the contracts being made indicate no apprehension, on the part of outside dealers, as to the future of prices.

THE SOUTH.

The Charleston News and Courier as follows:

Timber and Lumber.—The stock of these articles is light and the market firm. Prices show rather an upward tendency and timber is quoted at $4@5 per M. for docking, $5@7 for mill and $7@8 for shipping qualities. Lumber sells at $12@15 per M. for city sawed, $10@12 for railroad and $7@11 for rafted descriptions. The bad weather which prevailed has lessened the supply.

Exports of lumber from the port of Charleston from September 1, 1880, to January 21, 1881.

FREIGHT.

Lumber.—By Sail.—The supply of coastwise tonnage is rather in excess of immediate requirements: but time charters are readily effected for Philadelphia, New York and Eastward. Vessels are wanted for Spanish ports. Our figures include the range of Savannah, Darien and Brunswick, from 50c. to $1 being paid here for change of loading port. We quote: To Baltimore and Chesapeake ports, $5.00@5.50; to Philadelphia, $6.00@6.50; to New York and Sound ports $6.00@7.00; to Boston and eastward, $7.00@8 00; to St John, N. B., $8.00; [Timber $1.00 higher than lumber rates]; to the West Indies and windward, $7.00@9.00; to South America, $19.00; to Spanish ports, 14.00@15.00; to United Kingdom for orders, timber 36s., lumber £5 5s @£5 10s.

THE EAST.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin as follows:

Western lumber exhibits the quietness usual at this season, and dealers are buying to supply their immediate wants only. Prices maintain a steady tone. Eastern lumber also moves slowly. Cargoes are arriving by rail from Northern New Hampshire and Vermont very freely, and manufacturers are reported to be seeking orders. Shingles are sluggish and dealers are not disposed to meet the present high prices of clapboards.

THE PROVINCES.

A recent letter from St. Johns, N. B., says:—The estimate made here by some well informed person is, that probably 400,000,000 superficial feet may be got out in New Brunswick this season. This is only an approximation; but as the exports of this province for the season now closed were, say, 387,000,000 lineal feet, it is not likely to be far astray. These 400,000,000 feet will likely be apportioned somewhat as follows;

	Feet.
The Miramichi	120,000,000
Other north shore ports	15,000,000
The St John	220,000,000
Other places	45,000,000
Total	400,000,000

The shipments of scantlings, battens, boards and pailings in 1880 were more than doubled. Of square timber, 616 tons birch 143 tons pine were shipped, as compared with 153 tons birch and 31 tons pine in 1879, made in 36 ships of 19,406 tons.

FOREIGN.

This week's mail from Rio Janeiro reports:

Pitch Pine.—No arrivals. Market firm at 42$000 per dozen.

White Pine.—The arrivals consist of 40,010 feet per Marena from New York, sold before arrival. Market firm at 120 reis per foot.

NAILS.—Some few export orders were presented, and more or less demand prevailed on home account, giving the general market a slight degree of animation. Business, however, is not fully satisfactory, and dealers complain to some extent over the condition of the trade at present. There is a hopeful feeling regarding the future, and a full spring and summer distribution predicted. Prices rule steady at about the figures for some time ruling.

We quote 10d to 60d common fence and sheathing, per keg, $2.90@3; 8d and 9d, common do, per keg, $3.25@3.35; 6d and 7d, common do, per keg, $3.50@3 60; 4d and 5d, common do, per keg, $3.75@3.85; 3d and 4d, light, per keg, $4 50@4.60; 3d, fine, per keg, $5.25@5.35; 2d, per keg, $5.25@5 35.

Cut spikes, all sizes, $3.25@3 35. Floor, Casing and Box, $3.75@4.25. Finishing, $4@4.75.

CLINCH NAILS.

1½ inch, $5.50@5.60; 1¾ inch, $5.25@5.35; 2 inch, $5@5.10; 2½@2¾ inch, $4.75@4.85; 3 inch and longer, $4.50@4.65.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Demand is not very active, and, as a whole, the market has a somewhat quiet tone. Symptons of increasing animation are shown, however, and dealers are hopeful that they are receiving the preliminary touch of spring trade, which will eventually expand into considerable magnitude. Supplies in hand are fair of both domestic and foreign make, but under good control, and owners in no way anxious to force matters. Prices may generally be written steady, while on Leads the tendency is toward much firmness. Linseed Oil has shown little or no change, a fair sort of demand prevailing and values finding pretty good support, with a steady tone quoted at the close. Offerings are full enough for all current wants. We quote at about 55@56c. for City and 60@61c. for Calcutta, from first hands.

PITCH.—Demand has been moderate and uncertain beyond the ordinary trade orders, and the market pretty dull. Stocks, however, were not urged to sale, and about former rates asked. We quote at $2 00@2.15 per bbl. for City, delivered.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Some irregularity was shown on the general market, but more activity, and as the well controlled supplies give holders the advantage, the moment the movement increases prices hardened up on both wholesale and retail parcels. There is not much stock in the hands of jobbers and consumers. As this report is closed, the quotations stand at about 46½@48½c. per gallon, according to the quantity of stock handled.

TAR.—The market undergoes no great change in a jobbing way, about the average demand prevailing and prices covering the former line of quotations Stocks in first hands are not large, but fair, and have occasionally of late been offered at a moderate concession. We quote $2.50@2 75 for Newbern and Washington, and $2 62½@2 87½ for Wilmington, according to size of invoice.

No. 137 BROADWAY

There is one consideration in a real estate speculation which should never be lost sight of. Even after a panic the price of realty holds up. Two years after the panic of 1873, lots were sold at public auction at the Mott estate and other sales, on Riverside Drive, for as high figures as could be obtained to-day. If real estate is the last to feel the impetus of high prices, it is a safe and profitable sale after a panic has set in. Then there is no probability that we shall ever see so disastrous a recession of prices as occurred after 1873, for that was due to a paper money inflation, while the present advance in values is based upon gold and silver. We look for higher prices all around.

It is only the other day we were told that Chicago suddenly discovered it was short of houses, both for business and residence. Now the news comes from Ohio that all kinds of land in that State are enhancing in value, especially in Cleveland, Cincinnati and the other centres of population. We shall soon hear the same story from other States and, moreover, the investing public will wake up to the fact that there is a great deal doing in real estate in New York City, and that on this island ought to be found the choicest fancy lots in the whole world. Soon we will hear of land companies, and there is a great deal of quiet buying in unsuspected quarters, to take advantage of the coming "boom" in real estate.

REPEAL THE TAX ON MORTGAGES.

The senatorial election having been disposed of by the legislature of our state, the great and pressing question of the period will, no doubt, shortly be taken in hand by our legislators, in order, not only to remedy the failures of the past, but also to prevent any future litigations in the courts. We, of course, allude to the revision of our tax-system, which can, with safety to the state and its continued prosperity, no longer be postponed. It is only a few weeks ago that we urged in these columns the appointment of a special commission to revise the tax laws and nominated in connection therewith, among others, Mr. Isaac Sherman. He has passed away from us since that time, leaving behind him a record of views and principles, well-known to his intimate reinds, but unfortunately not engrafted upon our statute books. There are not so many men in our state, schooled in the laws of political economy, that we can contemplate the loss of such a man with feelings of indifference. His most persistent attacks were always aimed at that most pernicious system in our state which required the taxation of mortgages, and it is upon this subject that we desire to say a few words from time to time while the legislature remains in session.

Of course, when our present tax laws were enacted, all sorts of property was grasped at. Real property could not escape, as it was recorded piece by piece in our various County offices. Personal property, however, money and securities, not so recorded, were not so easily come-at-able, and that, too, in a state, where four men to one possess personal to real property. This apparent injustice to real property was somewhat overcome in the course of time by assessing land below its market value, but the unequal taxation was nevertheless not remedied. Now in order still further to relieve land from burdens which were felt to be excessive, our system, as now in vogue, seized upon the profits accruing to personal property, and therefore taxed profits. As we have already stated, neither personal property nor its profits were easily discoverable, and hence this attempt proved a failure with the exception of the taxation of mortgages. These being recorded and therefore easily found, were readily taxed as personal property.

The truth is, mortgages are actually, and in fact, deeds of conveyance, absolute only so far as they are under certain conditions subject to the original owner's right of redemption. For this reason, a tax on mortgages is a tax on real estate, and as real estate is already taxed regardless of mortgages, the mortgage tax is a double tax, and on land already too heavily taxed.

Now this attempt to tax money that is lent out upon mortgage security is not only foolish but injurious. It is not the creditor who pays the tax but the debtor. Let us look at it in the proper manner. Say a man borrows $5,000 on real estate worth $10,000. What becomes of the money? It is either put on the land in the shape of buildings, thus increasing its taxable value, or it is paid away to some one else in whose hands sooner or later it assumes a taxable form and is productive of revenue. The money on which it is pretended to raise this tax does in no wise disappear. This money lent to the land on mortgage has sunk into the land and if not, it has gone further where it can be pursued. In either case the tax upon mortgages is a double tax.

While thus remembering that this mortgage tax is virtually a land tax, let us not forget that to the individual owner there is, as a rule, less annual profit in real estate, in proportion to the capital invested, than in any other commodity. In all civilized nations the theory of taxation commands a levy upon property, according to its production, as a source of profit. To prove this, we merely need to recite the fact that in some countries, like France, for instance, unproductive land is not taxed at all. In our own country, as in Iowa, unproductive land, when held by aliens, is heavily taxed, in order to compel those aliens to improve it or to sell it to others who will. In both instances it shows that the law endeavors to obtain a tax from the profits only. While these profits on real estate are already so very small, why should they be burthened with a double tax, such as is inflicted upon it by the taxation of mortgages?

A great deal has been heard of late, especially in the report of our State Controller, in regard to the necessity of equalizing our taxes. The first step towards the equal distribution of taxes must be the removal of double taxes. Hence, the tax upon mortgages must be first repealed, and this, too, before any other attempts are made at reviving the tax system of the State. Let our legislators cypher out for themselves the gain to the State's resources in taxable property that would ensue upon the remission of over $4,000,000 taxes now realized through the tax on mortgages. Let them consider the consequent influx of capital and the the large amount of capital now idle which borrowers would then apply to the development of lands and improvement of towns and villages. To-day many would-be borrowers cannot take that capital, because, owing to this nefarious tax, it is held at too high a rate of interest. Take away the mortgage tax barriers and the vacant lots here, as well as elsewhere in the State, will readily absorb all the capital offered, as then, and then only, it will flow there freely and abundantly.

IF GOLD STOPS COMING, WHAT?

Last winter and spring there was a stoppage of the drain of gold from Europe to this country. We retained the 80 million we imported in 1879, also the 77 million produced by our mines. But the spring of 1880 was a disastrous one to speculators. All who put up margins on stocks, provisions and cereals, metals and general merchandise, lost a great deal of money. The surprise at this state of affairs was general. What can be the matter? was asked. We have a redundant currency, our railroads have all they can do, trade is good, and yet behold a general shrinkage of values; New Jersey Central in May had fallen from 71 to 45, and other stocks in proportion.

Could it have been that to keep up a bull market, a constant addition to the currency was the one thing needful. Upon the resumption of specie importation in August came a stiffening of prices. Every gold doliar that reached our shores was a basis for an inflation of at least four dollars in prices. Nothing that the bears or the politicians could do would keep back the advancing tide of values.

What is the prospect for this spring? Will gold continue to come from Europe to America? We have abundance of goods to export and European investments in our securities has not yet stopped. Yet we apprehend that our imports will be so large that exchange enough will be made to put a stop, for this spring, at least, to any large importations of gold and silver.

How will this affect the market? Will the experience of last year be repeated, and another fall in prices take place?

This is a question easier asked than answered. It may be that this tide of advancing values requires additional floods of gold and silver into our monetary system. Certain it is that operators would do well to be cautious from this time forward. The bears have frequently felt this market recently, and every time prices yield. There has been no panic nor any evidence of any. But after the funding scheme is decided upon, when the time comes for doubt about the new crop, then, if there is no more gold shipped hitherward, the elements exist for a serious break in the market. We allude more particularly of course, to stock values, for there is no reason to believe that the increase of values in real estate can be retarded by any of the fleeting conditions of the money market. The value of realty in New York is being enhanced, because of the continued additions to our population, the great number of new buildings that are being erected and the vast increase in the trade of the metropolis.

But our object in this article was to caution investors in the stock market against being extended during the early spring months. This is the time to be prudent.

HOW TO GOVERN A GREAT CITY.

Apropos of the renewed attempts to give New York again another charter we quote the following from the Paris correspondence of the Nation:

"Most of the questions which come before a municipal council are technical and scientific questions; they concern the welfare and the comfort of the city. Such questions are better treated by scientific committees and boards than by little parliaments composed of politicians. * * * * The power of taxation must, of course, always belong in the end to the nominees of the people; but the power of the purse is not everything; when the taxes have been voted, the administrative details had much better be taken out of the hands of those who can give neither time nor knowledge to their study. In Paris we have a staff of men who are truly admirable for their honesty and for their science, who are engineers of the state, but who are allowed by the state to give to the city of Paris, the benefit of their great knowledge. Such a man is M. Alphand, who has completely transformed all the promenades and plantations of Paris, who has made it the cleanest city in the world, and who has given to the population, even in the poorest quarters, small parks and squares. We had M. Belgrand, who instituted the great system of sewerage which will one day make Paris as healthy as possible; we have men who have undertaken to use the sewage of the city for agricultural purposes, and who have begun the most gigantic experiment of this kind which has ever been tried. It is the duty of these professional men to stand, as it were, between the municipal council and the great water, gas, and electric companies. They instruct the council, they control the companies and see that the charters are well obeyed."

When once the millennium shall have been reached, we in New York will also probably begin to understand that the great questions to be handled by our municipal government ought to have no political bearing. They affect in the main the health and comfort of all citizens, whether Democratic or Republican. Both parties, at least the individuals constituting the same, are interested in clean streets, proper drainage, and a scientific system of sewerage, and the more talent that can be secured for the proper discharge of administrative details of our city government the better for all citizens. We did make a beginning by constituting a Board of Health and the example of Paris might easily be followed in securing for the aid of our common council, a staff of able men, who know how to clean our streets, perfect our sewerage system, and how to utilize the sewage after it has been gathered.

LITIGATION ABOUT MINES.

From this time forth the lawyers are likely to reap a profitable harvest in litigation connected with mining. Our state laws were not framed to deal with an extended speculation in mining shares and properties. Companies for working mines had to organize under the general manufacturing law, which is wholly unsuited in its provisions to the business of mining. The productiveness of a mine is necessarily limited as to time, even the best of them; while a manufactory, like Tennyson's Brook, may "go on forever." Then all the precedents; "the judge-made law" in manufacturing, will be found exceedingly burdensome when applied to mining.

Take one provision, that which makes a stock unassessable. This has had the effect of bringing a number of promising schemes to grief. Mining is always uncertain, and the wisest and most experienced operators are liable to have their hopes excited unduly. In California the law permits assessments and the burden of exploration is distributed over all the stockholders. This liberty on the part of the officers to tax the shareholders, has been fearfully abused. But the deep mining, so profitable in the Comstock, would never have been attempted were the Pacific coast companies limited, in this respect, as are those organized in New York. There must be over a thousand mines on this market which cannot be worked for want of funds.

But the feature of our New York organization, which is especially interesting just now, is the liability of persons who organize and conduct mining companies. These have been clearly pointed out in an address delivered by James W. Gerard, before the Bullion Club. That organization tried to induce persons interested in mining in this city, to have both the national and state laws amended so as to secure honesty of management and efficiency in the conduct of the business. But it was impossible to make any impression upon the great bulk of operators. All they thought of, was getting a mine on which to issue stock and then sell the shares. The gentlemen engaged in this business will, many of them, find to their horror that the law will have something to say. The Mining Record of January 29, publishes the following:

"We understand that a suit has been begun by a gentleman of known probity and responsibility in this city, against the Hon. Stephen B. Elkins, for misrepresentation and fraud in the purchase and sale of the Grand View and Rico Mines. So far as we have learned, it is charged that Mr. Elkins, Senator John P. Jones, ex-Senator J. B. Chaffee, and D. H. Moffat, Jr., arranged to purchase these properties at about $100,000, and then induced parties, with whom they claimed to be friends, and whom they desired to benefit, to go in with them on what they represented to be the "ground floor," in the purchase of the property, at about $400,000, these parties paying at that rate—trusting in the representations made them. In this way Mr. Elkins and his colleagues, it is charged, obtained of the other purchasers more than enough to pay for the property, while securing a large amount of stock for nothing, which they proceeded immediately to sell on the market that their friends, who had really paid for the whole property, had made for it. As eminent counsel, not only in this city but in the state, have been retained by the plaintiff, it looks as if the matter would be sifted to the bottom, and the whole facts of the case shown up in their true light. It is about time that such transactions as are alleged in this affair should be thoroughly ventilated. Every one engaged in legitimate mining enterprises will be glad that some one has had the pluck to do it."

We know nothing of the merits of this case, but all of the persons mentioned above made a great deal of money in floating mines upon this market. It is upon record that they made the money by the sale of the stock, and their friends and the public the loss, when the shrinkage came. The method of procedure outlined above, was very common. That is to say, mines which cost $20,000 were capitalized for $2,000,000 or more and friends were let in on the ground floor for about $1,000,000. It is to be hoped justice will be done in every one of these cases. Senator Jones, to say the least, has been very unfortunate. Every one who took his points, lost their money. And then Little Pittsburgh tells the story of the profits made by Chaffee and Moffat. We do not know that this lawsuit will ever amount to anything or that it has any basis, but we do know that the lawyers will, in all probability, reap a rich harvest from the commitments made by wealthy men during the mining excitement in 1880.

THE CO-OPERATE PLAN OF BUILDING.

MORE ABOUT THE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS IN THE DRY GOODS DISTRICT—WHAT HAS BEEN DONE IN THE PAST AND WHAT CAN BE DONE IN THE FUTURE.

The Central Real Estate Association, referred to in our previous issue as having taken charge of the new improvements that will shortly show themselves along Franklin and Leonard streets has been organized under the laws of the State of New York (see chapter 117, April 5, 1853,) and acts amendatory thereto, on the same plan as the New York and Manhattan Real Estate Associations, organized some years ago—and which associations did so much toward building up what is now known as the dry goods district of New York City. The New York Real Estate Association was the very first organized under said law. This organization came into existence when, in 1869, the New York Hospital Society leased its land along Broadway and Thomas street. The leases were put up at auction, and eight or nine gentlemen were in attendance at the Exchange Salesroom to secure them. After two or three lots had been disposed of, the bidders present formed a pool and purchased twenty-five lots. Instead of dividing the lots among the various individuals forming the pool, and having been informed of the existence of the law above alluded to, they formed an association and improved the lots thus acquired. This association, managed by a board of trustees, has been in existence now for over eleven years, and the smallest shareholders have received a large income pro rata as the largest holder of real estate in that vicinity. No attempt has ever been made to find a market for the stock, most of the transfers having been caused by deaths of original stockholders, and whenever any stock of this association was accidentally thrown on the market, other stockholders succeeded in getting possession of it.

In the spring of 1873, a second organization, called the Manhattan Real Estate Association was established on the same principle, consisting largely of members of the previous association or of those acquainted with the workings of its plan. The latter company leased the remaining lots of the hospital property on Thomas and Duane streets, and improved the same. The result was that the New York Real Estate Association became the possessor of twelve buildings on Thomas and Worth streets, and the Manhattan of nine on Thomas and Duane streets.

The depression in real estate from 1873 until 1880 discouraged building operations in this part of the city, but the present improvement in values has once more called attention to this mode of holding real estate, which is the corporate plan as already described, and supplying every subscriber with a certificate showing his interest in the enterprise which he can negotiate or dispose of like any other personal property. One great advantage of one association owning a number of buildings, consists in the fact that should, for in stance, one warehouse remain unoccupied, the loss of income is so spread among the various shareholders as not to seriously affect the income of the individual. These various individuals hold from $5,000 to $10,000 worth of shares, though there are some who hold larger amounts, and also several who have but a few thousand dollars interested in the enterprise.

IN WHAT SHALL I INVEST?

(Dialogue between an Investor and the Editor of THE REAL ESTATE RECORD).

Investor.—Mr. Editor, I have called to have a chat with you about investments, especially about the wisdom of buying real estate. I have been a reader of THE RECORD for some years and have been struck with the tone and temper of the discussions in your journal of questions affecting real estate, railroad, mining and general financial matters.

Editor.—Well, sir, THE RECORD has been fortunate in its discussions of financial topics, and it is its business to collect and furnish information about investments, especially such as relate to real estate.

Inv.—I have made some money in stocks, but it seems to me prices are rather high, and I have thought perhaps it would be prudent to put money into real estate. The price of property is far less than it was from 1868 to 1872, and yet the increase of population and business ought to have added largely to the value of realty on this island.

Ed.—That last point you make is one that it would be well for real estate operators to keep in mind. The price of all New York property is less than it was between the years you mentioned, yet the city has improved in every respect. Our population has increased 300,000, we have built our elevated road system, vast additions have been made to the trade of New York, and yet both improved and unimproved property is generally quoted at lower figures to-day than in 1871, ten years ago. Then another fact must be borne in mind. The real estate speculation which culminated in 1873 was accompanied by great waste in city expenditure, by lavish and costly improvements of boulevards, of sewerage system, the underdraining of the upper portion of the island, the Riverside drive, all these heavy costs were met and paid for before the panic. To-day, miles of streets and avenues are ready for occupancy, opened, paved, graded, sewered, nothing to do but to build, and yet, with the exception of a few streets on the east side, lots are cheaper now than they were then.

Inv.—Before we discuss real estate further what is your judgment with regard to stocks?

Ed.—I do not think the highest prices have as yet been reached. Our enormous immigration, the constant addition to our currency, the amazing activity in all departments of trade, will express itself in time in higher stock values. So long as the government is using all its forces to cheapen money, prices will be constantly forced up. We have no national bank in this country, but our Treasury department wields a greater power over prices than any national bank in the world. It has been on the side of the bulls, very naturally, because of the desire of the head of the Treasury to re-issue government bonds at lower rates of interest. Then, the extension of the telegraph helps to cheapen money here, by making immediately available the surplus capital of other nations. This is a great factor in speculative ventures, which it would be well to keep in mind constantly. Sometime this spring, if not before, I look for a decided break in the general stock market; but it will not be permanent. Even one or two partial crop failures would only depresss the railway shares in the district affected. It is as certain as anything can be that the prices of the future on the Stock Exchange will be of an advancing character. In the meantime we will be building beyond our means and this will bring on a crash in due time.

Inv.—Yet, I understand you as advising real estate investments in preference to purchasing stocks.

Ed.—Yes, and for a great many cogent reasons. Stocks have advanced 100 per cent., where real estate has gone up 10 or 15 per cent. There is therefore more margin for improvement in the latter than in the former. It is the history of all speculative movements that the first effect is felt in the stock market, while the rise does not culminate in real estate until after every other interest in the country has been materially benefitted. It is the judgment of the best financiers in the country that the next five years will see an enhancement of twenty-five to thirty per cent. in the average price of realty throughout the United States. This enhancement of values will be more particularly experienced in the centers of population, and, from the peculiar formation of New York island, it would seem as it the greatest enhancement of all would be in the City of New York.

Inv.—But to come to the point. Suppose I had $500,000 of my own and my clients to invest permanently in real estate, what property would be likely to yield the most satisfactory and the quickest returns?

Ed.—The district bounded by Broadway, Beaver, William and Fulton streets will, I think, see the very greatest rise in prices, especially in the immediate neighborhood of the Stock, Corn, Cotton and Produce exchanges. Banks and business offices will be forced to do business in this locality, the result of which will be to make that part of the city in time even more valuable than the old city of London.

Inv.—I see by the last assessment list that $2,000,000 over that of the previous year has been assessed on the First Ward of New York City. To what do you attribute this exceptional increase in value?

Ed.—The elevated roads have settled the question as to the permanency of our various business centres. Were there no means of steam transit to the upper end of the island, the great business interests of the city would in time have found their way to Madison square, or perhaps further still uptown. Then the increase of value in the seats on the Stock Exchange, the Produce and Cotton exchanges, tells the story of the immense increase in the business of the city. The enormous transactions which take place daily create a demand for office room which in time will double up values. You see, brokers are not satisfied with little, dingy offices now, as in the olden times; they have become rich and demand superior accommodations. As a consequence, this year rents have advanced in certain localities from 50 to 300 per cent. Hence, I think the "big" money is to be made in wise investments in this district.

Inv.—What other business location is promising?

Ed.—Lower Broadway and west of Broadway above Chambers street. Around the Franklin street station of the elevated road centres the domestic wholesale drygoods trade of the city. This includes, as I have said, the region north of Chambers street and west of the City Hall. Stores are scare here and rents have advanced recently from 15 to 30 per cent. The old Eighth Ward, above Canal street and west of Broadway, is also a purchase. Indeed, it has been surmised that the station at Grand street may yet become the focus of the foreign drygoods trade. It is certain, however, that a vast miscellaneous wholesale business will be established in the streets running parallel with Broadway below Washington square.

Inv.—What really strikes you as being of most value in the speculative portion of the metropolis?

Ed.—Well, for a long turn, I should say you could not go far wrong in purchasing land in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards, or even Westchester County. If you get near one of the projected elevated roads, so that you would be within an hour of Wall street, you are likely to profit largely in any land which you can afford to buy by the acre. The elevated roads and their connections to the north mark out the lines upon which population is destined to settle. People will build within striking distance of the elevated roads.

Inv.—You prefer property, then, north of the Harlem River to lots purchasable on New York island?

Ed.—Oh, dear, no. I am a profound believer in vacant property on this island. Indeed, the quick money is here and not to the north of the Harlem River. The rule is invariable. If you want a quick return, purchase just ahead of improvements. The advancing tide of building eats up lots with wonderful rapidity, and the quickest fortunes have been made by those who are willing to pay high prices for lots in improved locations.

Inv.—Are there any other general rules followed when investing in real property?

Ed.—Yes. Practiced traders in real estate prefer to buy corners to inside lots. They choose the north rather than the south side of the street, and the west side of an avenue to the east side. They give the preference, naturally, to the lots nearest an avenue; and then, above all, they deal in avenue lots rather than street lots. In a rising market, where the advance in street lots may be arithmetical, the enhancement of avenue lots is geometrical. Of course, this remark does not apply to all avenue lots, but it has been true of Fifth avenue property in the past, and in the future it may be true; it most likely will be true of Riverside drive lots, of Boulevard lots, of lots on Eighth avenue, west of Central Park, and perhaps of St. Nicholas avenue lots some time in the future.

Inv.—Are there any localities in New York, which, it seems to you, would depreciate in value in the near future?
